DEATH PENALTY FATE OF KILLER IN 95 MINUTES

Admits Guilt, Tried, Sentenced in Day.

Paul Williams.

Climaxing a 95 minute trial, one of the shortest murder hearings in Cook county's Criminal court history, Paul Williams, 23 years old, yesterday was found guilty of killing a south side grocer and was sentenced by Chief Justice John Sbarbaro to die in the electric chair next Jan. 16.

The death penalty, inflicted for the slaying of Thomas Papayanis in an attempted holdup of the latter's food mart at 2300 East 71st street Sept. 19, caused no flicker of fear or excitement in Williams' eyes.

Nattily attired in a brown sport coat and dark trousers, with his shirt open at the neck, he turned without emotion and walked out of the courtroom between two bailiffs.

Enters Plea of Guilty.

He had walked into the courtroom just as nonchalantly in the morning to enter a plea of guilty on the murder indictment returned against him Thursday. Announcing he would hear evidence in aggravation or mitigation of the crime at 2:15 p. m., Judge Sbarbaro sent policemen to bring in witnesses for the trial. At 3:50 the death sentence was pronounced.

The state contended that in killing Papayanis when the latter attempted to block his escape from the grocery, the pasty faced bandit was a hardened criminal and pointed out that Williams is on probation for two burglaries in 1940. The defense countered by pointing to the killer as a "young animal who would act like all animals when cornered."

The state's first witness was Mrs. Angeline Papayanis, mother of the slain grocer's four young children. Dressed in mourning clothes and weeping softly, she described Papayanis' devotion to his family.

Young Clerk Testifies.

She was followed by Harry Demis, 18, of 7237 Lafayette avenue, the clerk in the grocery who waited on Williams when he ordered sausage and bread and then suddenly drew a revolver in an attempt to hold up the store.

Demis told how Papayanis, who had been robbed several times previously, advanced on the bandit. When Williams' nerve broke and he dashed for escape thru a side door—only to find he could not open the lock—Papayanis ushered Demis and five customers out of the shop and locked the door from the outside.

"Williams threw a jar thru the glass door," Demis said, "and then kicked his way out. Papayanis attempted to stop him, but the robber shot three times and then escaped in a car with a woman."

Unaware of Killing, Wife Says.

The woman in the car was Williams' wife, Genevieve, 23, who said she had gone for a ride with him in their car the night the grocer was killed. Her husband stopped in front of the shop, she said, and then went in. When he returned he dropped a revolver on the seat and drove away, she continued. Not until later did she know that he had killed Papayanis, according to her testimony.

Her story was punctuated by tears that fell on her bright red jacket and black skirt. She insisted she was innocent of any crime and told how Williams had given her a note to this effect.

Joseph Pokorn, the cab driver who captured Williams last Tuesday morning, testified that the slayer hired his cab at Ogden and Armitage avenues, but took control of the machines a short time later by threatening him with a revolver. At Grace street and Broadway Pokorn suddenly yanked the wheel and caused the car to veer into the curb. He said he then pinioned Williams' arms until police arrived and the slayer admitted Papayanis' murder.

Williams' face, with his hair over a

PLANS TO ISSUE ORDER TODAY TO CARRY OUT LAW

Gets Control Over Prices and Pay.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—Two hours after receiving it from congress, President Roosevelt tonight signed a bill giving him vast new power to fix farm prices and control the wages or salaries of every person in the United States.

A general order and accompanying regulations putting the new law into effect are expected to be issued by the President tomorrow.

Plans Economic Commander.

At the same time the President will appoint an "economic commander" to formulate and carry out the administration's price and wage control policies, White House advisers said tonight.

Administration officials indicated that the President's War Labor board and the Office of Price Administration, headed by Leon Henderson, will act under the new "economic commander."

Congress completed legislative action on the so-called anti-inflation bill when Vice President Henry A. Wallace signed it at 8:26 p. m. Earlier the senate and house had approved a conference agreement on the legislation just one day after the Oct. 1 deadline fixed by President Roosevelt in his "you do it or I will" ultimatum of Sept. 7.

Deadline for President.

Congress in turn fixed a deadline for the President. On or before Nov. 1, which is two days before the general election, he is directed to issue a general order stabilizing prices, wages, and salaries, "so far as practicable" at the levels which existed on Sept. 15.

Among those consulted by the President tonight regarding the legislation and the impending executive orders were Attorney General Francis Biddle, Associate Justice James F. Byrnes of the Supreme court, Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator; Harold D. Smith, director of the budget; Price Administrator Henderson, William H. Davis, chairman of the war labor board; Isadore Lubin, chief of the bureau of labor statistics; Judge Samuel Rosenman, Harry L. Hopkins, and congressional leaders.

Mr. Roosevelt, who berated congress yesterday for devoting 25 days to the momentous struggle for power

Herriot Arrested, Say Nazis

Foe of Collaboration

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP). — Edouard Herriot, 70 year old former premier of France, was reported under arrest at his château outside Lyons, in unoccupied France, tonight because he had strongly challenged the Vichy régime's collaboration with the axis.

The German and Italian radios made the announcement, without giving the reasons for the arrest.

Resigned from Legion of Honor.

A Swiss agency reported from Vichy that he had been under surveillance for several days since writing a letter to Chief of State Marshal Petain objecting to suppression of the French parliament and declaring Frenchmen would not stand for being dragged into a war against their former allies.

Recently, "Fighting French" headquarters announced receipt of a copy of a letter from Herriot in which he resigned from the French Legion of Honor because the award had been given two Frenchmen fighting for the Germans on the Russian front.

Premier First in 1924.

Herriot, who made no secret of his friendship for England and the United States, is a former professor of Lyons university. He had been mayor of that city in southern France from 1905 until 1941 when he was deposed by the Petain régime.

Premier the first time in 1924, he had been in many cabinets. At the time of the armistice in June, 1940, he was president of the chamber of deputies.

Act to Aid Germany

VICHY, France, Oct. 2 (AP).—The Laval government decided today to meet Germany's demand for 150,000 skilled workers by virtually conscripting entire crews from French factories.

The decision was announced by Labor Minister Hubert de Lagardelle and Industrial Minister Bichelonne after conferring with Chief of State Marshal Henri Petain. Some 133,000 will be affected, since only 17,000 have enlisted in Laval's campaign to comply with Hitler's demand.

African Defenses Discussed.

One subject was the defense of French possessions in Africa, including Dakar, where the Germans apparently want to send troops to "aid its defense." War Secretary Eugene Bridoux said "New assaults may be conducted against certain of our territories" after newspapers suggested the allies might soon attack the West African naval base.

Deny French Seized Americans.

Meanwhile, the Vichy foreign ministry said French police had nothing to do with the arrests of 1,400 Americans in the German occupied zone.

This action followed a request by S. Pinkney Tuck, American charge d'affaires, for information on the roundup. The original version reaching Vichy was that French police made the arrests on Nazi instructions.

U. S. Spurned Offer of Ships at Cost: Higgins

New Orleans, La., Oct. 2 (AP).—Testimony by Boat Builder Andrew J. Higgins that the maritime commission had rejected his offer to waive $28,000,000 in profit and build 200 liberty ships at cost was made public here today by an American Federation of Labor committee investigating closing of the Higgins shipyard.

Higgins spent seven hours before the committee yesterday, testifying he still would finish the giant shipyard and build vessels without profit to himself or his corporations if the commission would reinstate the contract it canceled last July. It gave the steel shortage as the reason for canceling the contract.

The AFL committee called "this offer to donate $28,000,000 to the government unparalleled in the war industry."

Planned to Hire Negroes.

Higgins revealed in his testimony that he had planned to hire approximately 50 per cent Negro labor in the shipyards at equal wages—after proper training—with white employés, and that, if necessary, 80 per cent of the work could have been done by women. He added:

"Many people in the community were perturbed and prophesied dire results to the community. Many of those protesting were afraid they might lose their chauffeurs or have to pay their servants more.

"How much of this campaign by certain people here had an effect or influence on the maritime commission or fortified them at the time they came to consider the cancellation, I can't say."

Calls Action "Sinister."

Higgins branded cancellation of the contract, after about $15,000,000 had been spent on the shipyard, as "shockingly sinister." He was asked what he thought were the real reasons and replied at length, but asked that this testimony not be made public.

Holt Ross, AFL committee chairman, said an inquiry will be made into evidence given by Higgins and that a report will be made to William Green, AFL president, who is expected to transmit it to President Roosevelt.

GAMBLERS SCRAMBLE OUT OF LAKE COUNTY AFTER TRIBUNE STORY

Only activity yesterday at the White House, a gambling joint on Halfday road east of Milwaukee avenue, was that of two men who stood outside and told potential gambling patrons the place was closed. The closing came after publication yesterday in THE TRIBUNE of a story about gambling in the White House.

State's Attorney Harry A. Hall of Lake county said he read THE TRIBUNE story yesterday and ordered Sheriff Thomas Kennedy to close the place. Kennedy sent his chief deputy, Walter Atkinson, around in the afternoon. Atkinson found all gambling equipment had been removed and the building deserted.

Asked about slot machines which were found in abundance in the White House by a reporter, Prosecutor Hall said he depended upon the sheriff to keep Lake county clean. Informed that slot machines were found in four Lake county taverns yesterday, Hall said he would talk to the sheriff about stopping their operation.

SKIP STOP BUS PLAN GOES INTO EFFECT ON OCT. 18

Thousands of Chicago bus riders will discover on Sunday, Oct. 18, that the bus will not stop at the usual corner and that they will have to walk another few hundred feet to the next stop.

The Office of Defense Transportation thru Philip Harrington, Chicago metropolitan area administrator, ordered a "skip stop" program which will eliminate 25 per cent of the bus company's stops and thereby conserve tires.

Harrington explained that bus stops will be spaced approximately 600 feet apart or about eight stops to a mile. The skip stop plan, however, will not apply to the loop. Harrington said the Surface Lines have retained a skip stop plan effected for street cars in the last war and no further change is contemplated for them.

Harrington disclosed that the ODT has ordered the installation of surface lines' bus service starting Monday to the Dodge-Chrysler plant being constructed on the south side. The new route will be an extension of the Cicero avenue bus line. He said 12 buses will be shifted to this new service from other routes.

Fireman Dies, 7 Others Hurt by Falling Wall

(Pictures on pages 2 and 10).

A fireman was killed and seven others were injured when a wall collapsed upon them yesterday afternoon as they battled a 5-11 fire in the Acme Truck Rentals garage at 2930 South Wells street.

The dead man was Thomas Fitzgerald, 34 years old, of 7847 Burnham avenue, Truck company 14. He was pronounced dead in Michael Reese hospital of injuries suffered when tons of débris fell upon him.

List of Injured.

The injured are:

Lieut. J. P. Hoff, 6516 South Honore street, Truck company 14, taken to Mercy hospital with fractures of his spine, clavicle, and pelvis.

Capt. William Steed, 1008 East 80th street, truck 14, acting chief of the 8th battalion, taken to Mercy hospital with a fractured spine and left leg.

Capt. William Gough of 6112 South Fairfield avenue and Fireman Albert Hyde, both of Engine company No. 6, suffered leg injuries, but did not leave work.

Torch Ignites Building.

Glenn McMillen, superintendent of the company, a subsidiary of the Interstate Motor Freight system, said the blaze started when an acetyline torch ignited a wooden section of the building.

William J. O'Connor, Chicago manager for the Interstate Freight company, said 35 pieces of equipment, mostly truck tractors; more than 100 new and used tires, and tools were destroyed. O'Connor said the tractors were to haul vitally needed war materials, and appealed for outside trucks to take over their loads.

O'Connor estimated the fire loss at more than $100,000 in equipment alone, virtually all of it irreplaceable.

Fitzgerald, the father of four children, had been a member of the department for seven years. Surviving are his widow, Elsie, 32; two sons, James, 13, and Thomas Jr., 8 months; two daughters, Mary, 8, and Geraldine, 2; a brother, Nicholas, and three sisters.

Shoot Down 18 Planes; Blast French Targets

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (Saturday)—(From German broadcasts)—(AP).—The royal air force bombed western Germany again last night, losing a number of aircraft to night fighters and anti-aircraft batteries, DNB reported today.

BY WES GALLAGHER.

WITH THE UNITED STATES BOMBER COMMAND SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Oct. 3 [Saturday] —(AP).— America's growing air force unleashed its most powerful attack of the war yesterday with Flying Fortresses blasting a Nazi aircraft factory at Meaulte and an airfield at St. Omer in northern France, and shooting down 13 of Germany's crack fighter planes.

Col. Ronald Walker.

United States Boston bombers at the same time bombed Le Havre's docks, and escorting American and allied fighters totaling 400 accounted for another five Nazi Focke-Wulf 190 planes in the biggest air battles since the Dieppe raid.

American Eagle squadrons, recently transferred to the United States army air forces from the RAF, accounted for four of the five fighter plane victories.

All Bombers Return.

All the fortress planes returned from their 13th raid, which saw airmen from 42 states battling as many as 100 German fighters 5 miles high over Europe. Likewise all the Boston bombers used in the heavy attack returned to their bases.

Six allied fighter planes were lost, but the pilot of one of them was safe, a joint United States army and British air ministry communique said.

Shoot Nazis Full of Holes.

The powerful fortress flight, led by Col. Ronald Walker of Spokane, Wash., shot Reichsmarshal Goering's prize yellow nose squadron and other crack Focke-Wulf 190 fighter units full of holes.

Walker's crew included the only Chinese airman on the flight, Sergt. Lee Wong Gem, a ball turret gunner whose home is in Chicago.

Some of the enemy fighters closed in to 300 yards or less in determined but futile efforts to bag one of the mammoth planes. Only two have been shot down thus far.

Maj. Charles C. Kegelman of El Reno, Okla., who won the distinguished service cross in the famed Fourth of July raid on Holland in the first venture of American bombers over western Europe in this war, again led his Boston formation in the low-level blast at Le Havre.

Out of Bed at Dawn.

Sleepy airmen piled out of their beds at dawn at this advanced station, ate a hurried breakfast of cereal, potatoes, bacon, milk, and coffee. Then they crowded into the opera-

WPB HALTS ALL PRODUCTION OF WHISKY OCT. 8

Alcohol Is Diverted to War Uses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—The War Production board today halted the production of all whisky, effective Oct. 8, so that the nation's distilling facilities can be used for the output of industrial alcohol needed for the war.

Last February a WPB order reduced whisky production by 50 per cent and stopped the output of gin altogether. Facilities affected by this order are now turning out industrial alcohol.

WPB officials estimated there is a five year supply of straight whisky in stock, enough blended whisky to last at least two years, and enough gin to meet normal demands until June, 1943.

Officials explained, however, that today's order does not necessarily mean that no more whisky or gin will be produced for the duration of the war. The order does not affect the output of beers and wines, because these facilities could not be used for industrial alcohol, they said.

Surplus Can Be Made Into Liquor.

If the output of industrial alcohol at any time exceeds the demand for war uses, beverage distillers can use the same facilities required to distil the industrial product to turn out beverage alcohol, officials said. Such a change over would require a WPB authorization.

Today's order affects more than 80 plants which produce "high wine," a trade name for 120 to 140 proof alcohol which is used to produce whisky. The industrial grade of alcohol is 190 proof and additional facilities are being installed in the 80 plants to enable them to produce the industrial grade.

Industrial alcohol is used in the production of smokeless powder and is a source of butadiene, the principal ingredient of synthetic rubber. It also is widely used as a solvent in a variety of chemical processes.

240 Millior Gallons a Year.

The WPB estimated that the beverage distilling industry will be able to produce 240 million gallons of industrial alcohol a year, or nearly 100 million more than the industry's previous production of beverage alcohol.

The source product of this output will be grains, chiefly wheat, rye, and corn, the same products used to make beverage alcohol. Normally, the industrial alcohol needs of the country are supplied by industrial alcohol plants. These plants formerly used blackstrap molasses, a residue from sugar refining.

This blackstrap has been obtained mostly from Cuba, Puerto Rico, and other West Indies sugar producing islands. Because of the use of shipping facilities for war needs, industrial plants have been unable to obtain enough blackstrap to keep their operations at capacity.

Cut Milk Can Output.

WPB also ordered production of milk cans cut by 57 per cent to 850,000 cans in the 12 months ending next June 30. The output in the year ending last June 30 totaled 2 million cans.

The order also reduced the number of types of milk cans made from 125 to 17 and directed manufacturers to reduce the amount of steel used in various types still to be made. Officials estimated the order will reduce the annual amount of steel going into milk cans from 27,500 tons to 9,300 tons, a cut of two-thirds.

STRICKEN EDITOR GETS $10,000 AS GIFT OF CHIANG

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek sent a check for $10,000 to J. B. Powell, former editor of the China Weekly Review, Chinese sources here said today.

Powell, who suffered severely as a prisoner of the Japanese after Pearl Harbor, returned to this country on the Gripsholm, lame and broken in health. A fund is being raised in his behalf by newspaper men and others.

The $10,000 in United States money was presented to Powell by Foreign Minister T. V. Soong on behalf of Chiang Kai-shek at the New York hospital where Powell is recovering.

It was explained that the check was from the generalissimo personally, not from the Chinese government.

DISPEL MISTAKEN ARDOR PERILING BIG WAR PLANT

Conferences Show Cause of Output Under 100%.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

A few days ago a committee of seven workers in a giant Chicagoland aviation war plant appeared at THE TRIBUNE wanting to run an advertisment in this newspaper.

As they drew it up the ad criticized the management of their plant because the factory was producing its war materials only five days a week. The men asserted that production could be trebled if three shifts a day were kept working seven days a week. They said they wanted to work seven days a week as patriotic citizens and offered to take their overtime and extra hours' pay in war bonds.

THE TRIBUNE asked the men to withhold their ad while an investigation of their charges was made.

Misunderstanding by One Man.

The investigation disclosed how one fundamental misunderstanding can grow in these times into a serious matter that threatens the good of the country. It may be typical of conditions that arise in other plants.

THE TRIBUNE's reporters found that the misunderstanding had originated in the mind of one man. From him it had spread to 200 other men who worked in the same department of the plant. And from the 200 it had spread, in greater or less degree, thru 3,000 other men also employed in this important war factory.

At one stage this misunderstanding caused the 200 men to engage in a "work stoppage" of three-quarters of an hour. It caused plant officials from the shop foreman up to the personnel executives and eventually the general manager of this giant plant to spend hours in conference with the men.

Appeal to Federal Agencies.

In addition to this direct interference with the production program the men spent other hours talking to army air corps representatives in the factory. Then they went to the army air corps procurement office in the Civic Opera building and spent several more hours consulting with the heads of this agency. Finally they visited the Chicago offices of the War Production board and spent more hours consulting with officials there.

The investigators discovered that the inspiration for all this turbulence came from one man. Today he is employed in the war factory doing "bench work." This means that he does simple filing jobs by hand on machined parts. It does not require training, for he never before did such work.

Eight weeks ago, in fact, he was a worker in an investment brokerage office. Tribune reporters found him intelligent, aggressive, plausible, fluent, sincere, and every one with whom he has talked believes that he is a patriotic American who is trying to help as best he knows how.

Cites Nelson's Demand.

He said he was deeply concerned over the poor production showing at his plant. While Donald M. Nelson, head of the War Production board, was demanding increased sacrifices from workers and management to turn out war materials, the plant where he worked, this worker said, was running only five days weekly. Worse still, it was working only one full shift daily with two other partial shifts.

The investigators discovered that the assertion concerning the number of hours worked daily and weekly at the plant was correct. The rest of the story, however, is quite different from his version. But let Jack S. London, president of local No. 6, United Automobile Workers [CIO], tell it:

"This whole thing grew up really because the company doesn't take the men fully into its confidence," London said. "We did get pretty worked up out there. When we finally got around we saw that this is a pretty big situation. No one person is to blame. The company is doing the best it can, it seems, the army is doing its best, and certainly we are really putting out our best.

Army Controls Production.

"There's no question that this plant could produce three times what it is producing now. The company says it would like to do just that. We would, too. But the army and the War Production board really control us all.

"The army air forces, thru a committee, decide each month just what specific items they need most. It decides also how many of each item it needs. These orders are sent out to the manufacturers. Then the WPB decides how much material will be required to fill these orders. That much and not a bit more is allocated to each plant.

"The army tells us that if our plant produces more in any given month than it has ordered, the army cannot accept the goods. Of course that's almost impossible anyway because we are given just so much steel, aluminum, copper, bronze, and other materials as are called for in the army orders.

Men Champ at the Bit.

"It has happened that for some months past the particular war item we have been making has not been of the greatest importance to the army. The orders and the materials went to the other factories. Our men were champing at the bit. They knew they could make more.

"They didn't know the army would not accept more than we are making. Because the plant is highly departmentalized [men can't wander from one section to another], men in one department where there was plenty of materials couldn't know that in another equally vital department there were none at all.

Maximum Effort Foreseen.

"The complainer didn't know the whole picture. I didn't know it. The men didn't know it. We now it now, and we are told that within a few months we shall be working seven days a week and three full shifts daily anyway because a great need for our goods is imminent. That's good news for us all."

Needless to say, the ad will not be run. The story, however, is not complete without this notation: The man who wanted to run it still is working for the same company in the same job. His work is satisfactory. Even tho he caused all the trouble, he remains on the pay roll. His motives are respected. He was trying to help. And this sort of thing could only happen in a democracy.

Flying Forts Account for 13 Enemy Craft.

tions room in their bulky flying suits to be briefed by Maj. Rufus Rand of Minneapolis, business man and former member of the Lafayette Escadrille; Capt. Gordon Sarre, New York, former stock broker and veteran of World War I.; Capt. Filber Cranford of Washington, D. C., and Maj. Edmund Brigham of Newport, Wash.

With a blackboard and chalk, like a schoolmaster teaching his class, Lieut. Col. Samuel Agee of Tucson, Ariz., the executive officer, outlined the fortress places.

The crews took off in bright sunlight a few hours later. When last seen they had closed to a fighting formation and were disappearing toward the channel.

Tells of Battles.

On his return Capt. W. A. Williams, 22, of Riverside, Cal., the pilot of the fortress named "Mickey Finn," told what had happened. His plane, in tail formation, bore the brunt of some of the heaviest fighting.

"I could see the ships ahead plastering the target and getting away clean," he said.

"We got over Meaulte just in time to catch all the flak [anti-aircraft fire]. As we turned away German fighters jumped us. They concentrated on our tail formation.

"This was my third trip, but the hottest yet. The flak ripped a six inch hole in our wing. A Focke Wulf 190 shot away part of the stabilizer. One bullet went thru four inches from my head, and there were dozens of holes in the plane when we got back. The attack didn't let up until we were over the channel."

Nazis All Around Plane.

Williams' tail gunner, Sergt. Joseph D. Hanks of Kaplan, La., who claimed at least one FW190 said "that yellow nosed squadron was all over us.

"I heard something hit the tail but didn't pay any attention. I was too busy pumping out lead at a German fighter about 300 yeards away. It caught fire and started spiraling down. Then I glanced to the side and saw a big cannon hole and started shaking."

Hanks was not shaking so much however that he did not pour a stream of 50 caliber shells into another FW190 which he claimed as a "probable."

Upper Turret Gunner Edwin L. Welch, 23, of Lufkin, Tex., said "they came in so close we could see the pilots. I think I got one."

FAMILY OF CHICAGO CHINESE GLAD AND SAD AT RAID NEWS

Lee Wong Gem.

News of the participation of Sergt. Lee Wong Gem, Chinese youth from Chicago, in the big raid by American airmen on Nazi held France, was received joyously and sadly by members of his family last night.

They were joyous because of his participation and sad because his father, Wong Gem, a merchant at 221 West Cermak road, died before he could learn of it. The elder Wong died last Saturday at the age of 58 years. Funeral services are to be held at 2 p. m. today at the Chinese Christian Union church, 2301 Wentworth avenue. The Rev. Yuk S. Tom will officiate.

Lee Wong Gem, probably the first Chinese to see action against Germany, is 22 years old. He was born in Chicago and educated at Lane Technical High school. He enlisted in the army on his 21st birthday. He was trained as a gunner and served in that capacity in the air raid over France. His mother is living, as are a brother, Clarence, 23, and four sisters, Mrs. Helen Chan of New York City; Mrs. Eva Mae Ling of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Lilly Eng of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. Irene Lee of Chicago, who will attend the funeral services today.

GEN. H. H. ARNOLD GIVEN MEDAL FOR RECORD FLIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, was awarded the distinguished service medal today in recognition of his participation in a record flight from Brisbane, Australia.

The medal was ready for the general and pinned on his chest by Assistant Secretary of War Robert H. Lovett on the former's arrival here. Members of the crew of the plane, a Consolidated C-87 four motored bomber, received air medals for conduct of the record flight.

The plane left Brisbane Sunday and arrived in Washington after a total lapsed time of 77 hours and 11 minutes. The time from Brisbane to San Francisco was 35 hours and 53 minutes, breaking the record of 36 hours and 10 minutes set last month by Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, Arnold's second in command.

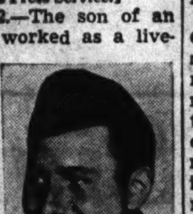
The record flight ended a quick tour of the Pacific war zone and Australia by Gen. Arnold. It was reported earlier in the week that Arnold had conferred in mid-Pacific with Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, and Vice Adm. Robert L. Ghormley, commander of united nations forces in the New Zealand area.

IOWA CORPORAL WINS MEDAL FOR DIEPPE HEROISM

Led Detachment of U. S. Ranger Snipers.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Corp. Koons.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The son of an Iowa farmer who worked as a livestock auctioneer before the war today was given the British military medal for "conspicuous and admirable leadership" while leading a small detachment of a United States army Ranger battalion of snipers during the Dieppe raid. Announcement of the award was made from the headquarters of the European theater of operations.

The farmer's son is Corp. Franklin Koons, 23 years old of Swea City, Ia. He was the only American among a number of Canadian and British soldiers decorated at the ceremony for "gallant, distinguished service" in the raid.

The young corporal's citation said that he carried out his duties with very marked success under heavy fire which eventually virtually destroyed the building from which Koons and his men were sniping.

Tells of Raid.

Here is the story of the raid as told by the corporal and released by the army:

"When we got aboard our ship Mountbatten [Lord Mountbatten, the Commando chief] talked to us briefly. He struck me as a grand guy, very full of fight. He made us all laugh and we were very cheerful, which is what I like because it did not make me feel in the least degree frightened.

"After he talked to us I slept quite a long time. I woke about half an hour before we entered the landing craft. I took my rifle and 260 rounds. I also had three grenades and one smoke grenade.

Falls Asleep Again.

"The sea was choppy and it was very dark. We moved off at once and everything was so comfortable that I fell asleep again and dozed for quite a while until some spray woke me up.

"We approached France in the dawn. Just before we got near the coast Jerry [the Germans] woke up and began firing a great deal, but not at us.

"The air force came over and shot the shore installations to bits. The support they gave up was terrific and they never left us alone for longer than 15 minutes. . . .

"We waded ashore 30 or 40 yards. On the beach we consolidated and moved off to our objective, some German batteries up the gullies. We met little resistance at first, but there was a little wire which we climbed over. As we went on the number of snipers who started shooting at us increased, but we still did not have casualties.

Clear Out Farm Buildings.

"Presently we got to a little farm built around a yard which we used for cover. It was about 200 yards from our objective, the batteries. The snipers then got very bad and caused us quite a few casualties. Our first task was to clear the farm buildings to make sure no Jerry was in them.

"We did it. We found a small stable in which we put the wounded. I kind of lost my head then and surged in front of the barn, but I soon realized that was foolish and got back into the stable. There I found a splendid spot for sniping thru a slit in a brick wall.

"The German batteries were getting a tremendous plastering by shells from our light mortars. I fired a number of rounds at stray Jerries.

"The Commandos I was with had as much as they could handle with the snipers. Other troops attacking the batteries direct were luckier. They rushed in and blew up the batteries and ammunition dumps. The noise was terrific and I saw them go into the air a few hundred yards from me.

Fights Rearguard Action.

"As soon as they were blown up it was time to go back. We cleared out the wounded and I volunteered to act as one of the rear guards. The main body marched back to the beaches carrying the wounded. I remained with the rear guard and we went from hedge to hedge, fighting a rear guard action.

"There was a bit of sniping on the way back to the beach, but we did not leave behind any casualties, only our dead. . . . The English were very calm and quiet. They've got plenty of guts.

"When we got to the beach the landing craft were some distance out because they could not get closer, owing to rocks. Some of us got a boat on which we put the casualties, but found it had stuck on a rock. We got it off and brought it alongside a motor launch.

"We loaded the casualties on a launch which transferred them to a destroyer. I remained aboard the launch and had a wonderful experience watching dog fighting between Spitfires and Messerschmitts fought out at a height of 700 or 800 feet. I saw one Jerry hit the sea and I saw a Spitfire crash. We pulled the pilot out of the water and found he was an American. That's all there was to it."

Five Americans Honored.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 2 (AP).—Five Americans fighting with the Canadian army were honored today for heroism in the Aug. 19 assault on Dieppe. Among 178 men in an honors list announced by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston, they included Corp. Robert Carle, Lieut. James Chaney Palms, killed in action, and Corp. John Donaldson, all of Detroit, and Pvt. Oliver Odeen Fenner, Cooperstown, N. D.

British Say Some Air Mail Must Go by Sea to U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Air mail to the United States and Canada occasionally will have to be sent by sea, the British postmaster general announced today, owing to "difficulties experienced from time to time" in arranging conveyance by air. The postmaster general urges that "in general trans-Atlantic service not be used for other than the most urgent correspondence."

RETAIL GROCERS HIT OPA'S RULING ON COFFEE SALES

Shortages Are Reported in Half Dozen States.

Reports of acute coffee shortages in six states came yesterday at the same time Chicago grocers were warned to discontinue their practice of forcing customers to buy a quantitiy of other groceries before they are permitted to buy coffee.

John C. Weigel, regional administrator for the Office of Price Administration, said the practice of forcing groceries upon coffee buyers is illegal and in violation of the price control law. He said grocers who continue the practice will face loss of their licenses to do business.

Sidney M. Libit, counsel for the Community Retail Grocers association, disputed Weigel's opinion. He said that if grocers did not require purchase of additional groceries many housewives would go from store to tore and buy only coffee for hoarding.

Unlawful, Weigel Says.

"We have learned," said Weigel, "that the practice of forcing coffee buyers to take additional groceries is being followed by several retail stores in Chicago and vicinity. We will not permit such methods to be used to defeat the war effort.

"It is unfair and unlawful to require customers to buy other commodities before they are allowed to buy the commodity they desire. We do not compel any person to sell against his desire, but we will prevent him from evading price ceilings by trickery."

Libit said wholesale grocers are limited to 65 per cent of the amount of coffee they bought a year ago and that the average retailer has 35 per cent less coffee to sell. He added that the grocers do not consider controled sales illegal and that consumption would prevent a grocer from using coffee sales to boost the sale of his other merchandise.

The grocers' counsel said the whole thing was an attempt on the part of the merchants to spread their thin coffee stocks evenly among their regular customers and try to give a square deal to all.

Blame Lack of Shipping.

In New York dealers who import a large part of the coffee brought into the United States from South America said the shortage was caused almost entirely by lack of shipping space. They scoffed at reports of store managers who said hoarding housewives are to blame. The dealers said the women know that coffee deteriorates rapidly after roasting.

The New York Coffee and Sugar exchange reported 300,000 bags of coffee available during the day as compared with 800,000 bags last year. An official of the exchange said the government and civilian consumers buy available supplies faster than coffee can be imported.

In Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Maryland and Georgia many chain stores had virtually no coffee on their shelves.

Run on Store in Ohio.

A run on the dwindling coffee supply in Columbus, O., was started when hundreds of persons lined up in front of a store. Clothing of several women was torn in a mad scramble of housewives to buy coffee in a chain store in Dedham, Mass.

Many grocers in Buffalo, N. Y., were without coffee and one chain store restricted the purchase to Fridays and Saturdays. Stores in the industrial section of northern New Jersey have been short of coffee for a month and many were rationing their supply on the basis of one pound per purchase.

Atlanta, Ga., merchants have had only scanty supplies of coffee for a month and the head of an Atlanta roasting firm said there was evidence of hoarding, but New Orleans importers said the whole trouble was the lack of shipping because every one knows coffee hoarding is useless.

GEN. SOMERVELL DENIES WASTE IN WAR DEPT. HOME

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 [Special]. —Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding general of the army services of supply, today denied charges that millions of dollars were wasted in construction of the new war department pentagon building in Arlington, Va. He said the cost of $8.52 per square foot of gross space for the building proper is comparable with expenditures for other public buildings.

Rep. Albert Engel [R., Mich.] yesterday charged in the house that the original estimated maximum cost of 35 million dollars for construction had been doubled, the original square footage of office space reduced almost half, and that an attempt to hide the extravagance had been made by labeling these figures "confidential information."

In a letter introduced in the Congressional Record by Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.], Somervell said the cost of the structure was increased considerably when the site was moved a mile from that originally chosen, requiring additional roads, expensive foundations, and extensive grading operations. He said information concerning military construction was held confidential for many months because "an alert enemy gains valuable information from the disclosure of facts not generally recognized as military secrets," but added that the war department has not used this "as an excuse for withholding information from responsible government officials."

SHELL DRIVERS STILL ON STRIKE IN EAST CHICAGO

A surprise strike by a group of drivers at the Shell Oil company in East Chicago, called Thursday, was still on yesterday and reputedly holding up delivery of thousands of gallons of oil needed in the war effort.

Harry Cole, of Hammond, a business representative of the Teamsters' union [AFL], with which the strikers are affiliated, described the walkout as unsanctioned. He said he had persuaded some men to return to work, and that he hoped to settle the dispute quickly.

Company spokesmen said a few of the men did return to work soon after the strike started, but that they did not show up yesterday. In all 27 drivers are affected. Their contract ended Oct. 1 and they are asking a 5½ cent hourly wage increase which the company has refused.

N. L. R. B. ORDERS VOTE IN STEWART-WARNER FACTORY

Lester Asher, attorney for the National Labor Relations board in Chicago, reported yesterday an election will be held Wednesday to determine whether the United Automobile Workers [CIO] shall become the bargaining agency for 475 employés of the die casting division of the Stewart-Warner corporation, 4535 Fullerton avenue.

The corporation has posted $300,000 in settlement of pay claims made by 160 to 180 workers and former workers who were on strike for four months in 1937, Asher revealed.

The labor board ruled the corporation violated the labor relations act by refusing to bargain collectively, and this decision was upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals after a five year legal fight.

ARIANI HANDLED CAPONE BANKING, FBI CHIEF SAYS

Savario Ariani, who is awaiting extradition from San Francisco to Chicago to face embezzlement charges, was the banker for Al Capone in the gang chieftain's palmy days, it was disclosed yesterday by Nat J. Pieper, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in San Francisco.

Pieper revealed the Capone connection when Ariani, with his wife and two sons, appeared before United States Commissioner F. St. James Fox at a hearing on the removal proceedings. The FBI chief said Ariani disappeared from Chicago in September, 1931, a few weeks after Capone was indicted for tax evasion.

Commissioner Fox continued the hearing to Oct. 9 when Ariani's attorney said he had not had time to read the indictment.

COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE OPENED BY $551,346 PLEDGE

Campaign to Be Last for Duration of War.

Chicago's 12th annual and last Community Fund drive for the duration of the war was started last evening with a pledge of $551,346 from corporations and individuals as the opening gun.

The drive, which will be absorbed by the War Chest next year, began at a dinner attended by more than 2,000 campaign leaders, representing 50,000 volunteer workers, in the grand ballroom and the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House. The goal was set at $3,750,000, with the anticipation of an oversubscription to $4,000,000, to maintain the work of 187 private welfare agencies thruout the city.

Harold H. Swift, vice chairman of Swift & Co., who was the principal speaker, appealed to the workers to seek oversubscription as part of the war effort.

Part of War Effort.

"We have a home front that cannot be abandoned," he contended. "The cause of the poor, the sick, the delinquent and the children of war workers is as much a part of the war as our boys overseas. The total budget of the private agencies to which the Community Fund contributes annually is 18 million dollars. Only half of that is insured by endowments. The agencies raise what they can. We must do the rest."

Mr. Swift said agencies aided by the Community Fund cared for 300 families daily last year. More than 1,200,000 patients were treated at welfare clinics and 435,000 nurses visited the infirm thruout the city.

"Such work as this must be done by private agencies," he continued. "The government, with its tendency to become burocratic, cannot organize the needed personal service. If the government were to assume such responsibility, it would exert undue control over the individual, a detriment to the American ideal of freedom. As good citizens, we must sacrifice our comfort to safeguard the private welfare agency and give until it hurts."

Aid in Case of Attack.

The Community Fund will act as emergency relief in case of an enemy attack on this vicinity, Mayor Kelly, representing the city, pointed out. The agencies to which it contributes must assume the care of the injured and the handicapped in such a situation, he maintained.

"Charity does not mean just food and clothing," Col. Robert A. Gardner, president of the fund who presided over the meeting in the two rooms successively, contended. "Today, it means that we must take care of those affected by the war. The Community Fund agencies last year cared for 10,000 children alone. This year it must aid hundreds of others, the children of the workers in our vital war industries."

Mrs. William Mitchell, chairman of the women's division, pledged the support of the city's women in the drive to take up the man power slack caused by war industries and the armed forces.

Reid Announces Pledge.

The pledge of $551,346 in gifts by corporations and individuals as the starting fund was announced by B. S. Reid, chairman of the sponsors' division.

Others who took part on the program included C. Y. Freeman, general chairman of the fund who acted as toastmaster; J. L. Palmer, chairman of the industrial division; J. B. McCahey, president of the board of education who is chairman of the governmental agencies division; Samuel Levin, general manager of the Chicago joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and member of the general advisory committee of the drive, and Thomas L. Slater, executive member of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

AFL AND CIO CRITICIZED BY LABOR LEADER FOR GIVING UP STRIKE RIGHT

Labor's "right to strike" and to be paid double time on Sundays have been "signed away" by the AFL and the CIO, Matthew Smith of Chicago yesterday told representatives of 38 independent labor groups here to formulate a constitution they hope will launch them as a third nationwide labor organization.

Smith, who represents the Mechanics Educational Society of America, was elected chairman of the independent groups at the last regular meeting in Chicago last July. National membership of the various groups, members claim, is more than 160,000.

The delegates adjourned until today.

FIRST STRIKERS RETURN TO MILL BUILDING WORK

Installation of 2½ million dollars worth of plumbing in the new 50 million dollar south side plant of the Republic Steel company was resumed yesterday when 25 laborers returned to the jobs they walked away from Aug. 25 after a dispute with AFL plumbers over who would unload and carry steel pipe. The laborers carry the concrete and vitreous pipe.

Arthur Brueggemann, vice president of the plumbing firm which has the contract, said 25 more men would be back on the job today and the remaining 25 strikers would return Monday.

The steamfitters and plumbers first objected to the laborers unloading pipe Aug. 22, but their business agents settled the argument and work continued for three days until Tony D'Andrea, boss of the hod carriers and laborers, ordered them off the job. The argument will be aired further in Toronto, Ont., Monday at the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

TELLS SMASHING OF JAP ATTACK ON GUADALCANAL

How Marines Wiped Out Force of 700.

[The navy department made public today the following account by a marine corps combat correspondent of the battle of Tenaru river. In that Solomon Island engagement the marines wiped out all but a handful of a Japanese landing force of 700 men.]

BY SERGT. J. W. HURLBURT.

GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, Aug. 21 [delayed].—Tenaru river on Guadalcanal took its place today with other great battlegrounds where United States marines have met and beaten an enemy.

A contingent of leathernecks attacked a Japanese landing force of some 700 well equipped and seasoned soldiers at the mouth of the Tenaru river today and all but annihilated the invaders.

At the end of the 12 hour battle, marked by two separate Jap attacks, most of the landing force lay dead on the beach and in the coconut palms. Others were wounded and some were captured. Marine losses were slight in comparison.

Move Up to Battle Area.

Reports indicated the Japanese force landed Aug. 18 at a tiny native village on the east coast of Guadalcanal—and spent the intervening three days in reconnaissance and in moving up to the battle area.

The Japanese attack did not come as a surprise. Two days before a patrol commanded by Capt. Charles H. Brush Jr. of Jersey City, N. J., ran head on into a 25 man Japanese reconnaissance group. In the ensuing action Capt. Brush's men accounted for at least 18 Japs, losing only a few of their number.

The enemy patrol was exceedingly well equipped, carrying portable radio transmitters and mapping and sketching equipment. Our interpreters read messages indicating the presence of the landing force.

So the marines were warned and ready. The leathernecks on the east flank were swung into position and settled grimly down to the business of awaiting action. The afternoon and early evening of the 20th were as quiet as any day since the marines landed here.

Fire Pins Foe Down.

About midnight the marine contingent noticed an increase in the usual sniping. The men in the front line force, commanded by Lieut. Col. Edwin A. Pollock of Augusta, Ga., rechecked their ammunition and stared harder into the darkness.

At 2:10 a. m. it came. Under the steady hammer of machine gun fire, punctuated by loud explosions of mortars, the Japanese attacked thru the coconut palms of Tenaru plantation. Altho suffering heavy casualties, they got almost to the open area of the Tenaru river basin before our fire pinned them down. The first attack was stopped just after 3 a. m.

The Japanese dug in quickly and brought up field artillery, heavy mortars, and .60 caliber machine guns in a desperate attempt to break up our line.

At 3:45 a. m. our artillery laid down a concentrated barrage on the area occupied by the enemy. The barrage had been coördinated and planned with marvelous precision and played havoc with the enemy.

Try Second Attack.

After the barrage there was a slight lessening in the furious pace of the battle. Firing from both sides slackened down for minutes at a time, only to leap to full crescendo again.

About 5 o'clock the Japanese attempted to make another attack. Their front extended approximately 300 yards from the beach to the bend of the Tenaru, but in both attacks the main drive was across the sand bar at the mouth of the river. The murderous fire from the numerically inferior American front line piled dead Japanese three deep across the beach.

The second attack was broken up by our fire, plus another artillery barrage, before it got well started.

Encounter More Yanks.

After the 5 o'clock barrage, the Japanese resistance was completely broken. The shattered enemy determinedly fought on but there was no more organized activity. At about 9 o'clock the forces that were left attempted to retreat, only to run into the enveloping movement led by Col. Creswell.

Completely disorganized, the Japanese fought on to the end. There was never a sign of mass surrender. Occasionally a few men could not take any more of the intensive American fire and came out of the palm trees waving white flags. But the majority went to their death still at their guns.

Tanks Knock Out Snipers.

A group of tanks, led by Lieut. Leo B. Case of Syracuse, N. Y., rolled into Tenaru plantation later in the morning and mopped up what was left. The tanks were used as battering rams to jar snipers from the trees. The Japanese carried flame throwers which they apparently had planned to use against tanks, but they never got to use them.

It was all over at 2 p. m., Aug. 21.

All the hard work was not done on the firing line. Back at the field hospital navy doctors and hospital corpsmen worked tirelessly for hours caring for the wounded. Few of the wounds were serious, according to Lieut. Comm. Theodore Pratt.

Comm. W. T. Brown took charge of evacuating the wounded. Until far into the night he supervised the transfer of the injured. High tribute was paid to Comm. Don S. Knowlton, who had established a field hospital near the front lines.

AMERICANISM VS. COLLECTIVISM, SAYS PETTENGILL

New York, Oct. 2 [Special].—Asserting that the Democratic party no longer exists as a national organization, but has been swallowed up by the New Deal party, Samuel B. Pettengill, chairman of the Republican National Finance committee, declared tonight that the political division today is between Americanism and collectivism. He spoke at a rally of the Women's National Republican club.

Pettengill charged that the New Deal has repudiated every basic principle of government for which the Democratic party has stood during a centruy and a half. The New Deal stands for collectivism, national socialism, fascism, and complete control over the lives of men, he said, adding that its brain trusters are planning to continue war controls over industry, labor, and agriculture and fasten them permanently upon the country.

Pettengill said that lifelong Democrats are confronted with the question of fighting the New Deal collectivists within the ranks of the Democratic party or of joining the Republican party as the party of opposition and fighting the New Deal.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL CHIEF PRAISES AEF ON ICELAND VISIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, has returned from a two day trip to Iceland, where he visited American camps and installations, it was disclosed today. He said he was "tremendously pleased" with the spirit of the American troops. Alexander mentioned that some of the American troops had constructed artificial palm trees to simulate a warm climate. On the return trip of the sea lord an escort destroyer rammed a U-boat and captured prisoners.

With more escort vessels convoying shipping off the American coast, U-boat attacks are becoming more general over wider areas. The morale of German crews was said to be showing signs of weakening because increased sinkings of submarines are due to ramming. Well disciplined and efficient crews are less liable than others to be caught off guard on the surface.

U.S. SUBS, PLANES SINK 5 JAP SHIPS, BLAST 7 OTHERS

Hit Pacific Supply Lines and Aleutian Bases.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—A toll of five Japanese ships sunk, four probably sunk, and three damaged by submarines and army bombers in a recent series of highly successful raids on enemy bases and supply lines in the far Pacific was announced today by the navy.

The bombers and their fighter escorts were credited also with shooting down six Japanese Zero planes during their raids on enemy held territories in America's western Aleutian Islands. The only reported United States loss was one plane.

The submarines made their kill in the western Pacific. A communique, which told nothing of the actions except the results, said the undersea raiders had sunk a large seaplane tender, a large passenger cargo ship, a large freighter, and two medium sized cargo ships; probably sunk two other medium sized cargo ships, and damaged one large tanker.

Raid Aleutians Five Times.

A short time after announcing the submarine attacks, the navy issued a second communique detailing operations carried out by the army air force in five attacks in the Aleutians last Sunday and Monday. Results were one submarine and one transport probably sunk, one transport damaged, and one cargo ship damaged.

Great, four engined Liberators bombed ships and shore installations at Kiska on Sunday and shot down one fighter. Damage to the bombed objectives could not be determined, presumably because of fog.

That same day a group of three army bombers discovered and attacked a transport, escorted by a destroyer, near the island of Attu. This was the first time that American land based planes had been reported operating so far west in the Aleutians. Attu is the western most of the islands. The transport was damaged by near misses and when last observed had stopped.

Bomb Transport and Sub.

On Monday morning the army sent a powerful group of heavy bombers and fighter escorts to Kiska once more. The enemy tried to repel the attack with Zero fighters and antiaircraft batteries on ships in the harbor. However, a transport and submarine were damaged and probably sunk and five of the Zeros were shot down. It was in this engagement that one American plane, a fighter, was lost.

On Monday afternoon army bombers again attacked the Kiska area, strafing and bombing ships and shore installations, but the results of this action, the navy said, are not known. Also on Monday afternoon army planes ranging northwest of Kiska discovered an enemy cargo ship which was bombed and strafed and left in a damaged condition.

The latest aerial raids in the Aleutians put the number of ships which the Japanese have lost in that North Pacific area to 13 sunk, 3 believed sunk, and 21 damaged.

The bag of American submarines in the Pacific mounted to 74 ships sunk, 19 probably sunk, and 22 damaged.

AUSSIES ON FINAL LEG OF DASH FOR NEW GUINEA GAP

Gain Without Meeting Jap Forces.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 3 [Saturday]—(AP).—Rugged Australian bush soldiers, pushing up the slippery slopes of the Owen Stanley mountains in New Guinea, have passed Menari, 64 miles by twisting trail from Port Moresby, the allied base, Gen. MacArthur announced today. Menari is four miles north of Nauro, which was captured yesterday.

The surprising advance—strong opposition had been expected in naturally strong positions—was accomplished "without establishing contact with the enemy," the bulletin from allied headquarters said. The new gain placed the Australians on the final leg of the thrust toward the gap which pierces the crest of the mountains. It was believed here that allied forward elements were about five or six miles south of the gap.

Allies Bomb Pack Trail.

What had happened so suddenly to the apparently strong force of Japanese which at one time drove to within 32 miles of Port Moresby, was not explained in official announcements.

Allied air strafing and bombing of the pack trail, which continued, may account for much of the Japanese retreat, however. Today's communique reported that the much battered Wairopi bridge, the Japanese supply bottleneck on the upward trail from Buna, was now "almost completely destroyed." Wairopi bridge crosses a deep gorge of the Kumasi river near Kokoda.

Bombs Hit Cruiser.

American Flying Fortresses also smashed at the distant bases of Rabaul in New Britain and Buin in the Solomons, scoring a hit on one cruiser, setting two large transports afire with direct hits and probably hitting a second cruiser and another vessel. Buin is on Bougainville's southern tip.

The Rabaul airdrome and an ammunition dump also were blasted.

ADM. HART FINDS U. S. ATTITUDE ON WAR 'SADDENING'

Says Returned Fighting Men Are Worried.

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 2 (AP). — Adm. Thomas C. Hart, former commander of allied naval forces in the western Pacific, said on a visit here today that he was "very much saddened" by what he found on his return to this country.

The ruddy faced 65 year old veteran of three wars said in an interview that on widespread travels over the nation he had observed government expenditures "which, in my humble opinion, do not contribute to the war effort."

And he reported complaints from many young officers and enlisted men who returned from fighting at sea to find many of the folks back home not participating in "equality of sacrifice."

Hits at Wage Demands.

The admiral passed along the observation that "people who are getting big wages should stop crowding the plate for more."

"We are going to win the war on the firing line," he said, "and that is a considerable distance from here. And the function of the rear area is to make and maintain a powerful firing line. Now the experiences which sadden me are from young officers and also enlisted men.

"They come and talk to me about them. They are worried—worried as they can be—when they come back to the rear area.

"I try to talk to them and change their frame of mind. I tell them to look at the good spots. They say they see some good spots, but they tell me they see so many of the others that morally and psychologically it's not good for them.

Discouraged by Home Attitude.

"The fighting men come to the rear area to rest and recuperate. They have been on the firing line, in danger at all times; they have seen their buddies maimed and killed; they say their turn may come next. They are paying the supreme sacrifice.

"They tell me that when they get back they don't see much sacrificing in the rear area. Strikes make them see red. They complain about "politics as usual.' They tell me they want 'equality of sacrifice,' a phrase I used when I first came back and had to make speeches and broadcasts."

Summing up, Hart said with a wry grin:

"What are you going to do about it? I don't know. It doesn't do much good to talk, not much good to rant. It's all been said already."

SMALL CHILDREN MEAN MORE OIL TO HEAT HOMES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 [Special].—The Office of Price administration announced today that families with children under 4 years of age will receive a fuel oil allowance of from 50 to 125 gallons, depending on their heating zone, in addition to their basic ration under the new fuel oil ration plan.

This supplemental allowance, which is intended to safeguard the health of small children, will raise the temperature in a well insulated house from 65 degrees—the level permitted by the basic ration—to about 70 degrees in the space that must be occupied by the children. It will not necessarily allow the entire house to be heated to this temperature.

Homes with sickness and those in which elderly persons live also will be entitled to additional fuel allowances on receipt of a doctor's certificate that they are necessary. In all these cases, the additional allowances will be denied applicants who could convert conveniently to coal.

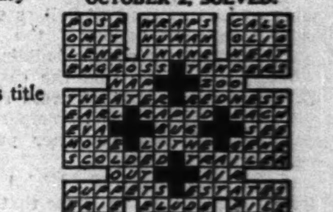
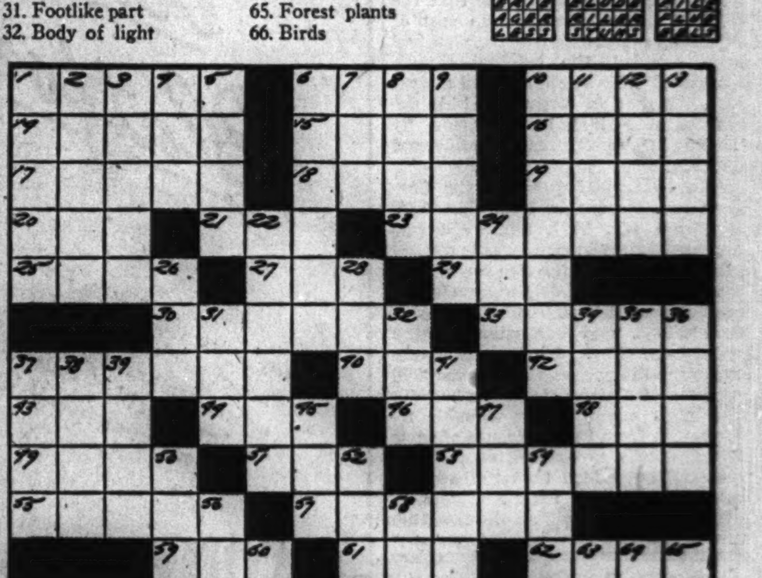
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, SOLVED.





WAR OVER COMIC PUTS LIFE INTO COUNTY'S RACES

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Life was injected into the desultory Cook county political campaign yesterday by Leo Carr, Republican candidate for sheriff, and his Democratic opponent, Peter B. Carey, who staged an armchair battle over the prospective candidacy of a Polish radio comedian.

Carey called upon State's Attorney Courtney and County Judge Jarecki to prosecute "to the limit the perpetrators" of the independent petitions. Ted [Bartek Bieda] Kantor of Niles last week filed 113,000 names of persons presumably asking that his name be placed on the ballot Nov. 3.

Hearing to Be Monday.

Formal objections to the petitions have been submitted and Kantor has been notified to appear Monday at a hearing of a board comprised of Courtney, Jarecki, and County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. All are Democrats.

Carey charged that the Republican party sponsored Kantor's candidacy. In his evident bitterness he indicated what politicians say is a reasonable fear that, if Kantor gets on the ballot, Carr will be elected.

The Democrat asserted that the Kantor petitions "were filled with downright corruption and consisted almost in their entirety of fake and forged signatures both as to signers and circulators." Many addresses are in Lincoln and Douglas parks and even in the Chicago river, he said.

Declares He's Serious.

Kantor declard that he was serious about his candidacy, which he said had been promised to a Pole by the Democratic regular organization for the last 10 years without fulfillment.

Republican Carr, who is on leave as chief of the state highway police and has 27 years of police experience, leaped into the situation with verbal vim.

"The Democrats are stunned by the dissatisfaction shown in the Kantor petitions with scandalous conditions in the sheriff's office," he said. "Now the Kelly-Nash leaders are attempting to set up a smoke screen. My headquarters has no knowledge of Kantor's activity. The sufficiency of his petitions will be decided by the authorities designated by law, who happen to be Democrats.

Reason for Cheer.

"Perhaps we should be glad that the heir-desirous of Sheriff O'Brien says he has found a plot. This is at least an improvement on O'Brien, who couldn't even find his own chief of county highway police, much less the notorious gambling joints across the street from his own office.

"The American way is to let all candidates present themselves to the voters. For myself, I say Cook county has the right to the best man for the office—the best on the basis of ability and experience."

Carr predicted that the inference of Carey's remarks will not be relished by thousands who signed Kantor's petitions.

SIX POUND LIMIT PUT ON MAIL TO MEN OVERSEAS

New regulations announced yesterday by Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen, limit the weight of packages which may be mailed to men in overseas service to six pounds. The previous weight limit was 11 pounds.

Kruetgen also announced the war department's approved form for addressing mail to soldiers overseas as: "Pvt. John Doe, [serial number], Company B, 373d Infantry, APO No.——, c/o Postmaster [city, state, as instructed by soldier or war department]. Ordinarily, mail addressed to men serving off the east coast is sent to New York; in the Caribbean, to New Orleans, and in the Pacific area, to San Francisco.

The postmaster urged writers to avoid mention of anything that may be of military importance, easing the task of censors.

Domm, 2615 York street, and formerly 12910 Western avenue, Blue Island, and Joseph Castello, 619 South Pulaski road, were named yesterday in warrants charging violation of the state medical practices act which Judge Albert E. Isley signed in County court. Assistant State's Attorney Roman R. Stachnik told Judge Isley that Domm treated an investigator for the state department of registration and education as a chiropractor on July 10 and Aug. 6, altho he is not licensed. Helen I. Lewicki, 1035 Belden avenue, reported Castello, who says he is a spine and arm specialist, gave treatments, altho he is not licensed to do so. Bonds were set at $500 each.

DIVORCED WIFE OF MISCHA AUER DIES OF POISON

Takes Life After Deciding to Give Up Children.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Norma Auer, 36 year old divorced wife of Mischa Auer, screen comedian, died violently today, thus ending a dispute over custody of their two children. Cause of death as reported to the coroner's office was poisoning.

Sergt. R. C. Mannagh of the Beverly Hills police department, who answered a call to Mrs. Auer's home early today, said she told him she drank a poison antiseptic solution after deciding to surrender the custody of the children to Auer.

Upheld by Court.

Mrs. Auer won custody of the children, Anthony, 8, and Zoe, 3, a month ago after a Superior court hearing in which it was held Auer had failed to prove she was unfit to rear them.

"I decided it was best for the children if I turned them over to Mr. Auer," Mannagh quoted Mrs. Auer. "It was the hardest thing I ever had to do. I have no reason to live any longer."

She died in a hospital.

Auer Married Again.

Mrs. Auer married the comedian in Beverly Hills in 1931. They were divorced on Nov. 20, 1940. He married Joyce Hunter, radio singer, in New York last Dec. 5.

The coroner ordered an inquest tomorrow.

500? NO, JUST 50 AT 'INDEPENDENT VOTER' MEETING

There were more posters than persons last night at a rally of the so-called Independent Voters committee, created to get G. O. P. votes for the Democratic state ticket. The committee recently set up large headquarters across from the city hall at 100 North La Salle street. Instead of the advertised 500, there were 50, including speakers and officers.

The signs all said Brooks and Day must and will be beaten Nov. 3, but less optimism was voiced by Edwin R. Embree, co-chairman.

"If McKeough and Adamowski are not elected, it will not be because a majority of the people do not want them elected, but because too many good people did not vote," Embree said.

Charlotte Carr, social worker, recalled that at the start of the so-called independent campaign for Roosevelt and Wallace in 1940 "there were fewer people than this, but we rolled up a tremendous number of votes."

Embree declared he is "terribly embarrassed because the Chinese and Russians are doing the fighting and I want our country to get in there and pitch."

SEAMAN 8 YEARS, JOINS MARITIME FLEET AS ROOKIE

Robert McQueen, 27 years old, is a veteran of eight years' service as a seaman, yet he enlisted yesterday at the maritime service recruiting office, 53 West Jackson boulevard, for the basic seamanship training the service offers recruits.

"I was torpedoed once," McQueen explained, "and the next time I want to know how to handle myself. The lack of this training cost the lives of 15 of my shipmates when our vessel was sunk near New Orleans."

McQueen, from Jacksonville, Fla., is visiting his sister, Mrs. Chester L. Graham, 9237 Stony Island avenue, and the parents of John G. McWilliams, 18 years old, of 6301 South Wood street, a shipmate who was one of those killed in the attack.

Lieut. Comm. David N. Goldenson, officer in charge of navy recruiting in Chicago, announced three substations will be opened in Chicago next week to help relieve congestion at the recruiting office in the Federal building.

The stations, and the days they will be open, are: 6200 South Halsted street, Monday and Tuesday; 3219 North Ashland avenue, Wednesday and Thursday, and 1 North Pulaski road, Friday and Saturday.

The army aviation cadet examining board reported 38 new cadets were qualified in the 24 hours ended at noon yesterday, bringing the total accepted in the current drive to 10,887.

URGES PARENTS OF SONS IN WAR TO BACK BROOKS

Tuscola, Ill., Oct. 2 [Special].—Richard J. Lyons, state tax commissioner and former member of the general assembly tonight urged parents of sons in the armed services to reëlect Sen. Wayland Brooks. He spoke before the Republican organization of Douglas county.

Saying that Brooks had served in the front line in World War I, Lyons asked the "fathers and mothers of Illinois whose sons are fighting on every battle front in the world" the question:

"Whom would you rather trust in the United States senate to see that your boy has food, clothing, and ammunition, that he has proper support and reënforcements on the day that he may be facing death?

"Would you rather trust a man who won promotion in the front line from corporal to second lieutenant and again to first lieutenant, who was cited for bravery in action by the 2d division, who bears upon him seven wounds received upon the battlefields of France, who wears the order of the Purple Heart, who was honored by the French government with croix de guerre and by our own government with the American navy cross and the distinguished service cross?

"Or would you rather trust a man who has never smelled the smoke of battle and whose only record is one of submission to Nat Nash?"

REDS PUNCH NEW HOLES IN HITLER'S STALINGRAD LINE

Better Positions in Battle Inside the City.

MOSCOW, Oct. 3 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Red army punched more holes in 40 the Nazi flank northwest of Stalingrad yesterday, and bettered its positions in a building to building fight inside the ruined city which today entered its 40th day of historic siege.

A high command communique at midnight said the Stalingrad garrison had killed 1,600 more Germans and destroyed or captured 153 Nazi tanks in yesterday's operations. The Russians suffered only a slight reverse south of the city. There the Russians gave up a wedge driven into the enemy's positions after 16 of the 50 tanks hurled against them had been destroyed.

Reds Dislodge Nazis.

On the front northwest of Stalingrad, where the soviets acknowledged a 200 yard German penetration yesterday, the communique said the Russians did this:

Dislodged the Germans from a number of fortified points, including a hilltop; smashed seven enemy tanks, five guns, 14 machine guns, and wiped out about two companies [400 men] of enemy infantry; and captured 130 crippled German tanks which had been buried as stationary firing points.

Inside the city the Russians beat off one heavy German assault in which 700 Nazis and several tanks were destroyed in one sector. In another sector "our troops forged thru, clearing individual buildings of the enemy," the communique said.

"About one battalion [500 men] of German infantry was wiped out in street fighting," it added.

Reds Retreat in Caucasus.

In the Caucasus Russian troops withdrew to new positions in a defensive fight east of Mozdok on the road to Grozny's oil fields, 50 miles away. The midnight communique said more than two enemy infantry companies were wiped out and 19 tanks crippled or burned before the withdrawal.

In another sector of the Mozdok front the Russians destroyed seven Nazi tanks and killed 200 Germans during a successful stand.

Southeast of Novorossisk, along the Black sea coast, the Russians said a Red counterattack destroyed an axis wedge. Approximately 300 German and Rumanian troops were killed, and in another sector a company of Nazi infantry and two tanks were destroyed. The Germans hold Novorossisk, former soviet naval base.

Wipe Out Nazi Company.

On the Voronezh front on the upper Don far above Stalingrad a renewal of fighting found Red army tommy gunners penetrating enemy rear positions to wipe out a company of German infantry. These troops "are still fighting inside the German defense area," the communique said.

Claim Capture of Suburb.

BERLIN, Oct. 2 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—DNB, official German news agency, quoted military quarters today as saying that during the last two days the main weight of the battle of Stalingrad had gradually moved toward the northern German flank.

Earlier the high command claimed capture of Orlovka, on Stalingrad's northwestern outskirts.

"In the northern part the artillery struggles and aerial combats have increased to a violence never expected so far," DNB's dispatch said. "Communication between single fighting groups is hardly possible any longer thru the smoke of exploding projectiles and the dust of crashing houses.

"German infantry troops and sappers are fighting their way forward step by step. Stukas [dive bombers] are incessantly releasing their bombs on the ruins of blocks of houses and are curbing the spirit of resistance with their direct hits."

10 Finnish Consul Aids on Way to Sail for Home

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—Ten Finns formerly with the Finnish consulate general in New York have obtained passage to Europe on a Spanish ship and are en route home by way of New Orleans, La., the Finnish legation disclosed today. The party does not include former Consul General Torsten Oskar Vahervuori, whose departure has been delayed because of his wife's illness.

Employment increased 753, of whom 485 were women. Nearly 2,200 women are employed at the arsenal as compared with 613 Jan. 1.

Fuehrer Was Tricked, Says Nazi Paper.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 2.—That Adolf Hitler sent Rudolf Hess to Britain as his personal envoy to propose to the British a tie-up with the axis against Russia was admitted today for the first time by a Nazi source.

The Berlin owned Dagsposten, published in Stockholm, said the deputy fuehrer's sensational flight to Scotland in May, 1941, was a "magnanimous Hitlerian gesture" which the British failed to acknowledge.

The paper added that the British can no longer be considered gentlemen because contrary to what Hess had expected they refused him the facilities to fly back to Germany at the end of his mission. Instead, it said, they made him a prisoner of war.

Gets Approval of Allies.

The Dagsposten said Hitler, undaunted by the British refusal to entertain his so-called peace offer made in the reichstag July 19, 1940, decided to make a supreme try to "make Britain see the light." [Hitler in his speech to the reichstag on July 19, 1940, did not intimate under what conditions he was ready to come to terms with Britain.]

With the approval of Italy and Japan, the paper went on, he sent Hess to Britain with the following proposals:

Britain was to participate in an anti-bolshevik war. Russia was to be partitioned into several national homogeneous states. Germany was to control the Ukraine and the Caucasian oil fields.

Britain was to be guaranteed all her mandates in middle Asia and Germany the return of her former colonies.

What Japs Were to Get.

The easternmost part of Asiatic Russia was to be given to Japan and the Japanese needs of oil and other raw materials from Malacca in the Straits Settlement and East India were to be satisfied, and all help to "bolshevik China" canceled.

Under these circumstances Germany was willing to guarantee all British possessions.

Dagsposten said Hess was chosen as the envoy because he was born in Egypt and had many English friends. Furthermore, he was an aviator and was able to make a solo flight to Britain, the paper said.

The Dagsposten blamed President Roosevelt for Hess' failure. It said Prime Minister Churchill phoned Roosevelt, and that the President, "knowing that if Europe united against the bolsheviks it would become independent of America" vetoed the project.

RAF GETS NEW FIGHTER PLANE —THE TYPHOON

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP).—The designer of the famous Hurricane fighting plane, one of Britain's leading air weapons, has fathered another fighter, the Typhoon, which was pictured today as superior even to the celebrated Spitfire.

The Typhoon was reported to be a decisive retort to Germany's bid for air superiority in the Focke-Wulf 190, the only axis plane which has presented a serious challenge to the Spitfire.

The Typhoon, with a single 2,400 horse power Sabre engine is unofficially credited with a speed of more than 400 miles an hour like the Spitfire. It is still on the secret list.

Designer Sydney Camm is understood to have conceived the Typhoon in 1937 soon after completing the first Hurricane and to have used reports on the Hurricanes' performance in the battle of Britain as a guide in completing the Typhoon improvements. Camm is perhaps the top British designer since the death of R. J. Mitchell, father of the Spitfire.

ROOSEVELT TRIP? WE NEVER KNEW OF IT, AXIS HINTS

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Indications were today that altho President Roosevelt's nation-wide tour of defense plants was a secret shared by countless Americans, the axis powers had no inkling of it.

This was in contrast to the frequency with which the axis radios reported the movements of Prime Minister Churchill on his recent trip to Moscow before that mission was complete and censorship on it lifted.

The first axis mention of the Roosevelt trip, coming today from Berlin and cloaked as a dispatch from Stockholm, was a labored interpretation in which the simultaneous views were taken that the trip was meant to "popularize" the President and that, at the same time, it had been kept secret. Berlin seemed piqued by the secrecy.

10 Dead, 16 Hurt in Swiss Passenger-Freight Crash

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP).—Ten persons were killed and 16 were injured seriously by a headon collision of a passenger train and a freight near Biel, Switzerland, the Swiss radio said today. The first two cars of the passenger train were telescoped and 10 freight cars were wrecked.

MAN WHO'LL RISK HIS NECK TELLS 2D FRONT VIEWS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] today told the senate that his opinion of Wendell Willkie's proposal for a second front in Europe was well expressed by a letter from a Montana soldier. The letter, which Sen. Wheeler read to the senate, said in part:

"Dear senator: With our friend Willkie on the front page yelling for a 'second front,' and numerous others, including the communists, joining the chorus, I thave a thought that might be of interest to you.

"As a soldier, I am very much interested in this second front, for my neck is involved one way or another. And as a soldier, I have faith in our army general staff, and we soldiers do not want such an attack before we are ready.

"Now history is repeating itself. Lincoln allowed the editorial writers, politicians, etc., to force him into ordering the advance at Bull Run before we were ready. As a result the north suffered a very severe defeat, and a war that might have been ended by one big victory of the north lasted four long years. We do not want another Bull Run.

"We soldiers do not think our generals want to open a second front this year, because we have neither the men nor the materials to see it thru.

BRITAIN NAMES FIRST WOMAN TO DIPLOMATIC POST

Mary C. McGeachy.

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP).—The long campaign of British women members of parliament for recognition of their sex in the diplomatic service has been answered with the granting of local diplomatic status to Canadian born Mary Craig McGeachy, a memmember of the staff of Harold Butler, British minister in Washington, D. C.

Miss McGeachy, a native of London, Ont., and a graduate of the University of Toronto, is believed to be the first British woman to attain such a status.

Gets Greatest Welcome Ever Given Foreigner.

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 2 (AP).—Wendell Willkie arrived in the capital of Free China today with a jovial quip for the danger of Japanese aerial attack—which was so real that his 4,000 mile flight across Asia from Russia was delayed at one time by a roving enemy scout plane.

"There is more danger of my being killed by the kindness of the Chinese than by enemy bullets," he said.

Willkie received the greatest welcome ever given a visitor to Free China as he began his fact finding mission for President Roosevelt on this nation's great sustained war effort now in its sixth year. Thousands of firecrackers gave a traditional Chinese greeting swelled by the voices of 10,000 persons at the airport.

Will See Chiang Kai-shek.

The military barred answers to all questions as to the length of his visit and his intended route of departure—because "they don't want me to become a clay pigeon for the Japanese," Willkie said.

Tomorrow Willkie will see Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, whom he described as "one of the truly great men of the age." He also will see President Lin Sen; H. H. Kung, finance minister and vice premier, and Gen. Ho Ying Chin, minister of war. He will have dinner with Chiang Kai-shek tomorrow and tea with Madame Chiang on Sunday. He bears a personal message to the generalissimo from President Roosevelt.

Kung and other members of Chiang Kai-shek's cabinet met Willkie at the airport along with Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell, American chief of staff for Chiang Kai-shek, and Ambassador Clarence E. Gauss.

Says What He Thinks.

Taking cognizance of criticism of his statement made in Russia that a second front should be opened and that allied military leaders may have to be prodded into making the move, Willkie told Chinese newspapermen:

"I always have the bad habit of saying what I think."

About the Russians he said:

"They are putting up a great fight over there."

Chinese officials have placed every facility at Willkie's disposal and it is possible that he will visit the fighting fronts as he did in Russia.

His plane was piloted by Moon F. Chin, a Baltimore born flyer. His route, with stops at the western provincial capitals of Urumchi [Tihwa], Lanchow and Chengtu, had been a carefully guarded secret until today. It had rarely been traversed by an occidental.

"During the three days I have been in China I have fallen so much in love with the Chinese people that it is going to be difficult to carry out my fact finding mission with the correct critical approach," he told his welcomers. "I find sunshine everywhere I go."

BIG U.S. BOMBERS BLAST AXIS SHIPS AT GREEK PORT

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 2 (AP).—American heavy bombers hit German shipping in another raid on Pylos, Greek port of supply for the axis armies of North Africa, it was announced today.

The Americans were credited with scoring two direct hits on one ship and numerous near misses close to others in the raid yesterday.

In their latest attack on Pylos, the Americans flew several hundred miles into enemy territory to reach their objectives.

A British communique said axis forces failed in counterattacks, seeking to regain the positions lost to the British in the central sector of the El Alamein front and that the British consolidated their hold on the new won ground yesterday.

2,000 RIOT, STONE POLICE TO MARK GANDHI BIRTHDAY

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 2 (AP).—Two thousand followers of Mohandas K. Gandhi marked their leader's 73d birthday today by throwing stones at police in the Chandni Chowk region of old Delhi.

The police fired 12 rounds, killing one and wounding one, and two others were wounded when the police charged with long wooden staves.

Gandhi himself remained politically incommunicado as a British prisoner in the Aga Khan's palatial home at Poona where he has been since his arrest last Aug. 8. His followers' "special observances" of the day otherwise had been peaceful.

A few girls gathered to sing songs in Connaught Circus, the center of New Delhi's business district where most of the city's European inhabitants live. In old Delhi some stores demonstrated by remaining closed.

That the situation still was tense and might erupt anywhere at any time was indicated yesterday at Erum, in Orissa province on the east coast, where a mob tried to raid a police station. Twenty-five were killed by police fire.

M. P.s to Demand Release of British Miners in Army

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP).—Seven members of parliament, concerned by "discouraging pronouncements" forecasting a winter fuel shortage in Britain, drafted a formal demand today for the release of more miners from the nation's armed forces. They intend to present their demand in the form of a motion in the house of commons, which opened a two day debate on the coal crisis yesterday. The house was in recess today. Signers of the motion included representatives of the Conservative, Liberal, and Labor parties.

between the executive and legislative branches of the government, intended to set a dramatic example of aggressiveness by issuing his general order tonight. Washington correspondents were warned to stand by for such a decree even before the senate had approved the conference agreement.

Shortly after 10:30, however, the White House announced the signing of the bill and said nothing further would be released until tomorrow. Presumably the preparation of the order and accompanying regulations to be issued by the Office of Price Administration required too much time for their issuance tonight.

Doubt Effect of Legislation.

There is widespread doubt in congress that the legislation will halt the inflationary spiral of wages and prices that has resulted in a 21 per cent increase in the cost of living since 1939. Sen. Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.], senate manager of the bill, said it would "do the job," but Rep. Henry B. Steagall [D., Ala.] told the house an entirely different story.

For agriculture, Steagall said, "this legislation is better than the present law." The wage control provisions of the bill contain "possibilities for enormous inflation in the United States," Steagall added.

Puts Responsibility on President.

However, Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott [R., Mich.], ranking minority member of the banking and currency committee, which considered the bill, told the house that the responsibility will be Mr. Roosevelt's if inflation is not controlled.

"We have given the President the authority he asked for," Wolcott said. "If the President allows wages and salaries and farm prices to get out of alignment, he's responsible for the inflationary spiral."

In the senate, Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Sen. Brown, and other Democratic leaders exchanged congratulations on the delivery of "the victory price control act" to the White House. Sen. John A. Danaher [R., Conn.] interrupted to extend blanket congratulations to all others who had a part in framing the legislation "while the defense inspector was touring the country for two weeks."

"The country has received the impression that there has been a life and death struggle going on between the President and congress, while all this time he has not even been here," the Connecticut senator added.

Senate Approval Unanimous.

The senate approved the conference agreement by a unanimous voice vote. The house divided 257 to 22 on a standing vote.

The conference agreement generally conforms to the bill passed by the senate. The farm bloc amendment to include farm labor costs in the parity formula for price ceiling purposes, which the house adopted despite President Roosevelt's "unalterable opposition," was rejected in favor of the senate compromise. It provides that modifications "shall" be made in maximum prices established for agricultural commodities wherever necessary to reflect increase in labor and other production costs since Jan. 1, 1941.

It is estimated this provision will raise permissible price ceilings about 4 per cent above the present level of market prices, which average 107 per cent of parity. Parity is a price that would give farm commodities the same relative purchasing power they had from 1909 to 1914. Under the bill, maximum farm prices may not be fixed below parity, nor below the highest market prices between Jan. 1 and Sept. 15.

Loan Rate Increased.

The bill increases the mandatory government loan rate for agricultural commodities from 85 per cent of parity, as under present law, to 90 per cent of parity. The President, however, is given discretionary authority to decrease the loan rate on grain used for feeding purposes if he finds such action necessary to increase the production of live stock and poultry and to aid in the effective prosecution of the war.

Only corn and wheat will be affected by the discretionary authorization. Administration leaders had estimated that a 5 per cent increase in the corn and wheat loan rate would increase the cost of producing live stock and poultry to the extent of adding $650,000,000 to the consumers' food bill.

Control of Wages.

The bill provides that salaries and wages shall not be reduced below their highest levels between Jan. 1 and Sept. 15, but the President is authorized to make adjustments "to the extent that he finds necessary to correct gross inequities and also to aid in the effective prosecution of the war."

As interpreted by the legislators, this provision gives the President power to order wage and salary increases, as well as decreases, by private employers.

The conferees eliminated a senate amendment forbidding common carriers and other public utilities to increase the rates charged by them on Sept. 15 without the consent of a government agency designated by the President. They approved a provision requiring 30 days' notice for rate increases and giving the Office of Price administration the right to intervene for the purpose of opposing such increases before the regulatory bodies having jurisdiction.

Fuehrer's Favorite

LA JANA.

New York, Oct. 2 [Special].—Reports from Berlin heard here indicate that Adolf Hitler has been seen in public recently squiring a dancer and beauty contest winner once described as having "the most beautiful female figure in the world." His recent companion's name is La Jana and at 32 she has already had a career studded with honors. Born at Frankfort on Main, she first took to the stage as an acrobatic dancer and appeared in several productions staged by Max Reinhardt. In the early 1930s she became the wife of Michael Bohnen, German baritone, who appeared frequently with the Metropolitan opera in New York. La Jana is dark haired, olive complexioned, and anything except the fair blond Aryan type supposed to be the Nazi ideal.

REVEALS REPORT OF AMPLE RUBBER IN SO. AMERICA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—Sen. Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.] today asked a senate agricultural subcommittee to have its counsel check a report that "we can procure all, or a substantial part, of all our rubber needs from South America."

The senator explained he wanted the committee to verify the information before turning it over to government rubber officials, whom he described as having indicated "they were unwilling to receive this information."

The committee called Dr. Ernest Hauser, consultant for the Baruch rubber survey committee and coauthor of a book, "Rationed Rubber." Sen. George W. Norris [Ind., Neb.] said Hauser had made an "unfair, unjust, and untrue" attack on the committee's efforts to promote production of synthetic rubber from grain alcohol.

The book, as quoted by senators, contended that synthetic rubber from petroleum was the only adequate answer to the nation's war problems.

F. D. R. APPROVES U. S. ARMING OF STATE GUARDS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—Legislation authorizing the war department to furnish arms, ammunition, clothing, and equipment to state guard organizations as deemed necessary by the secretary of war was signed by President Roosevelt today. The measure includes guards in the United States, its territories, Puerto Rico, Canal Zone, and the Virgin Islands.

Army officials told the senate military committee that states would be expected generally to arm and equip their guards and they expected that not more than 150,000 guards would be armed by the government.

START REMOVAL SOON OF TROLLEY TRACKS AS SCRAP

3,300 Tons to Be Salvaged in West Suburbs.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

Removal of almost 3,300 tons of old street car tracks in west suburbs will begin in two weeks, Walter J. Malatesta, regional director of the War Production board's salvage projects section, disclosed yesterday. The section has accelerated its drive to recover scrap from abandoned railroads, mines, quarries, buildings, and factories.

Malatesta said 3,116 tons will be obtained by taking up tracks of the Chicago and West Towns Railways, Inc., in River Forest, Oak Park, Maywood, Forest Park, Cicero, and Berwyn, and 180 tons from long idle tracks of the old Chicago and Joliet Electric Railway company in Lyons township.

Third to Be Used Again.

Negotiations for salvaging the tracks have been under way for several months, he indicated. A third will be used again elsewhere, and the rest will be scrapped. The rails provide high grade scrap needed by steel mills.

"The West Towns Raiways already have started to extract some of the track," Malatesta said. "Negotiations for the complete salvage project are nearly completed and we expect to have the real work start in two weeks."

Among the tracks to be removed are:

Fifty-second avenue in Cicero from 12th to 26th streets, 7,912 feet of double and single track, 443 tons.

Dismantle 3 Cars.

The Chicago Surface lines burnt off the wood and dismantled three old street cars at its south shop at 78th street and Vincennes avenue. Workmen recovered 8 tons of steel scrap and 1,250 pounds of copper and brass from each car.

The Chicago board of education reported the following schools lead the school scrap drive: Mozart, 45,000 pounds; Calumet High school, 30,000; La Salle, 18,050; Dewey, 13,500, and Whitney, 13,000.

General American Transportation corporation has scrapped 4,000 tons of old tools and dies at its two East Chicago plants, officials disclosed.

POLISH ALLIANCE PLANS CEREMONY ON PULASKI DAY

Pulaski day, Oct. 11, will be celebrated by the Polish National alliance with a ceremony at the plaque in honor of the Polish hero in front of the United States courthouse, Dearborn and Adams streets, Charles K. Rozmarek, president of the alliance, announced yesterday. He said several of the alliance's lodges will attend the ceremony, which will include placing of a wreath at the foot of the plaque and short speeches. A memorial mass for the city's 550,000 Poles will be celebrated in Polish churches, he said.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

J. M. writes: "I was 20 on Sept. 21 and received my questionnaire on Sept. 23. If I am given a 1-A classification can I enlist in the air corps or would I have to enlist before I am classified?"

ANSWER: You could enlist after you were classified. You might enlist even after receiving your induction notice if your draft board would sign a release, but if you have an idea you would like to join any particular branch of service, do so and don't wait until it is too late.

K. L. asks: "Can I insure a package to be sent to my husband overseas? I sent him some money, but he apparently never received it."

ANSWER: You can insure a package in the same way and for the same amounts as you could for domestic delivery. If you have something you both treasure it would be inadvisable to try to send it thru the mails under the present circumstances. We hope you didn't try to send your husband cash. If you send him money, send it by postoffice money order which he can cash at the post. Report the letter that strayed to the postal inspectors.

E. T. A. writes: "I have talked with my finance officer about the paymen of my income taxes. He says soldiers are entitled to relief under the soldiers and sailors' civil relief act, but he doesn't know the details. Can you tell me how to go about straightening out my income taxes so my wife isn't hounded to death?"

ANSWER: Men in service may apply for relief if they are financially unable to meet their obligation by writing to the collector of internal revenue of their income tax district and ask for a "Statement of Financial Condition" form. A friend or relative may get one of these forms and send it to the Yank. When the form is properly filled out and returned, the collector then determines the Yank's ability to pay.

F. R. writes: "I'm living all alone with my dog, 'Rags.' I've been drafted and will have to go to camp Oct. 7. I have to board up the windows and lock up the house until I come home again. My problem is—what shall I do with my dog? Can I take him with me, or is there a 'dog outfit' in the army?"

ANSWER. You can't take him with you but you might contact Dogs for Defense, 111 North Canal street, Chicago.

A. L. S. writes: "When I arrived in ——— I discovered I'd lost the address of the person who adopted me in your Adopt the Yank campaign last year. How can I locate the person again?"

ANSWER: The soldier's name is Anthony L. Smagocz. If the person who adopted him will write to us, we'll give his address.

S. B. F. writes: "Last year I adopted a Yank, but I've lost his address. How can I find out where he is?"

ANSWER: Write to the adjutant general's office, Washington, D. C., giving the soldier's military identification, and the office will send you his correct address.

BRITON SAYS TEEN AGE GIRLS 'THROW SELVES' AT OVERSEAS TROOPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Young girls from 13 to 16 years old "simply throw themselves" at American, Canadian and other overseas troops, F. Hicks, a deputy chief constable, told an audience of youth leaders, police officials, magistrates and the clergy at a juvenile delinquency conference at Bristol today.

Councillor Mrs. F. M. Brown declared, "The men need as much protection from these girls as the girls do from the men. Some of the girls dress and make up so as to look much older than they are. We are going to appeal to the watch committee to appoint more women police to keep a watchful eye on the girls."

The Rev. R. W. Thompson, president of the Bristol Free Church federation, deplored the fact that billboard carriers still paraded the city carrying advertisements for cheap methods of birth control.

MEAT DELICACIES TO TAKE PLACE OF CURTAILED CUTS

Chicago housewives who studied the meat limitation order which went into effect yesterday, found numerous meat cuts and substances are not on the curtailed list.

Brains are not on the voluntary rationing list; nor are pig's feet, bacon squares, tongue, kidney, liver, heart, sweetbreads, etc. Food items formerly considered delicacies may now be obtained more easily than meat cuts. Operators revealed yesterday that many markets do not keep a stock of such undressed substances as there is little demand for them.

Chicago operators anticipate difficulty in filling orders for Thanksgiving dinner turkeys. The curtailment of meat, many of them said, already is causing a greater consumption of poultry.

Many dealers urge their patrons to place poultry orders at least two weeks before the holiday this year.

3 FAMILIES GET FIRST CHICAGO V HOME AWARDS

The first V home certificate, in a drive to make Chicago the victory city of the nation, was awarded to Mayor Kelly last night during a radio program.

The award was made in Mayor Kelly's apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive by Block Capt. Louis C. Sudler, 229 Lake Shore drive. The second and third certificates went to James E. Stamps, Negro, of 6748 St. Lawrence avenue, and Mrs. Blake C. Smith, 2234 West 107th street.

PRESIDENT SEES COMMANDERS OF ARMY AND NAVY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—President Roosevelt today called the ranking army and navy commanders into conference on the conduct of the war.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army, came to the executive offices at noon and spent half an hour with the commander in chief. It was understood he reported on army developments during the President's 8,754 mile inspection trip.

The general dodged reporters by leaving the White House by a side exit. As he left Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, and Under Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal filed into the office to report on navy activities.

To complete his examination of the military picture, Mr. Roosevelt lunched with Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Considerable speculation was aroused by the fact that the army and navy leaders were seen separately, instead of together as has been customary, at a time when the capital is rife with reports of conflicts between the services and of impending changes in the high commands.

POLETTI TELLS NEGROES: SUBMIT CASE TO PUBLIC

The American people must be made to realize the injustices to which Negroes are subjected because "public opinion will determine the Negro's place in society," Lieut. Gov. Charles Poletti of New York last night told an audience in Wendell Phillips High school sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"I wish I could tell you that in this war for freedom the Negro has at last achieved his free and equal status in our American democracy," Poletti said. He added, however, that "as long as there are lynchings, poll tax senators, Ku Klux Klans, and ads for 'white Christians only' the Negro will not be free from undemocratic discrimination."

The Negro has been asked to fight against Hitler, to fight for freedom, Poletti continued, "but who can blame him if he wonders sometimes, whose freedom he is fighting for. Is it his own? Or is it freedom for the white race? Who can blame him if he fails to define the distinction between Hitler slavery and oppression by his fellow men?"

OFFICIAL VOICES OF DEFEATISM STIR IRE IN HOUSE

Ouster Urged; Roosevelt Trip Protested.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—The defeatism of administration spokesmen who assert that the United States is losing the war was assailed bitterly in the house today as the members replied to President Roosevelt's criticism of congress which marked his return from a secret trip across the country.

Only one member, Majority Leader John McCormack [D., Mass.], arose to defend Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, and Lieut. Gen. B. B. Somervell, chief of the army services of supply, who have declared flatly that the American people must realize that the war is being lost.

McCormack insisted that administration officials merely were trying to combat complacency by telling the nation that the war could be lost. He denied that their speeches were defeatist utterances. However he had no reply when Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] took the floor a few moments later, quoting both Bard and Somervell.

Statements Recalled.

"Here's what they said, Mr. Majority Leader. Let's see what you think it sounds like," Hoffman began. "Last July 3, Gen. Somervell, speaking in Lansing, Mich., said, 'we are taking a terrific shellacking all around the globe.' And on Sept. 28, Bard said, 'how about, for a change, just saying that we are still losing the war. And realize that we damned well mean it.'"

At his press conference yesterday Mr. Roosevelt rebuked these officials, asserting that he would not have made these statements. Administration spokesmen, he said, have been rushing into print with rash, nonhelpful pronouncements.

"We are informed that the President has repudiated the remarks of his spokesmen," said Rep. John Taber [R., N. Y.]. "Now, I wonder whether he will remove them from office, and Elmer Davis also because he passed on their speeches. It would seem the logical thing to do."

People Confused.

Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], one of the main objects of the administration's purge campaign against its critics in congress, told his colleagues that the people have been bewildered and confused by the defeatism in high places.

"We must win the war in spite of New Deal incompetency, admitted by their own spokesmen," he added. "We are going to win this war because we have got to win it, altho we have two strikes on us because of the bungling and manhandling to date. We must win it in spite of the starry-eyed radicals now running it who want it to last until their entire program is carried out world wide."

Rep. Noah Mason [R., Ill.] touched off debate on Mr. Roosevelt's transcontinental journey incognito when he announced:

"Following the example of the President, I have decided to leave Washington for a two weeks' trip over my district to learn at first hand what my people are thinking and saying. With the election only a few weeks away, I wonder if my people would be inclined to believe me if I said my trip has no political implications."

Sees Morale "Enhanced."

In the roar of laughter and applause that followed, Rep. Herman P. Eberharter [D., Pa.], an ardent supporter of all White House policies, took the floor, telling the chamber that public morale "has been greatly enhanced by the very successful inspection trip just concluded by the President."

"In other words," he explained, "Mr. Roosevelt carried the ball and scored a touchdown."

Rep. Francis Case [R., S. D.] replied, defending congress from the Presidential criticism of yesterday.

"It may be true that the President scored a touchdown," he said, "but it is the first time I have heard of the captain or quarter back using the other players on his own team for tackling dummies. We are criticized because we sought to examine this anti-inflation bill. Our interest in the measure cannot be regarded as strange when we recall that only a year ago Mr. Roosevelt himself was strongly opposed to putting a ceiling on wages while insisting there be a ceiling on agricultural products."

All Doing Their Utmost.

Rep. Reid Murray [R., Wis.] joined in the defense of congress, maintaining that there is no one in the house or senate not doing his utmost to contribute toward victory.

"I was disappointed to see the President quoted this morning for saying that congress is not doing its best to win," he told the house. "There is an old saying to the effect you shouldn't lick a horse pulling its hardest. I think it can be applied here as well as on the farm."

Rep. Hoffman reminded his colleagues that congress has provided the President with everything he requested for carrying on the war and defeating our enemies.

Muddling Assailed.

"It has given him every dollar he requested for war purposes," declared the Michigan congressman.

Comments from other members of congress on the President's trip were brief and to the point. On the other side of Capitol hill, Sen. John Thomas [R., Idaho] said:

"It smacks of playing politics in the middle of a war."

"If the President made the swing to check the loss of confidence in his administration, he will have to make two or three more trips before next month to do any good," said Sen. Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.].

"I am surprised to learn that the President has been away while we have been here trying to curb inflation," declared Rep. Earl Wilson [R., Ind.]. "That's alarming. I thought, of course, he was here trying to win the war."

The Inquiring Camera Girl

THE QUESTION.

Did you ever keep an appointment at the wrong time?

WHERE ASKED.

State and Lake streets.

THE ANSWERS.

Marian Harney, cashier, 1701 North Mason avenue—My responsibility was to invite the office girls to my friend's wedding. We rode all the way to the south side church in a cab but when we saw the line outside the church we decided we were late. What a surprise when we discovered we were showering rice on a strange couple!

Martha La Rue, cashier, 2815 Orchard street—I stood on the very edge of the curb so my friend wouldn't have to hold up traffic too long when I got into his car. The wind was blowing hard, horns were tooting, and I never heard so many whistling men. After more than an hour I remembered he was out of town that day.

Mary Sheets, nurse's helper, 1736 Congress street—It had been years since we had had a family reunion. I was really excited about a trip from here to Pennsylvania, so I made special arrangements to get off work for three days. It was a meager reunion. We arrived one weekend too soon.

Howard Luth, storekeeper third class, Burlington, Ia.—It seemed to mean so much to my friend that I remember her birthday that, with no hints, I took it upon myself to remember it. I walked in with roses, candy, and a few friends as a special surprise. But it was no fun. It was the 18th. Her birthday was on the 28th.

Cora Norst, clerk, 5050 Sheridan road—It had been hard for me to make an appointment at the beauty parlor during the busy holiday season, so I didn't want to cancel even to take a little overnight trip with some friends. I drove to Chicago from Beverly Hills, only to learn my appointment was Thursday and not Tuesday.

Florence Petrozzine, clerk, 420 South Kildare avenue—It was too big a job for my friend to take her little boy to the dentist, so I told her to leave everything to me. I made the appointment and then concentrated on luring him there. After much bribing, many failures, and all kinds of tears, I arrived with him two days too soon.

ADEQUATE FOOD ASSURED IN WAR, NELSON ASSERTS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, today told the house agriculture committee there will be enough food to Americans to eat during the war.

Nelson, called by the committee in its investigation of the farm labor situation which members said threatened to result in an acute food shortage, told the committee the WPB was fully aware of the problems of agriculture and was doing everything possible to relieve them.

"When I say definitely there will be enough food to eat, that's a considered statement," Nelson said. "I believe it can be done. I think we are going to be smart enough and intelligent enough as a nation to meet the problem."

He said he did not mean that the nation could continue to eat as if there were no war, and added that luxury foods may have to be abandoned for the duration.

united nations merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine in August in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America. Survivors have been landed at a United States east coast port. Details of the attack were not announced.

The sinking brought to 482 the number of vessels lost in the western Atlantic area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation by the Associated Press. The attacks have cost the lives of 3,193 men, 1,833 are missing, and 14,508 have been rescued.

932 CASUALTIES LISTED BY NAVY, 35 FROM ILLINOIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—The navy department today made public its 13th casualty list of the war, covering the period Sept. 7 to Sept. 21 and containing the names of 932 dead, wounded, or missing. The list covered the losses in the navy and the marine corps, and included one member of the coast guard.

It contained names of 162 dead, 67 wounded, and 703 missing, bringing to 14,466 the total casualties since the beginning of the war. The navy announced that the next of kin have been notified.

11 Dead from Illinois.

Illinois had 11 dead, 1 wounded, and 23 missing. Casualties from Wisconsin were 3 dead, 2 wounded, and 8 missing.

The navy said most of the casualties resulted from direct action with the enemy but that the list included names of those lost in accidents at sea or in the air on duty directly connected with wartime operations.

	DEAD.	WOUNDED.	MISSING.

COAST GUARD	31	7	3

HOTEL HOSPITAL WILL SERVE ALL CHICAGO TROOPS

The new army hospital to be established soon in the Chicago Beach hotel will serve the 6th service command headquarters personnel and other troops stationed in Chicago, as well as students attending the army air forces technical school with headquarters in the former Stevens hotel.

This was announced yesterday by Brig. Gen. Arnold N. Krogstad, commanding officer of the school, as the war department officially placed the hospital under his command. He said the hotel, at 1660 East Hyde Park boulevard, is expected to be vacated by about Oct. 15, and that the army probably will take over officially a few days later.

Stephen Clark, hotel manager, said about a fourth of the occupants already have moved and that another 25 per cent are expected to leave by Monday. He reported all guests probably will find new residences by Oct. 15. He thanked the army for sufficient time to permit the moving of residents in an orderly fashion.

SENATE FINANCE GROUP PUTS O. K. ON NEW TAX BILL

Goes to Floor for Debate Beginning Tuesday.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—The senate finance committee today gave final approval to a bill imposing 7 to 8 billion dollars a year in new federal taxes without altering the stiff levies on individuals and corporations previously adopted tentatively.

Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the committee, estimated that if the bill becomes law in essentially its present form, total federal revenue will rise to 25 or 26 billion dollars a year. Even that huge total would fall far short of contemplated spending, estimates of which range from 70 billion dollars upward.

The committee plans to file its formal report on the bill and call it up for senate action Tuesday. George said he hopes to complete consideration within a week and get the measure to the White House well in advance of the Nov. 3 elections, but few senators shared his optimism.

43 Million Taxpayers.

George estimated the bill's annual yield at about 8 billion dollars, but treasury experts said two weeks ago that the measure as it then stood would bring in only $6,851,700,000, compared with their estimate of a $6,291,300,000 yield under the house bill.

Pending the formal committee report, there was no accurate breakdown of the prospective collections from individuals, corporations and excise taxes. Unofficial estimates hold that 43,000,000 individuals will pay either federal income taxes, the new "Victory tax," or both. The 5 per cent "Victory tax" will affect every worker with a gross income above $624 a year. Virtually everybody will pay some kind of excise tax.

House Bill Revised Sharply.

The house passed the tax bill July 20, but the senate committee made numerous drastic changes. Indicative of the extent the bill was amended in the finance committee, the house print contained 320 pages and the senate committee version 577 pages.

Even today the senators found occasion for a few amendments, one of which erased a prospective revenue gain of $34,800,000 a year in taxes on passenger transportation. The committee reversed a previous decision to raise the rate to 15 per cent on ordinary travel and 20 per cent on de luxe accommodations, and went along with the house in doubling the present 5 per cent tax on train, bus and airplane tickets.

Other revisions left the excise tax on champagne and other sparkling wines at 7 cents a half-pint, instead of 10 cents as had been proposed, and slapped a $100 annual tax on "digger" type amusement machines in place of the current $10 levy.

Urges Broad Sales Tax.

A suggestion that states might well consider giving up their sales taxes for the duration to open the way for a federal sales levy sweeping "clear across the board" came from Sen. Clyde Herring [D., Ia.], a member of the committee.

"I'll be glad to support a federal sales tax, too," he said. "I'm a firm believer in state sales taxes, but this is a time when the states will have to forego some things."

Wiping out state sales levies, he said, would remove any objections that a similar federal tax would bear harder on one segment of the population than another.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau has expressed strong opposition to the sales tax principle, declaring it hits the poor a relatively harder blow than the rich. Herring countered that the income tax, with its sharply graduated rates, gives assurance that the rich man will pay his share.

LIBERTIES UNION SUPPORTS CAUSE OF MRS. DILLING

Opposes Removing Her, 27 Others to Capital.

Holding that the government has made out no real case to back its charges of subversive activities against Mrs. Elizabeth K. Dilling and 27 other persons named in a blanket indictment, the American Civil Liberties union yesterday directed that its members should take steps to fight the removal of the defendants to Washington, D. C., for trial.

This policy was announced in a communication from the union's office in New York to Charles Liebman, counsel for the Chicago Civil Liberties committee. The union said that conspiracy by publications before the war to obstruct recruiting and enlistment could not be proved if weighed by the "clear and present danger test."

Guard Freedom of Speech.

Emphasizing that it is not concerned with the character of the defendants, the union declared it was acting to protect freedom of speech and "to check resort to repressive measures which may go much further in curbing honest criticism in relation to the war."

"It is difficult to conceive that this prosecution has any practical relation to the successful conduct of the war," the union said. "Indeed, it is ominous in its tendency to repeat and even extend the character of free speech prosecutions brought in the first World war, which all reasonable men have since condemned."

Utterances quoted in the indictment, the union said, are not essentially different from those which appeared in scores of newspapers and journals and which have been echoed in congress. Whether any of them could be construed as advising insubordination is "highly questionable," the statement held.

Chicago Board to Act.

Liebman, who said he personally subscribed to the conclusions of the union, said the memorandum would be submitted to the executive board of the Chicago committee for consideration at a meeting next Tuesday.

Attorney William Scott Stewart, counsel for Mrs. Dilling, said he would file a petition before Federal Judge William H. Holly next Monday asking leave to appeal from the court's recent order removing her to Washington for trial. The petition, if granted, would permit Stewart to appeal the removal order to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

SILENT WITNESS AT POLICY TRIAL DRAWS $500 FINE

Ezra Leake.

Ezra Leake, Negro ex-convict, was fined $500 for contempt of court yesterday in Criminal court, Chief Justice John Sbarbaro stipulated that Leake could work out the fine at $1.50 a day.

Leake was charged with contempt after he refused to testify last July against 26 Negro policy operators, indicted on testimony he presented to the grand jury.

Investigation into the policy syndicate started after Leake wrote a letter to Judge Robert J. Dunne, then chief justice, signing himself "The Man Who Sees Tomorrow," stating that he was familiar with the inner workings of the group and expressing a willingness to testify against the syndicate operators.

CAUGHT SMOKING IN HIGH SCHOOL, SLAYS TEACHER

Censured, One Gets a Gun, Pal Fires It.

Irwin Goodman.

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Irwin Goodman, a popular mathematics teacher at Brooklyn's J. Gaynor Junior High school, was shot to death today by one of two young men he had caught smoking in a school washroom.

Assistant District Attorney Nathan Math said Joseph Annunziata, 19 years old, admitted firing the bullet after Neil Simonelli, 16, had pointed the pistol at Goodman and pulled the trigger twice, the gun failing to fire. Neither was a student at the school, but Simonelli was a former student. Both were booked on homicide charges.

Shot in the Back.

Goodman, 40, and father of two children, was shot in the back as he climbed a school stairway and fell dead on a landing half way between floors. Apparently the noise was not heard in classrooms, for it was not until a change of classes at 10:45 a. m. that Goodman's body was found.

Police Capt. John J. McGowan said Simonelli told him both went to the school washroom shortly after school opened at 9 a. m. where they smoked cigarets. Goodman found them there and removed both to the principal's office.

In the principal's office, McGowan declared, the two were lectured by Mrs. Rose Ray, assistant principal, who then ordered them out of the building. Mrs. Ray said one of the young men—she could not remember which—shook hands with Goodman and apologized.

Goodman then went back to his classes. The two went to Simonelli's home, McGowan said, and got a .32 caliber automatic pistol.

Shooting Reënacted.

Reënacting the shooting late today, Simonelli said he and Annunziata then returned to the school and found Goodman on the stairs. Simonelli pointed the gun at Goodman and clicked it twice. Annunziata then snatched the weapon and fired once, Math said, hitting the teacher in the back.

Then both ran away, Simonelli going to an ice cream plant where he was employed. There detectives picked him up. The pistol was found in Simonelli's home. Police said he once served a term in a reformatory for larceny.

The 3,000 children attending classes were dismissed for the day after the shooting.

corner of his forehead, was rigid as he admitted the slaying to Judge Sbarbaro. While he testified under direct and cross-examination he sat with his feet crossed. When he finished he shrugged, said "That's the story to this point," and went down from the stand. He paused to praise his wife as the "best there is" and took his seat.

Assistant State's Attorneys Francis McCurrie and Richard Devine asked the death penalty, urging the court to recognize that Williams had shown no mercy to the dead grocer.

Attorney Francis Callahan, appointed to represent Williams, asked the court to find him guilty of manslaughter. He argued that Williams was not a habitual criminal but was only a "nervous young man who wasn't thinking" and said that Williams "wasn't all bad because he praised his wife and showed consideration for her."

Judge Sbarbaro then asked if there was any more testimony and when the courtroom was silent called Williams before him and sentenced him. Williams' wife sobbed, but he apparently was completely unconcerned as he returned to his cell.

After the trial Mrs. Papayanis commented to reporters that "if all murderers were treated with the same speedy treatment the problems of widowed women and orphaned children would show a big drop."

WIFE OF GYPSUM OFFICIAL FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE

Mrs. Frances Adelaide Barrett, 38 years old, the wife of Herbert Ross Barrett, controler of the United States Gypsum company, was found dead yesterday in the garage of their home at 144 Lakeview terrace, Highland Park.

A coroner's jury later reported to Lake county Coroner John L. Taylor that she had committed suicide thru the inhalation of carbon monoxide gas while temporarily mentally deranged.

Barrett told Dr. Taylor that he had missed his wife in their home at 1:20 a. m. yesterday and had gone to the garage, which is attached to the house, when he smelled gas. He said he found the motor of their automobile going and his wife's body slumped beside the machine.

He called Highland Park police who vainly attempted to revive her. She was pronounced dead by Dr. S. R. Banfield, a Highland Park physician.

Report Blasts in Belgian Factory, Labor Exchange

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP).—The "Free Belgian" news agency reported today two recent bomb explosions at Liege, in Belgium, one in a factory where several Rexists [Belgian Nazis] were wounded, and another which wrecked a German labor exchange.

ARREST FUGITIVE FROM BRIDEWELL IN SHOOTING QUIZ

Joseph Pintoran, 25 years old, who escaped from the Bridewell on Monday, was seized by police early yesterday in a hotel at 1322 East 47th street.

Police intensified their search for Pintoran after Policeman Joseph Krysinski of the stolen auto section was shot near the heart, in front of 1729 Monroe street as he questioned the driver of a stolen car. Krysinski, from a bed in County hospital, could not identify Pintoran as the gunman.

Pintoran escaped when he and other prisoners were repairing a section of a wall at the Bridewell. He was serving a year's sentence as a narcotic peddler at the time.

BANK MESSENGER SLUGGED; $20,000 PAY ROLL STOLEN

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 2 (AP).—Three men slugged a 60 year old bank employé today and seized $20,000 in currency consigned for ordnance plant pay rolls in a bold daylight robbery on the main street of nearby Illiopolis. The trio eluded a police net and made their getaway.

Robert Knox, assistant cashier of The Farmers' State bank, was intercepted by the three men as he was walking unguarded with the money from the Illiopolis postoffice to the bank, half a block away. One struck him on the head with a gun, grabbed the parcel of cash, and jumped into a waiting sedan with two accomplices. The car roared out of town.

The money was being transferred from the postoffice to the bank to meet pay checks of employés at two ordnance plants near the war boom town 20 miles east of here. Knox was carrying the currency in sacks, wrapped inside a bundle of mail.

Cashier E. J. McDermott said the bank usually cashes between $60,000 and $70,000 in ordnance workers' checks, but that fortunately only $20,000 was drawn from the Chicago Federal Reserve bank today because the bank had an unusually large surplus of cash on hand.

SEDITIOUS SPEECH CHARGE DROPPED.

A charge of making seditious speeches against Mrs. Mary Remus Drossell, 35 years old, 1516 Augusta boulevard, was dismissed yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

LIPSTICK MARK HELPS TRAP SIX BANDIT SUSPECTS

Police last night credited a bandit's heel print and the mark from a woman cashier's lipstick with aiding them to round up six men accused of being the "9 a. m." gang that robbed five building and loan offices of $5,000.

The men held were Peter Ficeriotta, 20 years old, 546 North Avers avenue, now on probation for burglaries; George Vertucci, 19, of 920 South Western avenue; James Vertucci, George's cousin, 23, of 2431 Harrison street; Frank Cerra, 23, 2443 Arthington street; Carmen Servino, 18, of 2450 Polk street, and Sam Mascio, 23, of 3525 Lexington street, also on probation for burglaries.

Police said the gang was trapped when George Vertucci's heel print was left on a piece of paper in a loan office robbed of $400 and thru the red mark left on Ficeriotta's gloves when he used them to gag a cashier in an office where $1,574 was stolen. The gang gained its nickname, according to police, by always striking at 9 a. m. on the theory they would not be disturbed by customers then.

THE PEOPLE AND THE WAR.

Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, head of the service of supply, speaking in St. Louis, gave another voice to the assertion that we have been losing the war and that unless Americans get rid of their "smug sense of complacency" they will also lose their independence.

The conduct of the war is entirely in the hands of the administration and the ranking advisers in the army, navy, and air force, subject to the decisions of the various allied councils of war. Responsibility for the defeats to which Gen. Somervell referred cannot be transferred to the people. They had nothing to do with what happened at Pearl Harbor, in the Philippines, at Hongkong, in Malaya, at Singapore, or elsewhere. Nor did the troops.

The American man in the ranks has fought to the limit of his endurance in every action into which he has been led. It is not his fault nor the fault of the people at home that American aviation in the Philippines was caught on the ground, as it was in Hawaii, and destroyed. Any hope of defending the Philippines had disappeared when the air force, which might have saved the islands, was annihilated.

There is no smugness at home. The people have responded to every request that has been made of them. Is it wholly consistent that the governmental spokesmen should ask for uncritical belief in the conduct of the war and at the same time say that the people have not awakened to its seriousness? Just what are they expected to do? Are they to abandon their useful pursuits, gather in crowds, display their emotions, and uselessly agitate themselves? What good purpose would such behavior serve?

Why do so many topnotchers think the Americans don't care what's happening? The people are putting their men and money into this conflict, they are submitting with great cheerfulness to regulations, even when they cannot understand how some of the disturbances of normal life have been allowed to reach such a demoralizing condition. A great majority of them have said to themselves that, regardless of how things have occurred, facts are facts and they'll adjust themselves.

Such interruptions of the war effort as have been noted, whether caused by management or labor, are subject to the control of authority and if authority has bungled the job it is not the fault of the people in general. The spirit of Americans is all right. They do not get much informative news of what is happening, but they hang upon each announcement with hope and expectation. They are anxious for the men who are fighting and who are about to fight. They have done everything they can to make the home front solid in support of the fighting men. They have been, indeed, very lenient with the people responsible for the outcome. They have properly deferred the fulfillment of their hopes, waiting for production and the training of men to reach its peak. They have accepted rather unsatisfactory explanations of things that have gone wrong in confidence that things will go better.

If the people have not been sufficiently alarmed by the possibility that the war could be lost and their independence with it, it is because they think that eventually, in spite of administrative mistakes and blunders, the resources of the country willingly used will prevail. Is it desirable to take that confidence away from them? Possibly they have too much of it. It might be well if they took a more critical attitude. They might say to the responsible authorities that they are not satisfied. They have been reasonable in their judgment and have said to themselves that they weren't in position to know all the facts. They had to trust their leaders and for the time being they were willing to do so. If that is smugness, at least it is favorable to the government. Until the government proves the contrary, the people will not believe that they are fated to lose the wars in which they have been involved.

Let the authorities look to themselves. The people are sound.

LAKES TO GULF.

In order to compensate for losses of ocean shipping as a result of submarine warfare, the War Shipping administration has moved several Great Lakes ships down the Illinois waterway and Mississippi river to gulf ports, where they are being converted to oceangoing vessels. The ships were between 350 and 400 feet long, and a government official says that most ships now operating on the lakes could be moved to the gulf in the event of necessity.

The transfer of lake vessels again emphasizes the value of the lakes to gulf waterway, if it were developed properly, and if the right kind of equipment were employed. Physicial limitations would not permit a normal movement of lake boats over the waterway even under the most favorable conditions. Those that have been moved had to be stripped of their superstructures to pass under fixed bridges and had to be sent in ballast to navigate the inadequate channel.

Most of the difficulties having to do with bridges will be overcome when the installation of machinery for moving or lifting 17 bridges on the sanitary and ship canal is completed around the first of the year, but the limitations of the channel remain. The project depth of the Illinois waterway is 9 feet, but owing to fluctuations caused by the necessity of Chicago's remaining within the permitted 1,500 second feet diversion from Lake Michigan, theoretical depth is rarely attained. The ships sent down river had to be held to 8 feet.

The potentialities of the waterway cannot be realized until the government relents and permits increased diversion. A greater flow would give a current to the waterway and would let thru enough water to maintain necessary depth in the dry months. It would also flood the shallows at Grafton near the mouth of the Illinois so that they could more readily be navigated. The fact that we are not being permitted to utilize fully a vital link in the system of inland waterways can be attributed less to the obstructionism of other lake states than to denseness in Washington.

HARUN-AL-RASHID WITH A BRASS BAND.

The tactics of Harun-al-Rashid, who sallied forth at night to see what his loyal subjects were doing and saying, are, of course, susceptible to modern improvements. Mr. Roosevelt's journey demonstrated once more that America is, indeed, the land of superlatives. His secret was undoubtedly the biggest secret in history. Probably less than half the people in the communities thru which he passed have been talking about it for the last 10 days. Between 50,000 and 70,000 soldiers were required to guard the route he traveled on the Pacific coast and at one place, it is reported, the President addressed 50,000 persons. But at least it was a well kept secret to the shut-ins who depend on the newspapers and the radio for their news. The censorship office decreed that the President's movements were a military secret and not a single newspaper in the United States printed a word of them until he was safely back in the White House. Now some of their readers who don't know the circumstances accuse them of boycotting the President.

As Rep. Halleck noted in congress, these uncontrolable urges to go out and see what the people are thinking and saying seem to seize possession of Mr. Roosevelt about once every two years. In 1936 there was the inspection of the drouth areas, of which Mr. Halleck was so unkind to say that they consisted of about five minutes of drouth inspection and five days of parades. In 1938 there was a similar swing around the circle, and in 1940, as every one will remember, the tension of international events which was going to keep the President in Washington relaxed enough to permit him to inspect defense plants in those areas in which the people were least suspicious that what Mr. Willkie was saying was only campaign oratory. It is understood, of course, that these trips have all been nonpolitical. The fact that elections also occur at two year intervals is purely a coincidence.

This is the first of the trips that Mr. Roosevelt has made in camera. As time goes on repetition of the device may bring refinements. When the prince of Wales, the present duke of Windsor, wished to avoid the panoply of state visits he traveled under one of his minor titles, as Baron Renfrew. The 21 gun salute to the President was abolished on the trip just finished. Perhaps in the future Mr. Roosevelt will prefer to travel under one of his subsidiary titles, such as president of the American Red Cross or of the Warm Springs Foundation.

It was fortunate that Mr. Roosevelt got back to Washington when he did, considering the state of affairs as he described it on his arrival. It seems that congress is poking its nose into affairs that do not concern it, principally the conduct of the war. It is expressing opinions on many subjects about which it can't possibly have adequate information, because the executive department won't tell the congressmen what it is doing. Also, the members are actually taking time to debate when legislation is ordered.

Newspapers and the radio, and their columnists and commentators, are also disseminating stories which are not accurate and which do infinite harm, Mr. Roosevelt said, altho he refused to name whom he was talking about. Government officials are rushing into print with inaccurate and alarmist statements. Even Donald Nelson appears to be at fault. Mr. Nelson, who is supposed to be the boss of production, said that it was 14 per cent below its goal in August. The President intimated that Mr. Nelson probably didn't know what he was talking about.

Almost everybody, in fact, seems to be out of step.

SOME CRUMBS OF COMFORT.

Gasoline rationing and the other measures being taken to save rubber will not be popular with the public, especially when it considers the lack of foresight in Washington that occasions them, but some good is bound to result. Indeed, it is to be perceived already. With fewer cars on the road, and those driving less miles and held to reduced speeds, traffic deaths during August dropped 47 per cent for the state as a whole and 28 per cent in Chicago, as compared with August, 1941.

When mileage rationing and the national 35 mile speed limit become fully effective, further savings in life and property are certain. Last year thruout the nation 40,000 persons were killed in automobile accidents. That was the greatest slaughter ever on the highways, amounting to almost 75 per cent of fatalities among our armed forces in the last war.

Automobile insurance rates necessarily will be reduced in proportion to the reduction in risks brought about by the curtailment in car operation. Rates have already been cut in some eastern sections where gasoline rationing has been in effect for several months, and the insurance men will have to do the same thing here and in other areas now being brought under restriction.

What is novel to the motorist now may become habit. He may learn all over what it is to be careful, and when the year's end and next year show the great savings that they will in life and property, the driver may decide that the lesson in safety has been worth it.

We have always had laws intended to insure safe driving. The trouble has been that public sentiment did not support enforcement. Thus, as with any unpopular law, supposed enforcement became in many instances a shield for extortion and political fixing, until legislatures recognized the public impatience and by relaxing speed limits, gave drivers more legal leeway in killing themselves and others.

Now patriotism, as a force for law enforcement, may do what the law alone failed to do. It took the motorists of the country 30 years to work up to the point where any large proportion of them would drive at 60 and 70 miles an hour. After a few years at 35 the present adult generation may be cured of excessive speed for life. As for Junior, he probably isn't going to get behind the wheel very often after Nov. 22.

Editorial of the Day

BE CAREFUL THERE.

[Oklahoman, Oklahoma City.]

Now that production wizard, Mr. Kaiser, has launched another vessel just 10 days after its keel was laid. He had better watch his step. At any hour the federal authorities may swoop down upon him and charge him with violating some regulation by purchasing his building material in the wrong market. The man who actually produces nowadays is taking grave chances.

MR. PEPYS CARRIES ON.

3d Oct.—Did send all my summer suits to the cleaner before putting them away for another year, and did get out my winter garb, rejoicing to find no damage by moths. Counted these suits and find I am prepared to carry on the war for years without getting into trousers without cuffs. Expect to be accused by many patriots of violating the anti-cuffs law, but wars are always like that.

My waistcoat of the MacArthur tartan is now ready for football weather, and 'tis a pity no one will see it under my overcoat. The MacArthur of Chicago, who gave me the goods, has sent a supply of it to Mrs. Gen. MacArthur in Australia for a coat that will catch the eyes of the Aussies, many of whom are of Scottish blood, and the general's lady is greatly pleased therewith.

Received from Alex Davidson, who reads my column in faraway Edinburgh, a box of heather and thistle, and he told me the plants were gathered around Penielhaugh, which is a tall old tower built to commemorate the battle of Waterloo.

Received from my contributor, Roy Engel, two photographs of his celebrated dog Choppy, who is richly endowed with whiskers. I should return the compliment with pictures of my dog Dido, but she never stands still long enough for picture taking.

Missed the first football game of the season because of bad weather and an influenza, of which I am almost cured, and this was the first time I had missed the first game in 17 years. But today I shall go to the second, expecting a fine October afternoon.

OCTOBER, GYPSY MAID.

Holá! A gypsy maiden
Dancing in the lane!
Scarlet apron laden
With the fruit of Spain.

Where the gypsy lingers,
Green has turned to gold;
Witchcraft in her fingers,
In her kerchief's fold.

See! The gypsy maiden
Lights a gypsy fire.
Smoke-wreaths, incense-laden,
Rise; a voice calls: "Sire,

"Lost I, in the clearings
Where the waters meet,
Gold-and-copper earrings!"
(Ho! 'Tis bittersweet.)

"Lost I from my girdle
A shining gold doubloon,
Binding purple kirtle!"
('Tis the harvest moon.)

Zingara, my gypsy maid,
Fling your tambourine!
What a merry masquerade
For the Autumn queen!

Party Girl Has Party Cat.

"See that red circle on the calendar?" said Ferdinand, my silver tabby. "It happens to be my birthday."

"Don't tell me," I said, "that you're going to be 4 years old. You don't look a day over 2½."

"Never mind the soft soap, my girl. What I want to know is: How about a party like the boys have, with guests, and food, and, er . . . presents?"

"Whom were you thinking of asking?" I said.

"My old pal, Mr. Devlin, of course, and I thought perhaps my cousin, Brewster Henry B. It ought to be a treat for that guy to get out of the city. He doesn't get around now the way he used to: week-ends up north fishing in the summertime and duck hunting in the fall. Gad, the things he's told me about the interesting alleys in Green Bay and Milwaukee. His folks take him along on their trips, but I get locked up in the basement."

"Maybe he doesn't get car sick—but to get back to the party. Shall I say 1 o'clock lunch?"

"Sometimes I marvel at your so-called intelligence, my girl," he said in disgust. "Make it 12 midnight until 4 a. m., and warn the neighbors. That's going to be my night to howl."

AT RILEY'S TOMB.

[James Whitcomb Riley, born Oct. 7, 1853.]

O tell me not he sleeps. For he has gone
To find the bairns who taught his heart to sing,
But who were called away. They hurried on
To tell the angels of him, childhood's king.

He is not dead. He could not die. For he Was so in love with life that death for him
Was not. We call it all a mystery.
Not he. He saw no shades, no ogre grim.

To him God was a loving Father, we
His children. Here we have an hour for play,
But when the shadows fall, we cannot see,
And so He calls us in, where it is day.

No, tell me not he sleeps. For he has gone

The Order of the Bath.

King George's order to conserve fuel puts a maximum five inch waterline in the family bathtub. So:

The British lord's tub has five inches of water,
And the same line is drawn for mother and daughter.
Half an inch, half an inch, half an inch shorter
Would not cover much of her ladyship's quarter.
When the tap flows, all the family knows
There's trouble for those who use more than they oughter.

SKILLED EARLY CARE FOR THE PREMATURE BABE.

THE babe who arrives ahead of time and who consequently has less vitality presents a real challenge. If life is to be preserved, certain procedures will be essential. In this connection we may recall with pride in skilful management of the Dionne quintuplets by Dr. Allan Dafoe. These five girls now are husky specimens.

Ordinarily the duration of pregnancy is 280 days. But there is an old saying, "When the apple is ripe it will fall off the tree." Fortunately the infant who weighs three pounds or slightly less has an excellent opportunity to thrive if growth can be started. These little ones are plunged into the outer world long before their breathing system is ready for it. In addition, the digestive apparatus is not as yet prepared to take up edibles which are not first conditioned by the mother's blood.

The primary consideration, however, is to preserve body heat. These tots lack the power to conserve their own warmth. This calls for an incubator of some sort. Homemade cradles equipped with hot water bottles or electric light globes, if regulated properly, will serve well. Many days elapsed before automatic incubators reached Callander, Ontario, and were placed at the command of Dr. Dafoe.

After the heating apparatus has been adjusted, attention to breathing is next in order. Oxygen may be utilized for several days. The gas is allowed to bubble thru warm water before it is suitable for inhalation. Sometimes a mixture of carbon dioxide and oxygen for five minutes every hour or two will aid in establishing normal respiration. As soon as the babe is able to maintain a good color without artificial aid the practice may be discontinued. But constant watchfulness is demanded because a "blue spell" [cyanosis] may develop rather quickly.

Nutriment may be deferred for 24 hours. But plenty of liquids must be supplied. Fluid may be injected beneath the skin or introduced directly into the stomach via a slender rubber tube. An ounce per pound of body weight will be needed for two days, an ounce and a half per pound on the third day, one and three-fourths on the fourth, and two on the fifth. By the sixth day the chances are that the Breck feeder can be used.

When it is time for feeding, breast milk is best. If this is not available the condensed form may be substituted. A well known formula consists of seven parts evaporated milk, one part corn sirup, and twelve parts water. The mixture must be employed cautiously, making sure that the material is swallowed and that none gets into the lungs.

We must not forget that these little mites are extremely delicate. An infection which would be thrown off by a hardy seven pounder may strike suddenly because of lowered resistance. This means that while we think of the infant as "out of the woods" by the time it has attained five pounds, alertness must be continued.

Of course the ideal spot is a hospital, which is equipped to administer food by tube, to provide oxygen if required, and to give a transfusion should this lifesaving measure become necessary.

FUSS AND FEATHERS.

K. J. L. writes: My mother insists on a large and elaborate wedding for my fiancé and me. Because I am such a nervous person, I am afraid I will actually ruin the biggest event of my life. Can you suggest something to stall off same? I want to be one of those serene looking brides.

REPLY.

A perfectly natural reaction. Ask the family doctor to prescribe a bromide or some other sedative. Under its influence you will sail thru the affair with poise and calm.

DON'T WORRY.

Mrs. P. E. writes: My six year old daughter, when playing with her dolls, talks to them, changing her voice for each one. I think this is quite clever but my relatives believe she should be broken of the habit. What do you think?

REPLY.

FOR TWO SECOND FRONTS.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Last Saturday the loop was filled with "second front now" handbill distributors. I can guess who is back of this campaign. It seems to me that a certain very agile organization is getting more active again. Before Russia got jumped on they were all out for "Keep America Out of War."

I am for a second front. In fact, I am for two second fronts, one in France and the other in eastern Russia. Vladivostok would be an ideal base for our airplanes. If Russia would do to Japan what she wants to do to the Nazis, we could use this base. If anybody is deserving of a second front, surely Gen. MacArthur is, and so are the Filipinos and the Chinese. The Chinese have been fighting for a long, long time. As for sacrifice and loyalty, ask MacArthur about the Filipino.

When our military leaders are ready that is the time for a second front in Europe. They are the ones who will have to see it thru. Our men in uniform are the ones who will have to make it a success—not the propagandists here at home. To attempt to force the issue is neither wise nor loyal. AMERICAN.

"NO ESTABLISHMENT OF RELIGION."

Oshkosh, Wis., Sept. 29.—W. S. Fleming writes today of "an unwarranted decision of our Supreme court" in barring religious instruction from the public schools. In view of the first amendment of the constitution, which states, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion," it is hard to see how the Supreme court could have decided differently.

Our schools are supported by all taxpayers, regardless of belief. Among them are Christians, Jews, Mohammedans, and even agnostics, and all have a right to object to their children being taught religious dogmas which they do not accept as true. So long as school attendance is compulsory, it would be manifestly unfair to teach religion which large numbers of our citizens do not accept.

IRVIN F. STRAUSS.

NAZI BASE?

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Altho your Brazil-Africa map was most complete, a little legend added to it would not go amiss. Great Britain controls the Island of Ascension, midway between "Free French" Equatorial Africa and Brazil. In spite of the strategic position of this island, Nazi Germany has not overlooked the Island of Annobon, which is controled by Nationalist Spain. Annobon today stands well equipped as a German air base, ready to send bombers to the east coast of South America on orders. Annobon lies little more than 10 hours' bombing time from Brazil. Not a very pleasant prospect for Rio de Janeiro, if they don't fortify the Islands of Trinidad and Martin Vas.

CHET SWITAL.

TENDER OF A FLAGPOLE.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Block 18, zone 1, bounded by 19th street, Carpenter street, 19th place, and May street, is willing to donate its metal flag pole if the government is in need of it for scrap. If the government really needed this old metal, a priority would be placed on it and no one would be able to purchase the pole outside of a manufacturing plant doing war work.

We hope this answers all the critics.

BLOCK COMMITTEE.

BEHIND JAP SYMPATHY.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Eighty-one Negroes are now facing federal indictment for various activities and statements construed as tending to impede the war effort. Lack of adequate educational opportunities, particularly in the south, where perhaps 95 per cent of these cultists were born and raised; discrimination, civil injustice, and denial of industrial equality, will lead to restlessness and discontent and contempt for constituted authority. On the other hand, it is not claimed that to accord to Negroes all rights enjoyed by every other citizen will completely wipe out the preachments and sentiments ascribed to those now in federal custody, for a weakness for robes, hoods, rituals, passwords, and spellbinders permeates every stratum of society and knows no color line.

Those who lead such movements as brought to light by the FBI are almost invariably uneducated, untrained Negroes, who, incidentally, suffer most from discrimination, but who have innate abilities at rabble rousing. The leader in most cases isn't quite sure himself where he is headed but he is sure he has a just grievance and is stirred by an ambition common to most humans to champion the rights of somebody. But because he, like those who blindly follow his doctrines, has been denied the right to become a rounded citizen — by lack of educational opportunities, denial of a right to work, or because he is circumscribed by discriminatory legislation and made a target for injustice generally—his vision is warped, his outlook dimmed, his aspirations thwarted, his efforts wasted, and his energies misdirected.

To make known their grievances, one set of Negroes may use one method, another set a different method, but all of them agree that the responsibility for the subversive activities complained of should be put on the doorstep of its father.

EDWARD M. BYRD.

SOLDIERS' TRANSPORTATION.

Camp Davis, N. C., Sept. 21.—I have been in the army for just one month. I am situated in the south and I like it very much. I am from Chicago, and the transportation system down here is a disgrace. We are located 30 miles from Wilmington, a good sized city. To get to town on a Saturday afternoon the soldiers must wait from two to two and one-half hours for a bus. Last night I arrived at the bus depot at 7:15 o'clock and got a bus for camp at 11:15. You can readily see that this takes much joy away from a soldier who wants to get to town on his day off. This is a situation that we all think should be remedied.

PVT. RUSSELL C. HJORT.

QUARTERMASTER TRIBUTE.

Camp Hoan, Cal., Sept. 27.—I want to pay my respects to your paper for publishing and Mr. Orr for drawing that splendid testimonial cartoon to the quartermaster corps on your front page Sept. 14. I think the entire Q. M. C. appreciates it. I have it on my office bulletin board here in camp. We have so few bouquets thrown at us that it was a big surprise to have this splendid testimonial.

LIEUT. GEORGE R. BAKER.

IS MOON REGISTERED?

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 26.—Moon Mullins is my great favorite. When did he start working for THE TRIBUNE? How old is he? He and Kayo look the same all these years. I don't recall whether he registered under selective service law or not, but anyway he's a great guy and should run for congress. He'd win on any ticket.

JOHN F. KUEHNL.

FARM CHILDREN.

Pelican Lake, Wis., Sept. 26.—Now that farm prices are to be frozen and union wages upped, farmers cannot afford to hire help. But they don't need to, if educators would allow them the services of their own children. At present these children are loaded into school buses at 8 a. m. and hauled miles to a central school, to be returned to the farm home not earlier than 5 p. m.

If educators returned to the district school system and permitted the children to walk to school the same as their parents, 50,000 trucks and drivers could be released for war use. By cutting down the school year to five months, the farm children could help their parents with the fall and spring work and permit them to raise the necessary food products without hiring any outside help. The farmers are willing to do more than their share, but at present are hamstrung by the school laws and school taxes. The solution of the farmers' problems lies not in higher prices but in lower expenses.

WILLIAM P. RICE.

A BANK OPEN NIGHTS.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—In answer to F. Hughes Johnston's question today why banks do not arrange evening hours to accommodate defense workers, there was an ad in THE TRIBUNE announcing that the Industrial National, at 81 West Monroe street, is going to stay open on Monday evenings for just the reasons stated by Mr. Johnston. Unlike the State street stores, which stay open from noon to 9 p. m. on Mondays, this bank is going to be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night.

L. H. N.

THE FORGOTTEN RETAILER.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 29.—Give us a front page editorial on the small retail business man working 12 to 14 hours a day with less—much less—income than the defense worker, but just as truly a defense worker as they. I have been in the retail drug business for 30 years and am now working harder and making less than ever before. The white collar men and women constitute the largest group of taxpayers in this nation, but are treated like cattle.

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Parents are living and have three children or heirs, one of whom [the eldest] recently died leaving a widow and son who will soon be of age. He is also married and in the army. Does the deceased's share of any of her parents' estate go automatically to her son and revert to his wife if he should die?

2. Parents of deceased have an existing will in favor of three direct heirs only.

3. Will a new will be necessary now or can a codicil be made and added to the existing one?

4. Does the probate court always place an executor of a will under bond? Who pays for this?

H. S.

1. The children of a deceased son would divide their father's share, unless the grandparent leaves a will providing otherwise. The wife would not inherit from her husband's parents.
2. The wording of the will would control.
3. Depends on whether the parties are satisfied with it.
4. No. Ordinarily, a will expressly excuses the executor from furnishing bond and a court would acquiesce.

CURTAIN GOES UP TONIGHT ON NEW W-G-N OPERETTAS

Romberg's 'The New Moon' Will Open Series.

The curtain will rise at 8 o'clock tonight on the first production of the new series of Chicago Theater of the Air operettas broadcast by W-G-N and the Mutual network each Saturday night. Tonight's operetta will be Sigmund Romberg's "The New Moon."

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will continue his talks which have been a feature of the America Loves a Melody concerts during the summer season.

Marion Claire Again Stars.

Marion Claire again will be starred in the operetta productions this season. For the opening show, W-G-N has engaged Thomas L. Thomas, baritone, to sing the leading male rôle.

Kenneth MacGregor, chief of W-G-N production who will supervise the operetta series, said a minimum of dialog and a maximum of melody will be included in the productions this year. Operettas are memorable mainly for their melodies, MacGregor explained, and their plots usually are not consequential.

By presenting half a dozen scenes in the operettas to convey the highlights of the action and using a narrator to bridge the gaps, it will be possible within the program's hour to present most of the good music and eliminate needless material, MacGregor said.

All the Popular Tunes.

In the production of "The New Moon" this procedure will make possible the presentation of all the popular tunes—"Lover Come Back to Me," "One Kiss," "Wanting You," and "Stout Hearted Men."

A full dramatic cast of well known actors will portray the story of the operetta. The musical background will be supplied by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra under the direction of Henry Weber, and the W-G-N chorus, directed by Robert Trendler.

Fifty-three years a bartender and he never had a drink!

That is the record of Head Bartender Steve Kelly of the Union League club. And following the pattern of other years, Assistant Manager John Enright stopped at the bar with congratulations. As Enright grasped Steve's hand, 107 years of combined continuous service at the club was represented between them. For Enright has been on the job 54 years.

It was in 1889 Steve started as an elevator operator at the club. Within a few weeks he was a bartender, or wine clerk as they were then called, and since that time he has served most of the great names of the last half century.

Steve was born in Neenah, Wis.—how many years ago he dislikes to say—and his mother was a stanch prohibitionist and WCTU worker, which might account for the fact he always has refused to sample his own wares.

GETS 6 MONTHS FOR POSING AS OFFICER IN RCAF

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday sentenced Lee Bonner, 31 years old, to six months in jail for impersonating an officer of the royal Canadian air force. Bonner, a cook, came to Chicago recently from Memphis, Tenn.

On Aug. 30 Bonner appeared in a south side tavern wearing a regulation cap and jacket of the RCAF. His right arm and wrist were bandaged. He sat down next to John W. Aylsworth, a seaman second class stationed at the navy radio school at the University of Chicago, and started bragging about his exploits on a bomber in the battle of the Coral sea.

Aylsworth, suspicious of the story, called the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Agents arrived, and quickly determined that Bonner was faking. They stripped off his bandages and found he never had been wounded.

MUSICIANS' UNION BARS AIR FORCE BAND FROM RADIO

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 2 (AP).—Oscar F. Hild, president of the Cincinnati Musicians' union [AFL], today forbade radio broadcast of music to be played by an army air force dance band at a USO party sscheduled for tonight.

Hild said his union holds contracts with all Cincinnati radio stations denying them the right to broadcast the music of nonunion musicians.

"We have no protest against the band," Hild said. "Our protest is against the USO which sometimes uses union bands, sometimes nonunion, and at other times, service bands."

Hild said a separately scheduled broadcast by a service band this evening had been sanctioned.

Graber.

AFL CHIEF BACKS EFFORT TO OUST PAINTERS' AGENTS

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, yesterday gave his support to State's Attorney Courtney's campaign to oust George Henneman and Charles Youngblood from their posts as business agents for the Chicago Painters' union.

In a letter to the prosecutor, Green promised to communicate with Lawrence P. Lindelof, national president of the union, and to urge immediate action to get rid of the two agents. Green's letter was in response to one from Courtney, in which the prosecutor described Henneman and Youngblood as racketeers and undesirables wholly unfit for service in the labor movement.

Courtney sent a similar letter to Lindelof, whose headquarters are in Lafayette, Ind. After receiving the letter Lindelof announced that he was making an investigation and that the union's executive board would meet Nov. 1 to consider the case and to take "whatever action is justified."

Sen. Brooks to Be Initiated by Eastern Star Tonight

265 FROM U. OF I. NAVY CLASS JOIN U. S. FLEET TODAY

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 2 [Special].—The first navy graduation exercises in the history of the University of Illinois today brought certificates to 265 of the 2,000 navy men in training here. They will join the fleet tomorrow.

In the group were 185 who completed Diesel training. Eighty graduated as signal men. Exercises in the University auditorium this morning were followed this afternoon by a formal review of all naval personnel stationed here.

Capt. E. A. Lofquist of Chicago, chief of staff of the 9th Naval district, and Arthur Cutts Willard, president of the University of Illinois, addressed the graduates and headed the reviewing group.

Capt. Lofquist bluntly told the graduates: "These terrible months will go down in American history with the discouraging days of Valley Forge and Bull Run, because up to this point we have been losing this war. In spite of victories at Coral sea, Midway and Solomon Islands, we have been warned by the navy department that the Japanese navy still is a long way from being crippled."

Fingerprinting of 8,000 Dairy Workers Starts

Finger printing of the 8,000 Chicago dairy workers began yesterday in the city hall, in conformance with a new board of health regulation. Most of the finger printing is being done by members of the American Women's Volunteer service, with the dairy companies paying for supplies used. The regulation was prompted by the request of army camps and defense industries for information regarding sources of milk.

Door Left Unlocked Maybe, Says Victim of $5,000 Theft

Thieves entered the home of Gerald Grant, an art dealer, at 1431 North State street yesterday and stole rings, watches, and other jewelry valued at $5,000. The gems were insured. Grant is head of the Grant Art galleries, 25 South Wabash avenue. He told police that the jewels were kept in a second floor bedroom. No windows or doors were forced by the thieves. Grant said it was possible the front door had been left unlocked and that the thieves had entered the house by turning the door knob.

MILK MAN POWER PROBLEM ACUTE, DAIRYMEN WARN

Assert Supply Already Being Reduced.

Production of milk needed in increasing quantities for the armed forces and for lend-lease shipment already has begun to decline, thus threatening the industry's ability to meet the mounting demands, dairymen said yesterday.

M. G. Van Buskirk, executive secretary of the United Dairy committee, asserted at a meeting in the Morrison hotel that the sale of dairy herds by farmers no longer able to operate because of the loss of farm labor to high paying war industry jobs, had reached "alarming proportions."

Other speakers, representing farm organizations and agricultural colleges in nine dairy states, said the problem of adequate farm employés was becoming increasingly acute.

Already Get Consideration.

Maj. James T. Coatsworth of the selective service system answered their pleas for draft deferment of key farm employés with the assertion that dairying already receives the most favorable consideration among all farm groups. Agriculture ranks fifth among essential industries.

Speakers' suggestions to solve the labor problem ranged from a government ban on shift of key men from farm to factory to a federal subsidy to make up the difference between farm and war industry wages.

Wages Lure Most.

All agreed the lure of high wages was depleting farm ranks more than the draft.

Maj. Coatsworth said an increasing share of farm work must be performed by boys under military age, by older men and by women.

"Milk production has begun to fall off," Van Buskirk said. "This is dangerous now, but potentially far more dangerous for next year, because farmers are planning their 1943 operations at this time. If they can't get the help, they must cut down their herds.

218 Cows Sold.

"In Sangamon county, Illinois, 218 cows were sold off nine farms within seven weeks recently. Fifty other dairymen planned to quit, and forecasts were made that milk production would be curtailed 25 per cent in this county alone."

Howard T. Greene of the Pure Milk Producers association, Fond du Lac, Wis., demanded an immediate freezing of city wages as a cure for the farm labor problem.

AUTOIST SEIZES DRIVER FLEEING FATAL ACCIDENT

A six mile chase by a civilian motorist resulted in the arrest last evening of George Rygiel, a tailor of 1227 South Spaulding avenue, who was accused of driving an automobile which struck and fatally injured John Fitzsimons, 55 years old, a farmer of Rural Route No. 1, Palatine. The accident occurred on Rand road [U. S. Highway 12] near the Cook-Lake county line.

Merritt C. Giles, owner of a gasoline station near the scene of the accident, pursued Rygiel six miles on Highway 12, and forced him to return to the scene, where he turned Rygiel over to county police. Fitzsimons died while being taken to the Northwestern hospital in Des Plaines.

Injuries suffered Sept. 8 when he was struck by an automobile in front of 809 Milwaukee avenue caused the death in Henrotin hospital of Benjamin Fiobod, 65, of 4021 North Monticello avenue, a news dealer. Driver of the car was Gus Richards, 38, of 1249 Chestnut street.

Yesterday's volume of Traffic court cases was the lightest since police began enforcing the 35 mile an hour Presidential edict Sept. 14. Only 340 cases were called, none involving high rates of speed, Judge John Gutknecht said, and 157 defendants were fined.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 531 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 407 were killed in Chicago, where 15,318 were injured.

INQUIRY FOLLOWS WOMAN'S DEATH IN SANITARIUM

The coroner's office yesterday ordered an inquest today into the death of Miss Kaya Moller, 76 years old, who was found dead with mysterious burns on her body in a sanitarium in Palatine. The inquest will be held in the chapel at 4338 Fullerton avenue.

An autopsy, approved by Chief Justice John Sbarbaro on petition of the state's attorney's office, showed Miss Moller, a housemaid in the sanitarium for five years had died of a heart ailment Wednesday. Dr. Richard F. Murphy, coroner's physician who performed the autopsy, said it was debatable whether the burns hastened her death.

State's attorney's investigators said they learned the burns apparently occurred when Miss Moller came in contact with sheets which had been doused with kerosene to kill vermin.

Dr. Murphy said the death certificate signed by Dr. Lyle R. Barnum, a Barrington osteopath, was correct, but said Dr. Barnum and Mrs. Bee Dozier, owner of the sanitarium, were ordered to appear at the inquest.

SIX CHARITIES SHARE IN ESTATE OF MRS. WILSON

Six charities will share a $500,000 trust fund and the residue of Mrs. Louise C. Wilson's million dollar estate after the death of the last of 21 relatives and friends named beneficiaries of the trust, according to the will which Judge John F. O'Connell admitted to probate yeterday.

Mrs. Wilson, the widow of Dr. Robert C. Wilson, died last Aug. 22. She was 77 years old and lived at 1368 Hyde Park boulevard. Cash gifts of $10,000 were made to Mr. and Mrs. F. Edward Richardson of Evanston; $30,000 to the Evanston Hospital association, and $5,000 to the Young Women's Community club of Evanston.

The charities which will share the estate eventually are the Visiting Nurses' association; the Washington and Jane Smith home, 2340 West 113th place, and the Chicago Home for Incurables, 5535 Ellis avenue, 5 per cent each, and 85 per cent among the Glenwood Manual Training school, Glenwood; the Presbyterian home, 3200 Grant street, Evanston, and the Country Home for Convalescent Children, West Chicago.

"Blind Man's Bluff"

SYNOPSIS.

For eight years Julia Hadfield has been separated from her husband, Blake, who has prevented her getting a divorce, for fear she will marry Philip Courtney, their lawyer. Two years after their separation Blake, president of a trust company that failed, was shot and blinded by James Sprague, a depositor, who afterwards committed suicide. Now, Julia's and Blake's son, Seth, is engaged to Sprague's daughter, Elsie. Seth and Elsie quarrel because Elsie feels she cannot marry the son of the man who was blinded by her father. Seth gets drunk and goes to his father's apartment to appeal for help that night. As he enters he meets Sybella Ford, who has been reading to his father, leaving. Blake gets Seth to take him to his office, now in the hands of receivership. Seth connects the telephone and falls asleep at Elsie's desk, where she works for Bentley, controller for the receivership. In the meantime Blake has telephoned Phil, and then Julia, to meet him at his office. As Julia is leaving her apartment, she meets Elsie, who tells her about her quarrel with Seth. When Julia reaches the office building, Blake plunges over the eighth floor railing to his death. Almost at the same moment Inspectors Archer and Davis arrive, summoned by a murder call.

INSTALMENT VI.
TWO CALLERS.

Capt. Maclain was blind, had been for 20 years and more. He had indefinably changed since the Japs had struck at Pearl Harbor and Spud, his partner and closest friend, had left New York.

His step was just as sprightly and sure, his mind as keen, but Rena, who next to Spud, knew him better than any one, could sense his melancholy. He had already, as an officer, given his sight for his country in 1917. Now he was fretting again, inwardly feeling that he was useless because he couldn't don a uniform to fight in a second war.

"Useless?" Rena muttered into her coffee cup and let her mind wander back thru the years.

For more than ten, she had been married to Spud and had served as secretary to Duncan Maclain. Mutely she had watched the struggle, the indomitable will, the incessant practice which had forged the captain, living in perpetual blackout, into almost perfect efficiency. Fearfully she had seen him pit himself against desperate men with sight, against enemies of country and society; deliberately thrust himself into danger —and invariably win.

Spud had always been at his side —not quite so brilliant, not half as dangerous, but filled with loyalty. No matter what Maclain's dark mood, Spud's strange yellow eyes would glint with merriment, and his quick sarcastic words would goad the captain into a softening grin.

It was Spud who had conceived the wild idea of making a private investigator out of Duncan Maclain. Not for money entirely, for the captain was wealthy, but merely to prove to Maclain himself that with the aid of Schnucke, his Seeing Eye dog, he was as good as any man who could see.

With Spud gone, Rena was faced with a double duty; to carry on for her husband and to find some interest to revive the spark in the captain.

Her soft chin set in defiance. The world could tear itself to pieces with war—she didn't intend to let it sabotage Duncan Maclain, to pour the emery power of self-pity into the cogs of such a perfect human machine.

The telephone rang while she was thinking. She picked up the dining room extension.

"There's a Miss Sybella Ford and a Mr. Lawson downstairs," said the desk clerk. "They want to see Capt. Maclain."

"I'll talk to her," said Rena.

She listened to the velvet-like voice for several minutes, then said, "Wait just a little, Miss Ford. I'll call you back," and hung up.

In the office she found the captain sitting rigid in a straight-back chair with Schnucke's smooth head on his knee.

"Miss Sybella Ford and a man named Lawson from the state insurance department are downstairs," said Rena quietly.

"I'm interviewing no one, Rena." Maclain got up and took his place behind his flat topped desk.

"They're not interviewers," Rena persisted. "I talked with Miss Ford on the phone. She says it's most important."

"A woman with a name like Sybella is bound to be an interviewer," the captain interrupted coldly. "She's fat, uses cheap perfume, and has tendencies toward too much midriff when her girdle's gone. She's vacuous, and will cover her lack of brains by working her jaws offensively on a piece of chewing gum." He gave a noisy demonstration. "There should be a law against chompers. Imagine what it does to those who can see them, too. Human bovines, two legged ruminants. The world's in tatters, and they solace themselves with a lump of coagulated goo!"

"A man was killed last night," Rena went on patiently. There were moments when Capt. Maclain needed skillful handling. "Are you going to deliver a treatise on gum chewing and jump to a lot of conclusions, or are you going to help?"

"Twenty-five thousand men were killed last night," said Duncan Maclain, "and fifty thousand the night before. We're working to win a war." He rubbed his high forehead. "I can't develop much interest in Sybella Ford and her silly problems, Rena, or in the inefficiency of the state insurance department. You'd better ask them to excuse me."

"The world is very much interested in the man who was killed last night, according to the papers. They've given him enough front page to shove off part of the war. He was Blake Hadfield, former president of the M. T. and T."

"Please, Rena!"

She knew that tone and braced herself against the coming sarcasm, then continued doggedly: "The police are holding his son, Seth Hadfield, for investigation, claiming that he must have some knowledge of how his father fell to death from the eighth floor inside the M. T. and T. building. The son's a second lieutenant. Davis found him roaming around in a daze shortly after his father fell. The boy denies all knowledge of it. He says——"

The captain's sinewy expressive hand which could move with such delicate precision came down on the desk top with an irritated blow.

"How in the name of all that's holy can the death of this chiseling financier be of the slightest concern to any one, particularly me?"

"He was blind—like you," said Rena brutally.

Maclain's mobile face was as blank as the paneled wall. He took a cigaret from the cloisonne box on the desk, lit it with his quick mechanical skill of movement and reached down to scratch Schnucke's soft ear.

"Indeed?"

Rena watched the blue smoke curl up around his crisp black hair and took a chance that he expected an answer. "Perhaps you remember. He was shot and blinded by a man names James Sprague six years ago."

"Indeed?" Maclain repeated with annoying disinterest, then asked unexpectedly, "How old is the boy?"

"Seth Hadfield?"

"Naturally," said Maclain. "Is there any other boy concerned?"

"No," said Rena. "None at all. He's 22 according to the papers. His mother, Julia Hadfield, has been separated from her husband for 10 years."

"Is he a homicidal maniac?" The captain concentrated more fully on Schnucke's ear.

"The papers didn't say. What makes you think that?" Rena was glad he couldn't see her jubilant smile.

"I can't recall that I've said I was thinking anything," said Duncan Maclain. "I'll admit that for a moment I was pondering about the abnormal psychology that could turn a young army officer into a monster."

"Who said he was a monster?" Rena played him carefully along.

"The facts," Capt. Maclain stated flatly. "How many years have I worked with Davis and Archer?"

"A dozen or more."

"Exactly. Since you've known them, have you seen any indications that either of them was a fool?"

"Never," Rena admitted.

"Then Davis has more than a casual reason for holding this young man. Therefore, the young man is a monster."

"The inspector might be mistaken, of course," Rena protested gently. "Blake Hadfield might have——"

"Rather obvious, isn't it?" Maclain interrupted. "Hadfield was blind. The railings in the M. T. and T. building are more than waist high—I've been in there several times. Can you picture a blind man rushing about wildly that he'd precipitate himself over such a railing?"

"No," said Rena. "There's suicide, of course."

"I wouldn't have to go downtown to commit it." The captain deposited ashes neatly in a tray. "I could always find a high enough window in my own neighborhood. I'm interested in the son, Rena. It takes a monster to throw his own blind father over a railing, and from what I know of those railings, Hadfield was thrown. He didn't fall."

"So?" said Rena.

"What's happened to the people who were coming up here?"

"They're waiting downstairs."

"It's not very polite," said Duncan Maclain, "to keep people waiting in that downstairs hall."

Russian Army to Get Benefits of Charity Teas

BY JUDITH CASS.

A LUNCHEON that was given in New York last year to raise money for sulpha drugs for the Russian army was the inspiration for a series of teas and cocktail parties to be given on Sunday, Oct. 18, in Chicago and suburbs. The New York party was a high priced affair, with tickets at $10 each, but Chicago hostesses will be allowed to charge whatever amount they choose.

Plans for the "sulfa teas" for the Russian War Relief society were announced at a meeting of the women's division of the society yesterday at the Casino, with Mrs. Laird Bell and Mrs. W. McCormick Blair as hostesses at the tea following the meeting. Mrs. Gordon Strauss had the idea for the teas, which may be large or small, and Mrs. Katherine Kuh at the Russian War Relief headquarters, 80 East Jackson, is acting as a clearing house for prospective hostesses. More than 25 teas have been planned on the south side, Mrs. Strauss said yesterday, and Mrs. Kuh announced another 30 or so.

Mrs. John Root Plans Auction Box Supper.

Instead of giving a tea, Mrs. John Root, of the committee, is planning a box supper party at the Saddle and Cycle that night. The feminine guests will bring two supper boxes each, and the men may inspect them and then bid for the ones they like best, claiming its "cook" as a supper partner.

Mrs. Walter A. Strong is giving a Sulpha cabaret at her Winnetka home the following Saturday night. Most of the parties will be given on the 18th. Clubs and hotels will be asked to join the movement. Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed will not return from the east in time to give a tea she had planned, but yesterday the committee received a check from her for $25, the equivalent of a tea for 25 at $1 each.

Some of the women arranging for parties in the suburbs are Mrs. Harold C. Smith, Mrs. Edwin Austin, Mrs. Eugene Davis, Mrs. Lawrence McClure, Mrs. Francis Patton, Mrs. Moritz Loeb, Mrs. Horace Wetmore, Mrs. George Wilkinson, Mrs. Paul Harper, and Mrs. Sherman Coy.

Midwest Club Holds Field Trials Today.

Dog lovers from near and far will be gathering in a field north of Barrington early today for the opening of the annual fall trial of the Midwest Field Trial club. The trial, which will be held on grounds about eight miles north of Barrington and two miles east of Wauconda, will continue thru tomorrow with headquarters at the Wauconda hotel.

Women have been taking an increasing interest in shooting, and the Midwest club now is headed by Mrs. Fletcher F. Garlock of Barrington. A woman is to be one of the trial judges, too, Mrs. Edwin N. Dodge of Wayzata, Minn. Armin S. McGregor of Milwaukee is the judge.

The meet will open with the derby at 8:30 o'clock this morning, followed by a class for nonwinners. Tonight there will be a dinner at the Wauconda hotel followed by an auction of the dogs participating in the open all-age stake tomorrow. Mrs. Dodge will be staying with the James L. Frees, who will be among the exhibitors, along with Russell N. Crawford, Paul Bakewell III. of St. Louis, the Richard Ryans of Rochester, Minn., Robert Noonan of Minneapolis, the Thomas W. Merritts, Christian C. Buehler, and Le Roy Beardsley. The Kenneth K. Knickerbockers are among those planning parties for over the week-end.

The trial is open to retrievers and Irish water spaniels. The junior James Simpsons, who have springers, were active in the Midwest club, but Mr. Simpson now is a lieutenant in the marines, so neither he nor Mrs. Simpson will be shooting at the trial. Mrs. Simpson, however, has invited some guests to shoot over her dogs tomorrow at their farm.

English Speaking Union Hears New Consul General.

Members of the English Speaking Union turned out in full force to hear Wilfred H. Gallienne make his first speech as British consul general in Chicago yesterday at a luncheon at the Red Lacquer room. Just back from a trip to England, the popular Mr. Gallienne, who was vice consul here from 1924 to 1928, paid tribute to Lewis Bernays, his predecessor as consul general, and painted a vivid picture of the busy life in England today.

"It is my imperative duty to see that there is no misunderstanding between our two countries" he said at the beginning of his talk. It was brought to a close with a stirring sentence. "I have been away for six weeks," said Mr. Gallienne, "But it was more like six years in experience. I have come back inspired in the lesson of how strong, brave, good and modest men and women can be."

Frank A. Hecht, president of the Union, introduced the speaker. Some of those present were Mrs. Frederic Upham, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Ralph James, Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. Herbert Woodward, the junior Carroll Sudlers, the Proehl Jaklons, Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins, and Mrs. Arthur Wirtz.

The William Popes Giving "War" Party This Evening.

One of the first "war" parties of the current conflict will be the priorities party the William Popes are giving in their Winnetka home tonight. Their guests have been asked to come dressed as something that is getting scarce [one is coming as an icebox], and upon arriving will be presented with ration books containing stamps for each sort of refreshment the hosts are prepared to offer.

The party is being given for the husbands of three of Mrs. Pope's fellow Travelers Aid woman's board members who soon are leaving Chicago. They are Lieutenants Charles Cutter and John E. Love, who will be off to attend the next class at Quonsett, R. I., on Oct. 20, and Lieut. F.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

How the war has changed their jobs and what their jobs mean in the war effort made up the general theme of delegates' reports at the opening sessions yesterday of the Illinois and Wisconsin Women's Trade Union leagues and committees. A total of 159 delegates had registered by early afternoon, and among them were radio artists and bakery workers, dressmakers, glovemakers, candymakers, and teachers; there were demonstrators, garment workers, Illinois State hospital employés, and members of the Blouse, Skirt, Pajama, and Bathrobe Workers' union.

The morning chairman, Miss Agnes Nestor, president of the Women's Trade Union league of Chicago, said: "The war has made changes in nearly every classification. The girls from the electrical workers' union tell us that more and more they are replacing men. The glove workers are filling government orders. While these changes are taking place the organizations represented here are particularly interested in maintaining equal wages for women doing equal work with men."

Miss Elisabeth Christman, industrial supervisor, women's bureau, United States department of labor, attended the sessions and is scheduled to speak on "Women in War Industries" at the dinner meeting this evening in the Morrison hotel Mural room. Miss Christman, who is on leave in her present position from her duties with the National Women's Trade union, said she considered equal wages for equal work for men and women of paramount importance for the men returning to jobs after the war.

Miss Christman said she would advise middle aged housewives who hope to help in the war effort to investigate opportunities for taking care of civilian needs. War production training courses are valuable for the woman who has been away from work outside the home in that it is a training in plant routine, she suggested. Curtailment of civilian goods has provided a backlog of unemployed women already accustomed to industry, Miss Christman added, and these women will make efficient workers to relieve shortages caused by increased induction of men into service.

Mary White, president of the Illinois State league, suggested that this is the ideal time for young women to become telephone operators. An operator herself, she reports that experienced workers are leaving civilian employment for civil service appointments in government departments and in army and navy offices. A telephone operator must have at least a high school education, she said, and must be at least 5 feet 3 inches tall—there is a lot of reaching to be done on a switchboard. Other requirements are an aptitude for numbers, a fairly good memory, and a pleasing voice.

Eva Forgue, a nurse from the Chicago Municipal Employés' union, said she and other nurses are doing war work by volunteering as Red Cross first aid instructors. Mrs. William Warner, president of the Racine Women's Trade Union league, said women are just beginning to go into war industry in her city. She was chairman of the afternoon session. The conference will continue thru tomorrow afternoon.

Beginning tomorrow morning, the Women's Service club and the Loyal Order of Moose will serve Sunday breakfast to 250 service men between 9 and 11 o'clock. Facilities for the serving are being made available by the Moose club, 130 North Wells street.

The Women's Service club of 200 members consists of mothers, sisters, wives, daughters and relatives of men in the armed forces. Mrs. Jean Freidman is president and Ann Paullen secretary. The secretary of the Loyal Order of Moose is Maj. A. A. Herr, who served in the marine corps in the first World war.

It is hoped that the example set by the Chicago lodge will be followed by many of the 1,700 lodges thruout the United States and Canada.

The report of the fourth division Daughters of the American Revolution conference held here early this week should be amplified for the benefit of DAR members who understood that this year's state conference would not be held. It will be held if possible, since this is the year to elect a state regent. However, the other division meetings will not take place. There are seven divisions in Illinois, and the meetings are usually held in September and October. Difficulties of transportation and need of conserving facilities led to abandoning plans for the other six divisional sessions, and DAR members from all over the state attended the fourth division meeting instead.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

County G. O. P. Women Open 1942 Campaign

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Mrs. Bernice Van der Vries, newly appointed chairman of the women's committee for the Cook County Republican Central committee and candidate for representative in the General Assembly for the 7th district, opened the Republican women workers' campaign yesterday with a plea for an intensive registration drive thruout the county within the next three days.

The genial party leader, who has served four terms in the legislature, met with 75 ward and township committeewomen in the Hotel La Salle to make plans for the county campaign.

"We have a big job and a short time in which to do it" she said. "The population has shifted greatly with the war industries and there are thousands of persons not registered. We must get out and make an enthusiastic and intensive campaign for registrations by Monday here in the city and Tuesday in the remainder of the county. While soliciting registrations, we women can sell the issues of the campaign at the same time."

Mrs. Van der Vries pointed out that the transportation problem will necessitate the breaking down of the organization into smaller groups and that meetings must be held in homes thruout the wards and townships.

"We must return to the old fashioned prayer meeting idea and that is not as ridiculous as it sounds," she continued. "If we get together in small units frequently we will not be endangering the war effort and we will conduct a snappy, enthusiastic, if a short campaign."

The importance of the women's vote in the coming elections was stressed by John T. Dempsey, county chairman, who pointed out that due to the war and the draft that women comprise 60 per cent of the voting power in the state. He explained that the county committee must depend on the work of the women's organizations more than in previous elections.

Registrations thruout the state are heaviest in counties where there are strong Republican women's clubs, Mrs. W. Glenn Suthers, president of the Illinois Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, reported. The counties that are straggling behind either have no clubs or are weakly organized, she said.

"If our federation does nothing else, it has pointed out to the men of the party that we are in earnest and that we should have equal recognition with them," she contended. "At our convention in Springfield recently we adopted a resolution for 50-50 representation in the party plans. This does not mean merely ringing doorbells but a part in the party circles and a voice in the selection of candidates."

Present at the meeting was Mrs. Gladys Specht, only woman candidate on the Republican ticket for county commissioner. Mrs. Specht, who has been active in social and welfare work thruout the county for the last 15 years, pledged the support of her co-candidates to improvements in the county welfare agencies without increased taxes.

The appointment of Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman; Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, past county chairman; Mrs. Suthers and Mrs. Edward B. Hall of Winnetka to the county executive committee was announced by Mrs. Van der Vries.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

News Item.

From the Peoria [Ill.] Journal:

The 1942 "Apple Butter" day will be Sept. 30 and will continue all day. Beginning at 1:30 p. m. on Sept. 29 the ladies will begin peeling.

And undoubtedly attracted a large crowd.

Mess Hall.

The coffee shop of the Stevens hotel is closed now to persons such as column conductors who wish merely to satisfy reportorial curiosity, it has been converted into a mess hall for the air corps. But will some one please advise us; does it still have murals depicting a Japanese archipelago and Fujiyama? And have our boys in the air corps painted army dive bombers on it in appropriate positions?

"We Hold These Truths to Be."

"That's my daughter," he confided. "Used to work here, ya know. She's a WAAC!"

At lunch a few minutes later in a nearby restaurant a shrill voice burst from the walls of a telephone booth.

"They wouldn't have me. And d'ya know why?" the shrill voice queried. "Because I don't live on the north shore. Because my name isn't du Pont. They don't want you in the WAACs if your name isn't du Pont." She ended in a high crescendo.

• • •

"I watched her as she came from the booth," Kay Jaynes wrote, "and I wanted, O, so much, to take her by the shoulders and say:

"'Don't make such a mistake as that. I can show you a girl who is a WAAC, and her name isn't du Pont, and she doesn't live on the north shore. She is the daughter of our janitor, and she is a wonderful soldier.'"

Perhaps.

Maybe you didn't notice it, but the back page picture showed workmen putting finishing touches to a maze of street car switches at State and Lake streets. Some were prodding in with long poles, some were peering into holes. Passengers on a nearby street car craned to watch the activity. And in the background the marquee of a theater blazed with Somewhere I'll Find You.

The Heart of Chicago.

A sailor this week found the answer to that battered question, "Does a corporation have a soul?" He stopped off in Chicago to visit the father of his dead buddy, but the father had transferred to a downstate office. An anonymous executive in the sales department gave hi ma round trip ticket and abundant expense money to continue his search.

Times Change.

All is veiled in military secrecy now. A wife never knows where her army or navy husband is going. Or if she does, she learns of it in a presumably unorthodox and secretive manner. A Chicago man of letters has a hitherto unpublished military telegram which indicates that at least one Civil war wife knew what her old man was up to. The complete message, a masterpiece of laconicism, sent at 3:15 a. m., April 4, 1865, follows:

Mrs. U. S. Grant:

We are progressing nicely. Sheridan picked up 1,200 more prisoners today and four pieces of artillery. I will probably be in Richmond on Friday next.

U. S. Grant.
Lieut. Gen.

However, for the sake of historical accuracy, we might add that the general's prediction was wrong. He did not get to Richmond on Friday. The Confederates had evacuated Richmond by the time his telegram was on its way. He went on to Appomattox instead.

Chicagoan's Bride

Mrs. Robert J. Dellenback, who was Miss Annelle Baker until her marriage to Ensign Dellenback, son of Mrs. William J. Dellenback of Chicago, on Wednesday. The ceremony took place in Atlanta shortly after the bridegroom had received his wings in the naval air crops. The bride, a graduate of Washington seminary, is the daughter of Mrs. Elliott Lawson Baker Jr. of Atlanta. Ensign Dellenback attended Williams.

Old Cathedral Shelter Yields to Toll of Time

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

One of Chicago's most famous religious landmarks, Canon David E. Gibson's greatly loved Cathedral shelter, Washington and Peoria streets, is about to pass from the city's religious scene. Rebuilding and refurnishing of the new home for the shelter in another landmark church, the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany, Ashland avenue and Adams street, is going forward in preparation for its new occupants possibly next month.

The new site for the work of the shelter, like its predecessor, is a former cathedral of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, during the episcopate of the late Bishop Charles P. Anderson. The old shelter home was on the ruins of the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul, described as the first cathedral site of the Episcopal church in the United States.

During the episcopate of the late Bishop George Craig Stewart the plan of moving the shelter work from the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul site to the Church of the Epiphany was first disclosed in 1934. At that time the structures remaining in the old cathedral group, after a destructive fire in 1921, were kept in habitable shape only by resourceful direction of repairs by Canon Gibson. What had been the Sumner hall and gymnasium was turned into a church and chapel. The church has been overcrowded each Sunday for years.

In the Church of the Epiphany and adjoining Chase house the overcrowding will be relieved. The church seats nearly 900 persons as against about 300, and quarters for the administration of myriad forms of helpfulness, to the sick and distressed, for which Canon Gibson's work has become nationally famous, will be greatly expanded.

Canon Gibson's aggregate annual reports of works of aid and helpfulness total in the millions of persons since 1919 when he rented an old store in West Randolph street as a headquarters for helping poor and needy. Up until that time Canon Gibson had been a successful business man. But at the call of Bishop Anderson he was ordained and took up his new duties as priest, friend, and counsellor to the destitute and down-and-outer. A dramatic change took place during the depression when men of formerly ample means and former benefactors of the shelter came to him in great number for aid.

When the former cathedral burned Canon Gibson was installed in what he calls "this hallowed spot," and the almost unbelievably successful Christian social service career began. Christmas day will be the 48th anniversary of Canon Gibson's first entry into the old cathedral as a young man from Pennsylvania's hills.

Good Morning!

O, m'darlings! This will keep you guessing!

There COULD be a hundred solutions to the plot's secret—and you think of 99 before, if you are very, VERY smart, you nose out the right one.

Amnesia [I thought of putting an adjective before the word, but to do so would provide a clew] is the groundwork of the plot.

A barrier of forgetfulness separates the bright present and the mystery shrouded past of David Talbot, French diplomat. . . . As the picture opens he faces a bright and promising future . . . Then—comes a letter demanding money for a debt Talbot has, he says, no recollection of incurring.

Come court proceedings! Comes a suave and sinister stranger, with a fantastic story that has, nevertheless, the ring of truth. . . . And Talbot meets in court the fascinating blonde, Michele Allaine, entertainer at the Club Sirene, who looks adoringly into his eyes and whispers:

"It IS you . . .!'

Standing stanchly by him is his beautiful wife, Lucienne, whose faith tells her he could have done no wrong. . . . And there, also, as bulwark is one Dr. Andre Tessier. . . . "My," I bet Meredith Wilson would say, "this is getting INTEResting!" . . . [ISN'T it?]

The action moves along on well oiled wheels of direction. . . . Satin smooth are performances of the principals, their pleasing work embellished by deft and colorful cast achievement. . . . Hedy Lamarr and Claire Trevor—both so lovely and able—are perfect foils for one another, and William Powell and Basil Rathbone are well cast in the chief male rôles.

I was quite delighted with the story's outcome, which I foresaw—but NOT soon enough for me to qualify as one of the very, VERY smart. I wonder—how about you?

See you tomorrow.

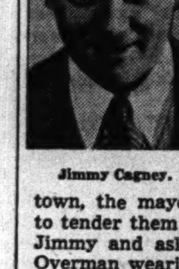
Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—



Jimmy Cagney.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 3.—Jimmy Cagney's to be congratulated on taking on the presidency of the Screen Actors' guild. I hope it won't prove a headache for him. . . . On his bond selling tour, Jimmy started alone, then was joined by Lynne Overman. In one town, the mayor's wife was going to tender them a reception, phoned Jimmy and asked, "What is Miss Overman wearing tonight? I'd like to send her flowers." Of course, Lynne told the story when she appeared on the stage. In another town, after they'd made 10 appearances that day, traveling some 300 miles, Lynne was so tired she signed Cagney's name in an autograph book. . . . Jimmy saw Bob Montgomery for a few minutes in Washington. Bob's back in active duty as a squadron commander. Jimmy said everybody in uniform who's come in contact with Bob has only one comment: "There's a hell of a fine officer."

Good Neighbor.

Raoul Walsh asked Osa Massen to learn Lincoln's Gettysburg speech for a scene in "Background to Danger," but she reeled it right off for him letter perfect. Said Raoul, "I didn't realize anybody here except Charles Laughton knew that speech. How come?" Well, she had recently memorized it for her citizenship examination. I'm glad Osa's getting a break. She's a fine little actress, and one of the sweetest girls in town. . . . Boy, are the wolves howling! All because Marguerita de Guirola is blonde, pretty, 22, an heiress, and El Salvador's official representative in Hollywood. . . . Patsy Kelly says illness is the reason she's retiring from show business. But if I know Patsy, she'll retire only until the next good part comes along.

Always Belittling.

When Mickey and Frank Morgan played their first scene together in "The Human Comedy," Mickey said, "This is the first time we've been together in 10 years. Remember—I did a bit of hoofing in 'Broadway to Hollywood'?" "Yes," said Frank, looking down at him, "you were good then." and the company roared. . . . Erskine Caldwell's novel on Russia, "All Night Long," will be ready to roll on a studio stage when the book is published in December. It looks as tho Joe Mankiewicz has the jump on the other Russian productions in town. Erskine's wife, Margaret Bourke-White, is again on a secret mission to somewhere, and he doesn't know where. . . .

Bringing in the Trade.

Grace Hayes, back from Del Monte, told of a resort owner up there who puts this information on his folders, as an inducement to vacationing females: "Twenty minutes bus ride from here to army camp of 60,000. They get leave nightly." . . . Claudette Colbert may have Merle Oberon and Joan Blondell as co-stars in "So Proudly We Hail." . . . You would have died at 6 year old Patty Hale, when she went in to see Jack Warner and said, "Please—nobody ever gets my name right. I'm either Patsy or Patricia—do you mind if I change to Diana? That has dignity." Which was little enough for him to do—so he "dood" it. . . . Weekly I meet Charlie Chaplin's manager in the bank. He's there getting 50 new one dollar bills, which is Charlie's weekly allowance [which is twice what my manager allows me].

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

A very long trump suit often has a value over and above that of the tricks it contains. The fact that the opponents must find discards, while the trumps are being run, leads to many interesting situations, as in the hand shown below.

The bidding:

1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	Pass	2 diamonds
3 clubs	Pass	Pass	3 diamonds
Pass	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

The diamond king was opened and the low diamond continued, East winning and then playing a third round. Declarer did not make the mistake of ruffing and thereby either running into an overruff or [by ruffing high] establishing a club trick for West. Instead, he made East a present of the third diamond trick, discarding his sure spade loser. East now shifted to spades—the best defense. Declarer's blank ace won and the club suit was run off. Finally, all hands were reduced to three cards. Declarer's were the Q-5 of hearts and one trump. West held on to the spade king and the K-9 of hearts. Dummy had the spade 10 and the A-10 of hearts. East's cards at this point were inconsequential. Declarer now led the last trump, and West was squeezed unmercifully. To give up the spade king was merely to establish dummy's 10 spot. Hence, West had to blank his heart king. This, however, was equally satisfactory to declarer. Dummy's spade 10 was discarded and declarer then led the five of hearts. West's blank king was smothered by the ace and declarer's heart queen accounted for the fulfilling trick.

It must be observed that the defenders were completely helpless in this matter. The squeeze play, so ably operated by declarer, made any line of defense fruitless.

Two excellent fall luncheon dishes head today's group of honorable mention awards for the prize recipe contest. They are hearty enough to be considered as supper fare:

Hominy in Pepper Shells.
[Serves six.]

3 large green peppers
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
3½ cups [No. 2½ can] whole hominy
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

Cut peppers in halves lengthwise. Remove seeds and cook 15 to 20 minutes or until tender in boiling water. Cook the onion in butter until soft, but do not brown. Add salt to hominy and heat to boiling. Drain and add onion and pimiento. Fill pepper shells with hominy and serve covered with cheese sauce.

Cheese Sauce.

1 bouillon cube
½ cup boiling water
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon flour
½ pound process cheese, grated

Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water. Melt butter in top of double boiler and blend in flour. Add bouillon and grated cheese and cook in top of double boiler, until cheese is melted and sauce is thickened and smooth.—Ethel Bergren, 5535 South Ellis avenue, Chicago.

Chicken Corn Soup.
[Serves six.]

4 cups chicken broth
1½ cups drained kernel corn
1½ cups diced chicken
2 pimientos, diced
Salt and pepper to taste
1 hard cooked egg

Add all ingredients except egg to broth and simmer together 20 minutes. Chop egg fine or push thru sieve and add to soup 10 minutes before serving.—Helen McCaa, 311 Meacham avenue, Park Ridge, Ill.

Graham Cracker Muffins.

16 graham crackers
2 tablespoons butter, melted
¾ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup milk, scalded
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup raisins
¼ cup chopped nut meats
2 teaspoons baking powder

Crush crackers and combine with butter, salt, and sugar. Over these pour the hot milk. Stir beaten egg into this mixture carefully, then fold in raisins and nutmeats. Cool slightly if still warm, and quickly stir in baking powder. Drop into greased muffin tins and bake in a hot [425 degrees] oven for 20 to 25 minutes.—Miss Loretta Ward, 917 West Sixth avenue, Gary, Ind.

Applesauce Torte.

¼ pound butter, melted
28 graham crackers, crushed
1 tablespoon sugar
1 No. 2 can applesauce
1⅓ cups sweetened condensed milk
2 or 3 eggs, separated
Juice of 1 lemon

Add melted butter to graham crackers and stir in sugar. Press into bottom and sides of spring form pan. Mix sauce with milk, beaten egg yolks, and lemon juice. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into cracker lined pan and bake in moderate [350 degrees] oven for 30 minutes. Serve chilled with whipped cream.—Mrs. Martha Sutgesell, 1140 Bonnie Brae, River Forest, Ill.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Hamburger Bix-Tricks.
[Serves four.]

Biscuits.

2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sour milk

Measure and sift together the flour, soda, baking powder, and salt. Add the chopped parsley and cut in the shortening. Add the milk. Knead lightly on a floured board. Roll out to a ¼ inch thickness and cut out eight 3-inch rounds with a biscuit cutter and eight with a 3-inch doughnut cutter.

Hamburgers.

1 pound of ground beef
Salt and pepper to taste

Form into 8 patties, season, and brown well on both sides in a skillet. Place the patties on the biscuit rounds and cover them with doughnut cut rounds. Place on a cookie sheet. Bake in a hot oven [450 degrees] for 20 minutes. Transfer to hot platter and pour hot barbecue sauce over the biscuits.

Hot Barbecue Sauce.

1 small onion
3 small sweet pickles
½ cup cider vinegar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup catsup
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
⅛ teaspoon chili pepper

Chop the onion and pickles fine, mix with remaining ingredients, bring to a boil, and allow to simmer 10 minutes. MRS. DAN HEY.
Rural Route 5, Shelbyville, Ind.

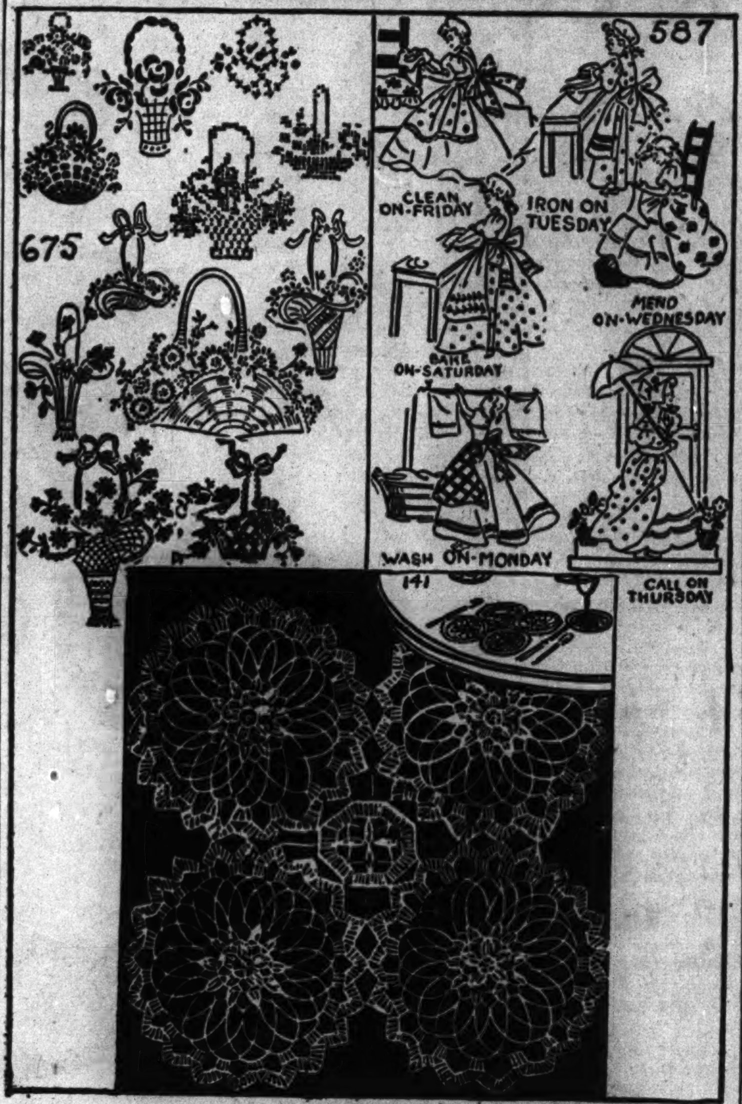
Three Needlework Designs



BY NANCY CABOT.

Embroidered floral baskets are popular motifs for any needleworker. No. 675 contains 12 designs which range from cross-stitch thru outline to satin stitch. The days of the week towels are enlivened with the busy girls you see illustrated. No. 587 may omit the days of the week and clever wall pictures are the answer. A simple crocheted medallion can create one of the smartest tablecloths imaginable. No. 141 is a simple design which works up rapidly.

Each pattern costs 10 cents. Send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

White Collar GIRL

Crisis.

It couldn't cause such a disturbance except in a store where every motion is part of THE SYSTEM. Into this mecca of management wandered a young woman the other noon to buy a book. She fingered first one then another and ended by choosing a current novel. Starting home from the office later that afternoon she discovered, to her chagrin, that there were TWO books with her packages—the second book was leather bound and a choice edition. The assumption was, of course, that she had inadvertently picked it up from the counter—she recalled glancing at it—and tucked it under her arm.

Back to the store she tripped, there to encounter a baffling situation. There were no rules to cover such an awkward incident. The clerk called the buyer . . . buyer called the merchandise man . . . no one knew what to do. "Couldn't I just slip it under a stack of books?" the culprit asked innocently, feeling like a horse thief. The suggestion was considered . . . well . . . no. At last a solution was reached—a sales check was made out and a return slip. SYSTEM was preserved.

White Collar Citation.

When she was a little girl she had thick brown braids and a friendly smile and an angelic voice. About the time she was growing up there was a war to be won . . . and romance had to wait . . . but after the boy came back from overseas they were married. They bought a small home and had two nice youngsters, and about the time they're growing up there's another war to be won.

The brown braids are gone now, but there's still the friendly smile and the angelic voice beloved by many a Sunday morning worshiper in one of Chicago's western suburbs. But she isn't doing much singing at present. On the porch of the house is a sign [daytimes], which reads, "Quiet, Defense Worker Sleeping," while she rests after the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift on the job.

Feminine Firsts.

The first dietitian at Michael Reese hospital was Grace Adgate. The army's first woman editor [she directed a section of the Bureau of Public Relations of the war department prior to the formation of the women's army auxiliary corps], was Oveta Culp Hobby . . . the first two women employés in the federal government were Mrs. Elizabeth Cresswell, postmaster at Charlestown, Md., in 1786 and 1787, and Miss Mary K. Goddard, postmaster at Baltimore, Md., for 14 years before the Constitution was signed.

The first woman in the United States to receive a medical diploma was Elizabeth Blackwell. . . . Ada Miser Kepley was the first woman graduate of a law college . . . the first woman's club in the United States is to said to be the Female Charities society, formed in 1805. . . . the first person to go over Niagara falls in a barrel was a woman—Anna Taylor, in 1901.

Etiquet Dept.

"I'm the youngest and newest employé in an advertising agency with an informal atmosphere. Every one is called by his—or her—first name," writes Elva. "I feel self-conscious calling the members of the firm 'George' and 'Bill.' On the other hand, it makes me conspicuous when I say 'Mr. So and So.' What to do? What do other white collar girls do in similar offices?"

Over Exertion in Sports May Hurt the Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The baby's so cross. You think, "I wonder why." And then you remember that his sleep has been broken and his hours disrupted for three days. So that night you pop him into bed far ahead of his usual time. And the next morning he's his own gurgly, sunshiny self again. Or, "Juney's disposition is changing—she's so irritable," says her grandmother. And you have qualms yourself. Then that night Janey runs a fever and you find she's been coming down with grippe.

Things like this show how skilful we parents can become, after repeated experiences, in linking up what seem like behavior troubles with the children's physical condition. But, as our boys and girls grow older, we stop much of this tying up of the physical with behavior, and when they are in their teens, this kind of awareness stops. We think of them as having stamina and endurance—as being solidly "set" from a physical standpoint—and we concern ourselves more with their thoughts and feelings.

Adolescence is, we know, much talked about and written about. But it's chiefly the emotional side, the psychology of our growing-up boys and girls that we hear discussed, and that we are inclined to emphasize ourselves.

Yet the truth is that fathers and mothers don't know enough about the physical side of adolescence. And by that, I hasten to add, I don't mean the obvious changes directly and indirectly having to do with sex development, tho those are important enough. I mean an understanding of the whole body of an adolescent boy or girl—the speedy and often uneven growth of heart and skeleton and muscles which will help us to protect their health. Recently a number of intensive studies of young bodies in adolescence have been begun. I have heard some of the reports of progress, and they are extremely interesting, and illuminating as well.

Parents, and those who have charge of high school sports should be especially well informed, because adolescent boys and girls are almost invariably full of high spirits which express themselves in strenuous physical activity, and they tend to overdo.

If high school coaches and heads of the departments of physical training were to be consulted, they would probably disagree as to what sports were best for the students during those years; but a few college coaches who receive boys from prep and high school, and some doctors have formed opinions. Games or sports are best suited to the adolescent when they provide for rapid action for short periods, frequent rest intervals, and the use of many muscles. The danger of overfatigue and heart strain is a real one.

These men believe that the great American game of baseball is in most ways an ideal game for boys, and in some form for girls from 10 to 14.

For girls basketball, swimming, and hockey are especially good, as well as dancing, fencing and horseback riding.

Rowing for boys—meaning, I presume, the highly competitive school rowing—is undesirable for teen-agers, as is competitive track work. And boxing and wrestling should be done only under supervision.

Tennis—the king of games, I think—is often indulged in to the point of real overstrain. A limit must be set by some adult.

Golf, as you can imagine, is okayed for both boys and girls.

So you can see that some check or some supervision over the sports of high school boys and girls is necessary.

Braid of Black Adds Zest to Fall Costumes

BY REA SEEGER.

Black braid has suddenly dominated the fashion parade and has arrived in time for the sew-your-own groups starting their fall and winter wardrobes. Narrow, medium and wide bandings, motifs for the laps, similar ideas for shoulder and cuff accents; braid by the yard with a circular swerve and straight trimming in stunning, decorative designs are enough to make you hustle home and braid everything in sight. It is correct for all 1942 suits, blouses, dresses, coats and capes, and for costume accessories such as gloves, belts, hats, bags and muffs.

Other new designs feature flattering veils . . . veils in all vivid colors or in subtle shades that flatter the wearer. Deep blue, flesh, turquoise, dusty beige, and gray are shades that will harmonize with almost any outfit. Spider web thin blacks, old gold, mauve, emerald green, cerise, orange and tobacco brown are some of the new ideas with flattering designs that do more to change a dated hat than anything ever invented.

Sequin veiling also is smart and ready for glitter on small hats for cocktail parties and dress parade clothes. One pattern is a fine mesh, spaced with penny sized, pale, gold colored sequins which are six inches apart.

Colored sequins in scarlet, with a tiny bead of green, make another handsome bit of face flattery. Stunning effects are achieved with fine mesh veiling, sewn with circles of dull felt, brown with brown, black on black, or blue on blue. These are the veils you can wear in long lengths over a wide or shallow brim hat.

Smart suit blouses are blooming in record breaking showings. For once you can find all kinds of beige shades, plenty of all whites, and some good looking hand fagoted and hemstitched semitailored models. If you crave color, look at the white models with a band of either red, blue, brown, or green around the collar and down the center panel. The band is about one inch wide. Tucked bosom blouses, ideal for office suits, come in white, bright colors and the new all black designs. There are blouses with high round necklines, short sleeves and tailored simplicity so important for simply tailored suit jackets. Prices are reasonable.

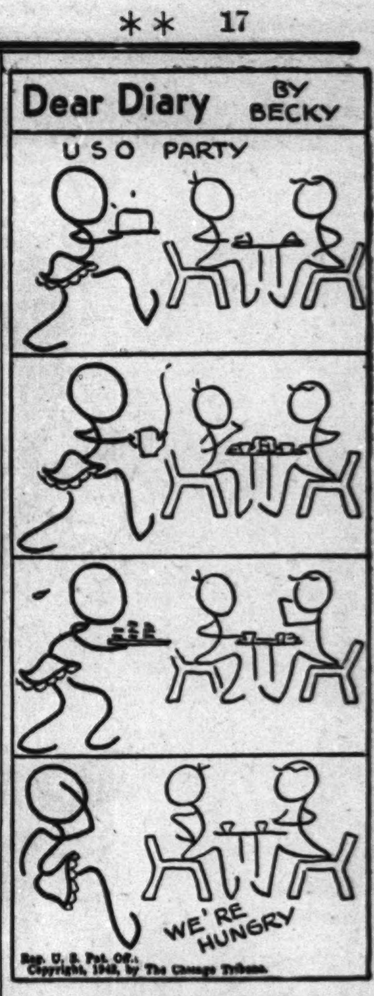
Dear Diary

BY BECKY



Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright, 1942, by The Chicago Tribune.

Thru the Looking Glass

Miss Ethel A. Rollinson, instructor in office procedure at Columbia university, can quote figures to show that a fraction more than 89 per cent of the girls who lose office jobs should blame personality defects rather than lack of skill.

She said that training in a good appearance, personality and speech is virtually as important as skill in typing and shorthand for the girl who wants to make good as a secretary.

About appearance: Men employers, according to her research, dislike the sight of blood-red tipped fingers making pot hooks on the white pages of a notebook. Unobtrusive, conservative shades of nail polish are preferred by most bosses. They don't like florid or exotic makeup and have a particular loathing of too much eye makeup. What gets their vote is a makeup that gives a naturally, healthy look.

Hair is one of their pet peeves. If it's frowsy or too fussy in arrangement it is a daily mark against a girl's grooming score. One man reported that tho his secretary was wonderful, her hair was so frowsy it upset him every time his eyes lighted on her! In clothes, the men vote for the "unobtrusively feminine," by which they mean plain dresses or suits with restrained soft touches. They approved of button ear-rings.

They disapproved, violently, of sweaters as office garb! And, they don't like the hatless vogue. Too collegiate and casual, they believe, for the trip to and from the office. They have strong opinions about shoes, Miss Rollinson reported. They don't like saddle shoes around the office, but neither do they approve of the toeless, spike-heeled slipper. Semi-dress shoes, well kept, are what employers recommend.

New York, Oct. 2.—The New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals, borne on the same caravan but scorning communion with each other, arrived here late this afternoon, eager for tomorrow's world series game in the capacious Yankee stadium. Each won a game in St. Louis' scrawny ball park and tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock, central war time, Spud Chandler of the Yanks and Ernie White of the Cards will perform in the center of a grass infield.

The spectacular victory of the Cardinals in yesterday's game in St. Louis has stimulated New York interest in the three games to be played here and, if the customers can be packed in, it is likely the all-time attendance record for a world series game will be set. The high mark, 68,540, was set a year ago yesterday, in the opener of the Yankee-Dodgers series.

Sure of Three More Games.

The splitting of the pair of games played in St. Louis, of course, makes it certain that the teams will play three games in Yankee stadium, tomorrow, Sunday, and Monday, weather permitting. There was some talk that the teams might remain in New York for the sixth and seventh games if the issue is not decided in five games. This arose from the government transportation freezing order, which will become effective Sunday night. Railroad men, however, seemed confident they could handle the teams on a return trip to St. Louis, if necessary, without interference from the new drastic order anent special trains.

On the trip east Manager Joe McCarthy rode in the front car of a 15 Pullman train. Way back down the string of cars was Manager Billy Southworth. As the train rolled thru Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio last night, weary inquirers gave the length of the train the old heel and toe hike without getting positive information about tomorrow's pitching selections. Mr. Mac seemed stronger in his hints that he would assign Chandler. Mr. Bill said it would be "White or Max Lanier." They became positive on White and Chandler around noon today.

Arm Is Fit Now.

White this season had a recurrence of arm trouble which has pestered him off and on for four years and suffered a letdown from his 17 and 7 record in 1941. But coming down the stretch, when the Cardinals needed him, he came thru in a big way. He won his last three games.

Chandler is rounding out his sixth year with the Yankees. The work of this able man from Georgia is particularly well known to White Sox followers. He annoys them at every opportunity, with his bat as well as his arm.

Manager McCarthy wouldn't announce it, but it is probable that he will alter his batting order with the left handed White in there.

RAY ROBINSON WINS DECISION FROM LA MOTTA

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Ray Robinson made his bow against middleweight competition tonight by taking target practice at Jake La Motta and galloping off with a one-sided 10 round decision in Madison Square Garden, as he ran his winning string to 125 fights in a row. Robinson weighed 145 pounds and La Motta 157¾.

Putting on a dazzling show of speed and slugging for the entertainment of a near capacity crowd, Robinson solved the Bronx fighter's peculiar style in one round and from there on he did just about all the punching.

Texas Pins Hopes on This Quartet

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—Ohio State and Indiana universities, both unknown quantities even to their most enthusiastic loyalists, will open the 1942 Western conference football season tomorrow afternoon before an anticipated throng of 40,000, including approximately 10,000 high school students. It will be the 26th meeting between the two since 1901, with the Buckeyes holding the series edge by a comfortable margin consisting of 15 victories, 7 defeats, and 3 ties.

Curiosity surrounding the 1942 editions of the morrow's rivals is at the same peak as of last week-end, when both got off to a flying start with little difficulty and with no especial revelation of potential strategy. Ohio State stomped all over the Fort Knox service eleven by 59 to 0, while Indiana was running free and fancy in routing Butler, 53 to 0.

Natives Exercising Restraint.

Columbus being the original birthplace of football superlative, you would expect to find plenty of usage of the "mostest" and the "bestest" in describing the 1942 Buckeyes, but the natives are exercising admirable restraint until they see what goes on tomorrow. That restraint may be actuated by the mood of Paul Brown, the slender and amiable gent who made Massillon, O., the prep football capital of the country before he made his collegiate coaching debut here last season, and a handsome one it was, too.

Mr. Brown refuses to be propelled into any rhetorical flights about his boys. He pointed out today that this is not quite the same team of last

Crippled Notre Dame Expects Trouble with Georgia Tech

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 2.—Hard times seem to have fallen on Notre Dame's perpetually robust football players. They're down to their last touchdown and the season is only starting. Old Man Injury is sitting outside the clubhouse and slapping the boys with various ailments whenever he can reach them. The jinx dealer even has fastened either a case of flu or touchdown indigestion on Coach Frank [Lamenting] Leahy. And tomorrow brings on that battle here with Georgia Tech. Except for all this, everything is shipshape.

Maybe the tears that are soaking the gridiron aren't exactly legitimate. Maybe that 7 to 7 tie in the season's opener with Wisconsin last week-end didn't mean the Fighting Irish are weak. Maybe Wisconsin finally has learned there is some way of keeping a foe from treading ruthlessly on its goal line turf. Anyway, Leahy is setting a new high for midwestern fearing.

They Really Have Troubles.

Considering only such things as injuries, it could be that the lamenters are in earnest. Dippy Evans, proclaimed the best running back, is still an absentee because of a trick knee. Jerry Cowhig, who has a No. 1 full back rating, has a pulled groin muscle. Bob Dove, the left end, has not recovered from a leg mishap but will start. There's something wrong with Creighton Miller, who was figured a cinch for right half. That all sounds pretty ominous to an interested visitor, but maybe Leahy, under the strain of carrying on a Notre Dame tradition, has forgotten that when one boy drops out of the parade there is always another, and another, to step in.

The Fighting Irish still have Angelo Bertelli sound of body and, if that isn't a consolation, it certainly is something for the Georgia Crackers to worry about. Bertelli's passing didn't baffle the Badgers. He completed only four of 14; two being intercepted at the goal line. It was his first assignment both as a quarter back and signal caller, his sophomore campaign having been spent at half. But that 7 to 7 tie of last week easily could be charged off to inexperience at a new job. He may do much better tomorrow.

CONNIE MACK PICKS YANKEES TO WIN IN SIX

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, arrived for the eastern half of the world series tonight and picked the New York Yankees to win in six games.

"The Yanks can do everything greater than the Cardinals, except run," he explained, "And they can run better than most clubs. So I pick them to finish it out in four more games, even tho the Cardinals are now tied with them."

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The University of Texas football team, completely homegrown except for a Californian and an Alabaman who in some manner beat out a native Longhorn, will give Northwestern's Wildcats a busy afternoon today in Dyche stadium. But the Texans, for all their great record of 1941 and a spectacular start in this new season, don't figure to have such outings as on previous Saturdays, when they annihilated a couple of teams, 40 to 0, and 64 to 0.

The Texans came into town at mid-afternoon yesterday and caused a mild sensation in the C. & E. I. station. With the traditional high heeled boots and stetsons of generous expanse [and expense] which are the hallmarks of their state, the players seemed larger than they really are. They took a brief workout at Northwestern, then repaired to their quarters in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

They've Been Around Before.

The Wildcats and Longhorns have never met before, but the southwesterners are no strangers to the midwest. Two years ago they whipped Indiana, 14 to 7, and in 1939 beat Wisconsin, 17 to 7. A crowd of 35,000 will come out to watch Northwestern's last game before plunging into the Western conference race. The Texans were hoping for a continuation of mild temperatures.

Tho Texans lost 16 men from its fine 1941 eleven which was beaten only once—an upset by Texas Christian—it has more lettermen available than at the start of last season. Coach Dana X. Bible, midway thru a 10 year contract at Texas, brought three complete teams to Evanston. The Texans substitute an entire team at a time and it's said there's little difference between their first and second units.

N. U. Isn't Worried.

Waldorf and his Wildcats have been working earnestly all week, not at all terrified by the Steers' early show of power, and confident of having at least an even chance.

"While watching Bernie Mertes and Jim Langhurst of the Iowa Cadets running reverses last Saturday I thought I'd really seen some speed," said Waldorf yesterday. "But I guess I kind of forgot about Jackie Field and Ken Matthews and some of these other Texans who are going to be hard to lasso today."

Against the Texans' unlimited back field talent, Northwestern has only four experienced backs and only two of them are playing in the same position as last year. These are Ed Hirsch, 190 pound full back, and Otto Graham, the fancy left half back who will not have a dull moment today. In addition to passing and running, Otto will be called upon to kick the points after touchdown and perhaps call signals. The other two experienced backs are Dud Kean at quarter and Don Buffmire at right half. Kean has had no signal calling experience and neither have the other quarter backs.

The Northwestern coach, not in the nature of an alibi, mentioned last night that his team has the toughest schedule since he became coach eight seasons ago.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 2.—Major league batsmen who insist that the 1942 baseball is less resilient than its predecessors are supported by the averages. . . . Little Towns.

Where people meet their neighbors every day
With smiling words that iron out cares and frowns
Here character and worth are recognized,
For every amity of life is prized
And cultivated. Here is no abuse
No cloak of countless number here enshrouds
The greater things of life, for each one sees
That being neighborly and friendly crowns

Today a box of baseballs arrived at our camp with the compliments of the Chicago Cubs and the fans who tossed them back into the playing field. [Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 2.—The Wisconsin football team meets Marquette tomorrow in Camp Randall stadium with the burden of demonstrating that its 7 to 7 tie with Notre Dame last Saturday was no mistake.

For some reason or other, Badger followers have been worried about the team's spirit during the present week tho it's difficult to understand why any one sholud question the morale of an eleven which put up the kind of a game the boys delivered last Saturday. There has been talk of a let down, but it's generally believed that if there's any basis for these fears it will be knocked down by the first zestful tackle of tomorrow's engagement.

Recall 1941 Defeat.

The Badgers have plenty of reason to put a lot into this game because they still have a fresh memory of the defeat which Marquette dealt them last season by a surprising score of 28 to 7.

Wisconsin is going thru the early stages of its present campaign with much higher hopes. In the past, other teams of other schools have performed unexpectedly well against Notre Dame in opening games only to fail to live up to promise. The boys on the campus, however, are confident that this Wisconsin team gave a true indication of its scoring potentialities and also of its magnificent defensive courage in last Saturday's game. Accordingly, they look with optimism at the forthcoming campaign which will include Western conference games with Purdue, Ohio State, Iowa, Northwestern, and Minnesota.

Anticipating a highly entertaining engagement, the fans making reservations indicate that the crowd will

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The White Sox adhered rigidly to their win-four-straight program last night, but their third consecutive city series victory over the Cubs came a little harder than the two previous ones. It had an old time city series setting, as 20,819 verbally inclined fans in Comiskey park watched the American leaguers squeeze out a 3 to 2 victory.

The feature act once again was the batting combination of Don Kolloway and Wally Moses, with Rookie Bill Mueller playing an important part. Johnny Humphries, the electric light specialist, shrugged off four errors, one by himself, and matched Claude Passeau with a six hit job. A fine throw by Moses from right field in the sixth inning choked off the Cubs' last scoring chance at the plate. After that, Humphries mowed down 10 National leaguers in a row.

It's Bithorn vs. Lee Tonight.

The Cubs will make their last stand tonight with Hiram Bithorn, the Puerto Rican, on the mound. The Sox pitcher will be Thornton Lee, their 22 game winner of 1941, who finally won two games while losing six this season after being out months with a sore arm.

Humphries was so good that, altho the first three Cubs got on in the first inning, the damage was restricted to one run. Stan Hack doubled to right center and came home when Len Merullo singled to right. Humphries complicated his own position when he watched Lou Novikoff's half speed roller go past. Then Clyde McCullough moved up the runners with a sacrifice, and Bill Nicholson was purposely passed. Dom Dallessandro hit into a double play by way of Luke Appling and Dario Lodigiani.

Mueller Ties It Up.

Kolloway, who had hit a homer and three singles Thursday against Lon Warneke in a 9 to 5 victory, led off in the Sox half with a pop fly which fell just out of Phil Cavarretta's reach for a double. Don moved to third on Moses' fly to Dallessandro. Mueller slapped a grounder at Merullo and Kolloway came home with the tying run while the Waterloo Kid was being thrown out.

Phil Cavarretta opened the second inning with a single to right and after Bob Sturgeon flied to Moses, Passeau hit into a double play started by Bob Kennedy.

In the third, Mueller went 'way, 'way back for Hack's drive and then the Sox went to work. Kolloway drove a single to center and scored when Moses tripled against the right field wall. Again Mueller supplied the scoring punch with a fly to Dallessandro.

CARDS CONFIDENT ABOUT GREEN BAY, IN A MODEST WAY

Ready to Shoot Passes to Trim Packers.

The Cardinals, leading the western division of the National Football league with two shutout victories, have prepared a double barreled passing attack for Sunday night in Comiskey park against the Packers, foremost passing specialists of pro football.

Johnny Knolla, the swarthy fellow who was more noted as a ground gainer in his undergraduate days at Creighton, has been sharing the pass pitching with Bud Schwenk, whose throws have accounted for the Cards' three league touchdowns.

Work on Protecting Hutson.

"Of course, we've worked all week long on strategy to keep Don Hutson well guarded," said Coach Jim Conzelman last night. "But we haven't forgotten to make allowances for Green Bay's running plays, either. The Packers will run more against us than they did last week against the Bears, knowing our line isn't as puncture-proof. And we're going to do some running, too, don't forget that."

One of the quietly confident Cardinals is Marshall Goldberg, who will be in top condition for the first time this year. Marshall, who reported late after almost deciding to quit football, was slightly over 190 pounds for the victories over Cleveland and Detroit. He weighed in at 186 after yesterday's long workout.

60 Minutes of Goldberg.

Goldberg took a short pass from Johnny Clement at Milwaukee last year and ran thru the Packers for a 72 yard touchdown. He will be running, passing, catching, and breaking up Packer plays for most of the 60 minutes tomorrow night. The Cards will have a brushing up drill this morning, then a grand review tomorrow night. They had a strategy session yesterday afternoon.

The Cardinals will have no excuses, physically, at least, if their dream of a big season is smashed by the Packers. Ray Apolskis, whose leg was hurt on the first play of the Detroit game two weeks ago, has completely recovered. Frank Ivy, veteran end whose ankle bothered him in previous games, will be ready to go at top speed.

Sunday's game will find the Packers just as quietly confident as the Cards. Curly Lambeau's men were knocked out of the league title play last December by the Bears in Wrigley field. Last Sunday, in Green Bay, they were batted around, 44 to 28, by these same Bears in their league opener.

The Cardinals' business office announced last night that 15,000 tickets at $1.10 will go on sale tomorrow at Comiskey park. The advance sale has indicated that, for once, the Cards will draw a big crowd to one of their Comiskey park games.

Army-Dodger Game Nets $46,093.05 for Relief Fund

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 2 (AP).—A profit of $46,093.05 in the army emergency relief benefit football game between the eastern Army All-Stars and Brooklyn Dodgers Sept. 16 was announced today. Wallace J. Smith, chairman of the game committee, said cash receipts totaled $62,493.63. Federal and state taxes were $6,058.13, the Dodgers received $5,643.55, and other expenses were $3,763.98. The army team won, 13 to 7.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 2 [Special].—Butler's Bulldogs, who match the University of Illinois in weight, worked out in Memorial stadium this afternoon, leaving those who saw them with the impression that tomorrow's football battle between these elevens will not be as one sided as has been indicated.

Butler, severely handled by Indiana last week and minus three players the Bulldogs had counted upon, is determined to make amends for a losing performance in its opener, and has thrown three freshmen into the breach for the stand against Illinois. The freshmen are Emil Neeme, guard; Cliff Maschmeyer, center, and Francis Moriarity, half back. Harold Miller, end, Bill Horvath, guard, and Norman Williams, half back, did not make the trip.

Frank Oliphant, 324 pound freshman tackle who can run the 100 yard dash in 12 seconds, will not start for Butler, but is certain to see action.

Illinois, which disposed of South Dakota easily last week, will take the field with almost the same lineup which started in the opener. Bob Wilson, junior left guard, may be unable to start, in which case he will be replaced by Joe Pawlowski, a senior. Capt. Jimmy Smith is expected to start at full back, and has an able replacement in Tony Butkovich. Steve Sucic, held out of the South Dakota contest, will alternate with Buck Correll at right half.

LEMMON TO MEET MINER MONDAY IN MARIGOLD RING

Lemmon originally was scheduled to make his professional debut in the same arena last Monday, but was forced to defer it because of a hand injury suffered in training.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 2 [Special].—Michigan and Michigan State will meet for the 37th time in their intrastate football feud tomorrow.

The Wolverines will be counting once more on Sophomore Bob Chappuis' strong right arm to fling touchdown passes with the same accuracy and consistency it displayed against Great Lakes last week. Coach Fritz Crisler also has several other passers who can keep the bombardment against the Spartans going effectively—men like Don Robinson, who probably will get the starting call over Chappuis, and Cliff Wise, who started against the Sailors.

State Can Pass, Too.

Coach Charley Bachman of State has a match for the vaunted Michigan air attack in the combination of Dick Kieppe at half and Bob McNeill at end. Kieppe saw little action against Michigan last year, but he improved by the end of the season. In practice his arm has been better than ever, and with McNeill, a senior from Tucson, Ariz., as a receiver, provides State's biggest hope.

Michigan will be without Tom Kuzma for the second successive week, but the big Gary lad is the only important absentee. Don Boor, the full back who has been out since the second week of practice, probably will play, those Bob Wiese still holds the starting rôle.

There Are Some Runners.

If the passing attacks bog down a stock of fleet backs are ready to keep the offensives going. Michigan has Robinson, Paul White, and Weise, to start, as well as speedy reserve material in Frank Wardley, Don Lund, and Chappuis.

An estimated crowd of 40,000 is expected. In the series, which started in 1898, Michigan has a top-heavy lead of 27 victories to 6 losses, with three tie games.

KICKOFF DAY IN BIG NINE AS OHIO MEETS INDIANA

year, with particular emphasis on the physical side. There isn't an even distribution of poundage, some being on the lean side, while others tend to squattiness. Brown will start seven juniors, including Capt. George Lynn; two seniors, and two sophomores—Right Tackle Bill Willis, a home town boy, and Gene Fekete, 192 pound full back, from Findlay. For all his reluctance to go overboard on his lads, Brown nevertheless indicated a high admiration for the team's spirit, and it is on this that he has based the promise of a real contest tomorrow.

Indiana Ends Well Advertised.

Columbus has heard considerable of the Hoosiers' two Greco-American ends, Ted Hasapes and Pete Pisos. They were given to understand also that Indiana has three sophomore back field lights in Jimmy Dewar of Oak Park, Ill.; Bob Cowan of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Hugh [Knocky] McKinnis, a Negro 193 pounder from Farrell, Pa. Yet, when Coach Bo McMillin brought the Indiana lads into town at 6:30 o'clock this evening, after a day coach ride from Indianapolis, preceded by a light morning drill in Bloomington, the home folks kept looking for one Hoosier. He was a trifle hard to identify in civvies, but he should be easily spotted tomorrow by the numerals 44. That, of course, will be William Francis Hillenbrand, a great ball player and a great kid, to boot. Hillenbrand, whose sophomore feats last year stamped him as one of the backs of that or any other season, will be making his first football appearance against the Buckeyes, since the two teams did not meet last year.

McMillin May Have Hunch.

Coach McMillin could not be provoked into any admission that he was carrying a country hunch in his luggage. Five years ago, McMillin came to this town with just that type of hunch, and before the day was over, his premonition was verified by a 10 to 0 Indiana victory. That triumph, led by Sparky Miller, Frank Filchock, Corby Davis, Jack Kenderdine, and Frank Petrick, was the last the Hoosiers scored against the Buckeyes.

890,000 Drop Shown in '42 Baseball Gates

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Major league baseball lost approximately 890,000 cash customers during the 1942 season, a drop of about 8 per cent from the 1941 attendance total, but the figures fail to show evidence of a first class losing trend.

The National league drew 4,724,961 fans compared with 5,029,689 a year ago; the American league, falling behind the older circuit for the first time in many seasons, had totals of 4,685,614 this year and 5,220,519 in 1941. These figures, in most cases, are taken either from official announcements by the clubs or from the attendances given out daily at the games. They do not include the free admissions given to members of the armed forces by every club.

Biggest Gainers in American.

The American league absorbed more than half the total loss but produced the two clubs which gained the most at the gate as well as the two biggest losers. Four clubs, Cleveland, Cincinnati, the Chicago White Sox, and the Brooklyn Dodgers, suffered a total drop in attendance of more than 863,000, but six others recorded gains.

The biggest loser was Cleveland, whose attendance dropped, according to sports writers' estimates, from 850,000 to about 550,000. The reason there is obvious. Cleveland didn't have Bob Feller to bring in the fans and it didn't have a pennant contender. Failure to figure in the pennant races also can explain big losses at Cincinnati and at Chicago's American league park.

Brooklyn Short of '41 Total.

It's another problem trying to figure out why the exciting National league pennant race failed to draw the fans. Brooklyn passed the million mark in home attendance for the second year but fell 127,912 short of last year's total. The pennant winning St. Louis Cardinals lost 74,893, drawing their largest crowds in the last half of the season when interest in other cities was beginning to slacken.

The Washington Senators, whose performances on the field were tabbed capital punishment, recorded an attendance gain of 105,530. The Senators had the benefit of more night games than the other clubs and of Washington's wartime crowds. The St. Louis Browns, who surprised everybody by climbing to third place, gained 86,987.

Dodgers, Yankees Draw Best.

The Dodgers and the Yankees were the biggest drawing cards on the road as well as at home. Nearly every other National league city had its largest crowds when the Dodgers were in town.

exceed 35,000. The demand for seats has been greater than it was for last week's game, which drew 32,000.

No. 1 Team Is Ready.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher has hopes of putting his No. 1 team on the field intact, the only doubtful starter being Pat Harder, who has been handicapped in practice by an ankle injury. However, he has been running thru signals with the team during the last two days and it is considered highly probable he'll be ready. His alternate at full back will be Bob Ray.

Elroy Hirsch, the sophomore left half back who scored Wisconsin's touchdown last Saturday and who averaged 8 yards at every try in that game, is all set for an attempt to equal that performance.

Belmont Futurity Is to Be Run, Too.

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—They're running the richest of all 2 year old races at Belmont Park tomorrow, but it's only going to play second fiddle on the program, because Alsab and Whirlaway are to hook up in their much talked of return battle on the same card.

There'll be a bankroll of $78,965 split up among the leaders in the 53d running of the futurity, which today drew a dozen of the year's top juveniles for the 6½ furlong dash down the Widener chute. The winner—which is expected to come from among John Marsch's Occupation, Mrs. John D. Hertz's Count Fleet, and W. E. Boeing's Slide Rule—will pick up $58,565.

Just an Added Attraction.

But, in spite of the presence of just about every top flight youngster of 1942, with the possible exception of Devil's Thumb, this big money event can only be classed as the secondary feature to the second engagement between Alsab and Whirlaway.

They will go to work in the 23d running of the Jockey Club Gold cup, and altho there are four others in the race, most folks figure they are just along for the outing. Al Sabath's Chicago express and Warren Wright's 4 year old tangled first in a $25,000 match race at Narragansett Park two weeks ago, and Alsab, under a brilliant ride by Carroll Bierman, barely nipped Whirlaway by about an inch and a half in one of the turf's all-time thrillers.

Two Miles This Time.

That was at a mile and three-sixteenths, and Whirlaway was wearing Alsab down at the end. This time it's for two miles, with $18,850 to the winner.

Under the weight-for-age conditions Whirlaway packs 124 to 117 for Alsab in the Gold cup scramble. He'll be piloted by Georgie Woolf, who has been waiting for another crack at Alsab and Bierman ever since they got the jump on him at Narragansett.

Bolingbroke to Run Also.

As a matter of fact, Whirlaway can knock off two birds with the same rock, because, in addition to Alsab, the field of six includes Townsend Martin's Bolingbroke, the son of Equipoise which whipped him in North American record time in the Manhattan handicap a week ago. Bolingbroke also will pack 124 pounds. The rest of the field is made up of Louis Mayer's King's Abbey, William Woodward's filly, Vagrancy, and Mrs. Payne Whitney's The Rhymer.

Death the Awakener.

[With apologies to Wordsworth.]

Our death is but a birth and a begetting,
The soul that passes with us, our life's star,
Shall rise elsewhere in heaven's ampler setting,
To dare the larger sky, and sail afar.

Yes, heaven lies about us in all ages,
And death is but the gateway of our hope,
By which we pass to life's unfolding stages
Of love, and beauty, and immortal scope.

The clouds that gather round the sun at setting
Flame with the portent of our future quest,
And pledge the brighter world of God's begetting,
Beyond the portal of the luring west.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 2.—The Golden Gophers of Minnesota, champions of the Western conference for the last two seasons, will be hosts tomorrow in Memorial stadium to the Seahawks of the Iowa City Preflight school. Forty thousand fans will sit in on the clash between the Gophers, undefeated in 18 games, and the Seahawks, led by Bernie Bierman, who is responsible for the Gophers' record in the last 10 years.

Minnesota has resigned itself, apparently, to defeat by the Seahawks, who last week whipped the Northwestern Wildcats. But, regardless of the apparent desire of the collegiate men to eliminate this game in favor of other intercollegiate foemen, Minnesota definitely does have a chance to whip the cadets from Iowa City.

Halfway Mark for Seahawks.

This is the outstanding battle of the early season. Should Bierman's boys win from Minnesota—with prestige of a victory over Northwestern—they are half way to an unbeaten season. Only Michigan and Notre Dame remain as formidable opponents.

There are many reasons why Minnesota and the Seahawks are on approximately even terms. All may be summed up as follows:

Bierman, of course, has an intimate knowledge of the strong and weak points of each Minnesota player. He knew them last season and he also had a report on the men from the freshman group after the spring practice session. Bierman also knows the additions to the new Gopher attack since he saw some of them in spring drills.

Seahawks Have More Experience.

Bierman's Seahawks, as we said before, have the tremendous advantage of experience. His first team averages nearly four years of football for each man, and his second team, with a larger number of professional players, will exceed this figure.

There are some factors in favor of the Gophers. They had a fine spring practice session, a period denied to the Seahawks—and were ready to continue in September. Such key men as Bill Daley, full back, and Dick Wildung, tackle, are prepared for anything the Seahawks can throw in their path.

The Gophers' morale and their will to win will probably be stronger than the Seahawks, who have been recruited from many colleges with as many different styles of play. The Seahawks cannot have the same incentive to play as Minnesota's men, who seek to carry on a great tradition.

The schedule, of course, favors Minnesota. Last week the Gophers ran over an indifferent and incompetent Pittsburgh eleven and next Saturday the boys open their conference program against Illinois. No one in this section of the western conference gives the Illini a chance and so tomorrow's game falls between two easy mark assignments.

PROVISO HIGH IS 28 TO 20 WINNER OVER MARINETTE

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 2 [Special].—Scoring in every quarter, Proviso High of Maywood, Ill., defeated Marinette here tonightñ 28 to 20.

Proviso built up a 14 to 7 lead at half time. Proviso collected its first score on a 72 yard sprint by Meryle Carlini and the second on a short plunge by Braglia. Young kicked both extra points.

A 10 yard plunge by M. Carlini gave the Maywood eleven its third touchdown in the third period. The last quarter turned into a scoring spree with Proviso collecting a safety and a touchdown, and Marinette two touchdowns. Jeraci scored for Proviso.

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 2—Tomorrow will be showdown day for Vanderbilt and Purdue.

The Commodores last week overwhelmed Tennessee Tech and the Boilermakers lost to Fordham by the margin of a touchdown. This will be the last preseason conference game for both universities.

Purdue scouts who saw the Nashville squad dazzle the boys from Tech last Saturday are convinced it has as much offensive sparkle as the 1941 team which won 8 of its 10 games, including a 3 to 0 victory over the Boilermakers at Lafayette. They had little chance to size up Vanderbilt's defensive strength, however, because the Commodores controled the ball most of the game.

Undaunted by Fordham Loss.

Purdue adherents were not discouraged at all by their team's 14 to 7 defeat a week ago. Purdue made 12 first downs to Fordham's 8 and had an edge in almost every department of play except forward pass defense. Both Ram touchdowns were scored on long aerials.

Both Purdue and Vandervilt appear to have fared about the same in graduations of 1941 material and losses to the armed forces. Purdue has a veteran back field but a completely rebuilt line. Vanderbilt likewise has an experienced back field which will operate behind a line studded with newcomers. The Big Ten representatives negotiated only three first downs against the Commodores a year ago.

The Purdue squad didn't arrive until almost 4 o'clock this afternoon, but Coach Elmer Burnham took his players to Vanderbilt field for a limbering up drill. Red Sanders, popular leader of the Nashville squad, had a particularly light drill, because several players are suffering from severe colds. Among them was Capt. Fred Holder, who remained in bed until time for practice.

The Boilermakers are banking heavily on Kenny Smock, acting captain, to ramble thru the Vanderbilt line. He gave a good performance against Fordham, and members of the coaching staff predict he will be one of the outstanding backs in the Big Ten this fall. In addition to his talents as a runner and passer, Smock did the punting last Saturday. He had to kick only twice, but he averaged more than 40 yards.

Battle of Punters.

Kicking is apt to have an important part in shaping victory tomorrow. In addition to Smock, the Boilermakers have one of the country's leading punters in Bob Chester, who is Smock's No. 1 reserve at left half back. Chester punted 33 times in eight games in 1941 and, while he had two blocked, he still had a season's average of 40.18 yards per try.

Red Burns and J. P. Moore do the booting for Vanderbilt, and both are rated among the fanciest in the south.

EMERSON HIGH UPSET, 20 TO 19, BY WASHINGTON

Washington of East Chicago upset Emerson of Gary last night, 20 to 19, in a Northern Indiana Conference western division game in East Chicago. Washington scored once in the first period and twice in the second and then managed to outlast Emerson's desperate rallies. Lew Wallace of Gary defeated Horace Mann of Gary, 14 to 6 and Roosevelt of East Chicago beat Hammond High, 13 to 7 in other league games. Hammond Clark shut out Valparaiso, 18 tot 0, and Hobart swamped Griffin 28 to 6 in practice games.

De La Salle and Loyola Win in Catholic Play

Catholic league play started last night as De La Salle defeated St. Ignatius, 9 to 6, in a south section game in St. Philip stadium.

De La Salle gained its victory on the strength of a safety in the second quarter and a touchdown in the middle of the final half. The safety occurred when Ernest Stumpo, St. Ignatius back, stepped into the end zone as he was rushed on an attempted punt. The south siders' touchdown came when Bill Barrett smashed over on a plunge. Frank Doyle converted for the extra point.

Stumpo scored the lone St. Ignatius tally early in the second period on an offtackle play from 5 yards out. He failed in his try for the point after touchdown.

Catholic league play will continue tomorrow. Feature match will be that between St. Philip and Fenwick at Hanson stadium in the afternoon.

In the league's opening contest in the north section, Loyola defeated De Paul, 26 to 6, before a capacity throng in Loyola field. Ned Daly and Larry Brown scored two touchdowns apiece.

Thornton of South Suburban league defeated West Aurora of the Big Eight conference, 19 to 12, last night in Aurora. Thornton scored in each of the first three periods, while West Aurora registered its scores in the third and fourth quarters. Ira Benson registered two of Thornton's touchdowns on short plunges and Bob Robertson tallied the final score. Carl Kaufman and Tom Wood scored for West Aurora.

YORKVILLE, 7; PLAINFIELD, 6.

Yorkville High school invaded Plainfield and defeated the home team, 7 to 6, yesterday in a Fox Valley conference game. It was Yorkville's third successive victory in league play. Bob Graham drove over from the Plainfield 6 yard line in the first quarter and then plunged over for the extra point. Plainfield scored in the third period when Allen Mauer broke away for 35 yards to Yorkville's 1, and Ed La Cross bucked the line for the touchdown. La Cross' attempted line plunge for the extra point failed.

WASHINGTON, 20; MISHAWAKA, 6.

Led by Ernie Zalejski, speedy sophomore, who raced 35 and 52 yards, respectively, for touchdowns, South Bend Washington won its second consecutive Northern Indiana conference eastern division victory last night, defeating Mishawaka, 20 to 6, on the latter's field. South Bend Riley notched its third conference victory by beating South Bend John Adams, 7 to 0. Michigan City beat Goshen, 13 to 7, and Elkhart trounced La Porte, 20 to 7, in other conference games. Buchanan, Mich., beat South Bend Central Catholic, 6 to 0, in a nonleague game played in Buchanan.

LA SALLE-PERU ST. BEDE PLAY SCORELESS TIE

Peru, Ill., Oct. 2 [Special].—La Salle-Peru High school and St. Bede battled to a scoreless tie here tonight before an overflow crowd of 4,700 in their annual football battle.

Each team made one major threat. St. Bede, taking the opening kickoff, marched 70 yards to the La Salle 1 yard line where Coach Butch Nowack's club held two straight downs and warded off the threat. LaSalle-Peru's biggest opportunity came in the second period when it reached the St. Bede 9 yard marker, but a pass interception checked the drive.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 2.—A mixture of seniors, juniors, and sophomores wearing University of Iowa jerseys will trot out onto the Iowa stadium turf tomorrow thinking that if Michigan could do it last week the Hawkeyes can too. The "it" referred to here would be the beating of the Great Lakes Naval Training station's football team, which is scheduled to start trying to launch a new winning streak here at 2 o'clock before some 10,000 to 15,000 tomorrow.

In brief review, it will be recalled that the Great Lakes team of World War I. piled up a string of 12 triumphs, and that the 1942 edition of Bluejackets stumbled in trying to make it No. 13 last week—stumbled, we say, but fellows who saw the game say the sailors, a collection of former pros and college stars, were all but forward passed out of the Michigan stadium despite the low score, 9 to 0. Now those same burly Bluejackets, still smarting from that defeat, are eager to—or maybe just hopeful—of teaching college football a lesson and plan to make Iowa the example.

Iowa Planning to Go Places.

The buildup, tnerefore, is just right as the Smiths and Sweigers and Mulleneaux and Odsons and Daniells and other big names of pro and college ranks will be picking on a snappy Iowa eleven that the folks hereabouts will tell you is going places. The Hawkeyes may not match the record of that amazing 1939 eleven, but the current team has dash and spirit, and it can play football. It doesn't grant Great Lakes a thing, even tho football psychology suggests that the Bluejackets should bounce back from the trimming of a week ago.

Coach Eddie Anderson said he was still undecided about his quarter back, but that Tom Farmer, the same senior who threw three touchdown passes against the Cornhuskers a week ago, probably would start. Jim Youel, another senior, may get the assignment. He, too, can pass and Anderson declares the boy is at his best when he's in there from the start. Sophomores Dick Hoerner and Chuck Uknes will alternate at full back. Anderson likes both.

Passes to Be Iowa Threat.

Passing is expected to be Iowa's big threat against the Bluejackets, because Farmer, Youel, and Uknes all can throw, and that pair of senior ends, Bill Parker and Bill Burkett, can catch; also because it was a glaring weakness at pass defense that brought Great Lakes' downfall at Michigan last week.

Shot Put	110	W. Garner	10-1

*Mrs. A. M. Creech entry.

Twelve of the best routers now quartered at Hawthorne will meet in the $5,000 added Hawthorne handicap at a mile and one-eighth this afternoon. The field is headed by T. D. Grimes' With Regards, Clyde Troutt's Take Wing, and Mrs. Marie Evans' Shot Put.

With Regards has been showing marked improvement in training and recently covered three-quarters of a mile in a workout in 1:13 2-5. The colt will have Jockey F. A. Smith up for the first time. Smith was aboard Rounders when he defeated Whirlaway at Arlington Park.

With Regards Likely Favorite.

With Regards, the probable favorite, finished second to Riverland in his last start, and will have plenty of opposition today. Pressing him will be Take Wing which defeated Marriage, which in turn holds a victory over Alsab. Take Wing was claimed for $2,500, and more than accounted for the purchase price by taking the $10,000 added Stars and Stripes handicap at Arlington Park and the Flossmoor handicap at Washington Park.

Best Seller from the Darby Dan stable also must be reckoned with. Best Seller finished third to Miss Dogwood last Wednesday in a sprint, and the longer distance today is in his favor.

Proceeds of Fourth to Service Men.

Proceeds from today's fourth race again will go to the Chicago Service Men's center. There will be nine races on the program, post for the first race being 2 p. m.

Mrs. Emil Denemark's Bolus captured the feature race on yesterday's card. Bolus, the favorite, ridden by Frankie Grill, led all the way in the six and a half furlong distance which he covered in 1:18 over a fast strip. Vinum was up in the last stride to beat Lum's Pride for the place award. Bolus paid $4.60, $3, and $2.20.

ICKES SUGGESTS REPAYING OF OIL INDUSTRY LOSSES

Addresses Chicago Parley in Surprise Visit.

Harold L. Ickes, petroleum coördinator, speaking to representatives of a dozen oil producing states, yesterday commended the oil industry for its "fine spirit" of coöperation with the Office of Petroleum Coördination and said that as a result the industry had lost "huge" sums of money. He said the industry should be compensated in some way for its losses.

Ickes unexpectedly appeared and spoke briefly at the general session of the Interstate Oil Compact commission, which is meeting at the Palmer House.

"I believe that some way should be found to recompense the industry for these losses," Ickes said, "either thru government subsidy or by permitting an increase in the price of oil."

Urges Strict Conservation.

He recommended a strong gas and oil conservation law for Illinois, saying "I am from Illinois so I can speak about this state. Illinois is wasting both oil and gas in great profusion."

E. H. Poe, director of the natural gas and gasoline division of the OPC, said in an interview that there is a real shortage of natural gas for war use and that the gas producing states must enact uniform laws relating to its production and conservation. Present conservation laws are "obsolete and practically useless," he said. "In addition there is a serious pipe line shortage for getting the gas from the field to the consumer."

Addressing the morning session, Gov. Payne Ratner of Kansas said that "America will not and cannot go on tolerating the confused handling of production, inflation, rationing, and other vital problems," nor can it continue tolerating "the withholding of important decisions until after the election."

Says Rubber Output Is Delayed.

He said that synthetic rubber production has been delayed by confusion and overlapping authorities in Washington, and observed that the same situation has hampered and injured the oil industry.

"One agency undertakes to regulate oil according to its plan, another has a different scheme, a third tries something else, while a fourth adds to the confusion, resulting in the oil industry being denied sufficient materials for developing new reserves and for carrying on with highest efficiency in established oil areas," he said.

BUTTER AND EGGS RISE ON EXPECTATIONS OF NEW FEDERAL BUYING

Extending their advance of the last several days, butter and egg futures rose strongly yesterday in an active session on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Wholesale prices also advanced.

Butter futures closed 0.40 to 0.60 cent a pound higher on expectations of heavy government purchases. The December contract showed the largest gain at 44.55 cents a pound. Local cash prices rose ¼ to ¾ cent with the best grades at 46½ cents a pound.

Egg futures closed 0.35 to 0.40 cent a dozen higher. Wholesale prices were up as much as 1 cent a dozen for the better grades. The December contract led the rise in futures prices at almost 37 cents a dozen. Strong demand for storage eggs was said to be a factor in the rise.

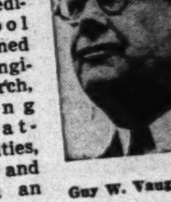
EASTERN PLANE FIRMS AGREE TO POOL RESOURCES

Pledge All Out Campaign for Full Output.

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Eastern aircraft manufacturers today pledged their coöperation toward achieving American air supremacy by agreeing immediately to pool their combined resources of engineering, research, manufacturing technique, patents, facilities, materials, and personnel in an all-out drive to attain maximum production.



Guy W. Vaughan.

Guy W. Vaughan, president of Curtiss-Wright corporation and president of the Aircraft War Production Council, Inc., announced the council's action following its first meeting.

"It is the object of these companies who comprise the council," Vaughan said, "to work as a team rather than as individuals, to coördinate all work for the war effort, to freely exchange information that would be regarded in normal times as secret, and to pool mutual interests and facilities, thereby assuring maximum aircraft production as quickly as possible.

Exceeds Axis Production.

"The American aircraft manufacturing industry has in the past three years caught up with and exceeded the combined aircraft production of the axis. With this new council and our associate organization on the west coast, we expect to more than meet the plea of Donald Nelson of the War Production board to speed up production."

He said the new organization would function in a manner parallel to that of the Aircraft War Production council which eight aircraft companies of the west coast established earlier this year and which has proved successful.

Eight Companies Represented.

The companies represented at the meeting were the Aviation corporation, Bell Aircraft, Brewster Aeronautical, Curtiss-Wright, the eastern aircraft division of General Motors, Fairchild Airplane and Engine corporation, Glenn L. Martin, and Republic Aviation.

Vaughan said Grumann Aircraft and United Aircraft were not yet members of the council but might join later. It is hoped that aircraft accessory manufacturers who are prime contractors will later be included in the council, he said.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

SLASH RESERVE REQUIREMENTS FOR THIRD TIME

Seen as Harbinger of Policy Change.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

Reserve requirements of large Chicago and New York City—central reserve city—banks last night were ordered cut again, effective today, and bankers immediately predicted significant additional adjustments reaching down thru the entire system to the country banks.

The federal reserve board issued the order, cutting the requirement for the third time since Aug. 20 in a move to replenish the dwindling excess reserves in the two financial centers. The new requirement for the central reserve city banks will be 20 per cent of net demand deposits, instead of 22 per cent, the rate that had been put into effect on Sept. 14. The cuts began on Aug. 20, when the 26 per cent requirement that had long prevailed was cut to 24 per cent.

On Par for First Time.

The significance of yesterday's action was that the cut will put the central reserve city banks on a par with the 20 per cent requirement applied to the somewhat smaller reserve city banks. The requirement for the third classification of banks under the federal reserve regulations—the country banks—is 14 per cent.

Never before since establishment of the federal reserve system have the central reserve city and reserve city banks had the same reserve requirement.

The question that is raised now is: "Will the reserve board next cut the big Chicago and New York City banks' reserve requirements to less than those of the reserve city banks, upsetting past policy, or will the requirements for the entire system, with its three classes of banks, be readjusted all along the line?"

Further Cuts Held Certain.

Bankers said there is no doubt that reserve requirements will have to be slashed further to build up the vanishing excess reserves, the free balances which the banks use for lending and investment purposes, including the purchase of government securities to help finance the war. They assert that the excess reserves will have to be bolstered so that the banks can buy the volume of securities that must be sold to finance the war.

One banker estimated that if reserve requirements were cut to the old minima permitted—13 per cent for the biggest banks, 10 for the middlesized reserve city banks, and 7 for the rest—not more than 5 billions of additional excess reserves would be freed. He predicted every bit of the 5 billions, and possibly more, will be needed, and said that on that basis it is hard to tell what minimum rates eventually will be arrived at.

Excess Funds Scattered.

Another factor cited as pointing toward a reduction in excess reserve requirements of reserve city and country banks was that such reserves are now concentrated more in those two classes of banks than in the big Chicago and New York institutions, which have been heavily drained of funds as a result of wartime conditions, including the trend toward large purchases of treasury bills and certificates and other federal securities.

New York City banks have experienced more of a drain than those in Chicago, not only because of huge investments in government issues in New York, but also because the government is collecting much more money in New York than it is spending there. Most of the government money being poured into war production centers is going to centers west of New York. Chicago, with many war industries, benefits from that trend, and as a result the drain on excess bank reserves in Chicago has been less serious than on those in New York.

New York Margin Slim.

In the week ended Wednesday, New York excess reserves fell 120 millions to only 90 millions, the lowest since Sept. 8, 1937. Chicago showed a 3 million dollar rise to 29 millions, which however, is still considered low.

The new reduction in requirements is expected to add a combined total of about 400 millions to the New York and Chicago excess reserves, with Chicago showing 70 to 75 millions of the increase.

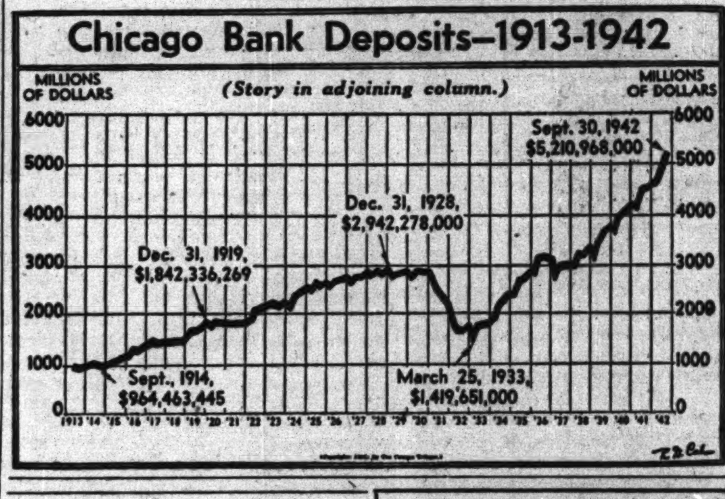
Chicago has 11 central reserve city banks and many reserve city banks. Classification of banks into central reserve city, reserve city, and country banks is more or less arbitrary and is done by the reserve board.

Generally the classification depends on the financial importance of the city in which the bank is located. There are only two central reserve cities—Chicago and New York—and about 50 reserve cities. Banks in all other localities are classified as country banks. Some reserve city banks in cities smaller than Chicago are larger than some of the central reserve city banks in Chicago or New York.

Country banks keep balances in reserve city banks and reserve city banks keep balances in central reserve city banks. Because more money is subject to withdrawal in the centers where the balances accumulate more reserves have been required by law for banks in those centers as a matter of protection for the depositors.

F. D. R. Signs Bill Doubling Defense Housing Funds

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—An additional 600 million dollars was made available for defense housing today when President Roosevelt approved legislation doubling such funds to a total of 1 billion 200 millions.



Tax Note Sales Soar as Result of New Rules

Taxpayers and investors have given a good reception to the new liberalized version of federal tax savings notes which went on sale Sept. 14, a report by the treasury disclosed yesterday.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Daniel W. Bell announced that sales of tax savings notes, mostly of the new kind, totaled 929 million dollars in September, the second largest amount sold since such notes first were offered in 1941. The record for any month—1 billion 37 million dollars—was set in August, 1941, the first month the notes were available. The notes were devised to encourage taxpayers to save money ahead of time to meet tax bills.

August Total Doubled.

A clew to the attitude of the public toward the new notes was the doubling of sales in September, compared with the total for the preceding month. The August volume was 418 million dollars of the old type notes.

The old notes were of two series, A and B. Holders were allowed interest only when the notes were applied against taxes. The A notes yielded about 1.92 per cent a year, and the B's about 0.48 per cent.

The new notes are revised series A, with maturity extended to three years, and an entirely new series C. The B's were suspended Sept. 12 and the revised A's and the C's went on sale Sept. 14.

Available as Investment.

The C notes were designed as a combination tax note and investment, constituting a sort of "tap" issue continuously on sale in unlimited amounts. They yield 1.07 per cent a year if held to the full maturity of three years. They can be pledged as collateral for loans at banks, and after they have been held six months can be cashed by any holder except a commercial bank on 30 days' notice, with interest payable on a graduated scale ranging from a rate of 0.60 per cent a year for the first month to 1.07 per cent a year for the 36th month.

Bankers said the September sale figures indicated that the investment qualities of the C notes, including the privilege of cash redemption with interest, appeal to companies and individuals having idle funds for short term investment.

The treasury gave the victory fund committees of the various reserve districts and local areas credit for part of the September showing. The victory fund committees are the organizations thru which investment and commercial bankers coöperate in their efforts to sell government securities to help finance the war.

MONTH'S REALTY FORECLOSURES AT RECORD LOW

Real estate foreclosures in Cook county during September were fewer in number than at any time since records are available, Arthur C. Marriott, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, said yesterday. There were only 62, a decline of 32 per cent from September, 1941, and of 96 per cent from August, 1932, the peak month when 1,647 foreclosure bills were filed.

The dollar amount involved in foreclosures last month was $536,146, a decline of 28 per cent from September, 1941, and of 99 per cent from the peak of $64,352,126 in December, 1931. The lowest previous number of foreclosures filed in Cook county in any one month was 77 in March, 1926, at the height of the postwar real estate boom.

WAR BOND SALES PASS SEPTEMBER QUOTA BY SUBSTANTIAL MARGIN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. said today sales of war bonds in September totaled $838,250,000, well above the $775,000,000 quota.

However, the secretary explained that according to the usual bookkeeping methods of the treasury, dependent on mail reports of actual cash deposits, sales were $754,690,000. Under this method, part of the apparent September sales actually were late reports on August transactions, while last minute September sales would not appear until the October report. Therefore, the treasury made a telegraphic survey of federal reserve banks which showed that September sales were above the quota.

In the five months in which quotas have been set for sale of war bonds, September therefore was the second month in which the goal was achieved. The other month was May.

October's quota has not been announced yet, but officials indicated it would be about $850,000,000.

Idle Priorities Will Be Used on War Homes

BY AL CHASE.

Despite the WPB ban on home building in Chicago this city will get more priorities on dwellings for war workers. This was reported by Earl S. Draper of Washington, deputy commissioner of FHA, recently, and yesterday was confirmed by Earle F. Heffley, in charge of WPB war housing priorities in Chicago.

Draper asserted that priorities for building materials which have been allowed to lapse and have been recaptured by WPB will be reallocated to builders in the city where they originally were given out. This ended the rumor that Chicago would not regain the priorities lost months ago by builders not using them.

"Government agencies are making an analysis of how many priorities are recapturable in Chicago," Heffley said. "In fact, we've started to get them. When obtained they will be reassigned by FHA to builders and this time they will go to construction firms which actually will use them."

Heffley would not divulge how many priorities are recoverable, but it has been said that there are nearly a thousand which were granted to builders and never used. If recaptured and reassigned this proceedure will mean a good sized addition to the city's housing for war workers.

When this reassignment will take place was not divulged, but Heffley intimated that recaptured priorities shortly may aid in supplying living quarters for war workers.

RAILS AND LABOR GROUPS TO FORM WAR COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—Director Joseph B. Eastman of the Office of Defense Transportation announced today that a group of railway executives and labor officials would meet here Oct. 29 to form a permanent management-labor committee to assist the ODT in solving war time problems.

Eastman said also that representatives of the American Trucking Associations and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters would meet here Oct. 23 to work out plans for a central management-labor committee in the motor truck industry.

Urge Care in Planning Trips

With the order to the railroads to "freeze" their passenger service as of Sept. 26 scheduled to become effective tomorrow, the public was urged yesterday by Hugh W. Siddall, chairman of the Western and Transcontinental Passenger Associations, to plan travel requirements even more carefully than in the past.

Hugh W. Siddall.

Siddall said the order, which prohibits special trains and cars for nonessential travel, was made necessary by the constantly increasing amount of military travel. The order, which was issued by the Office of Defense Transportation, prohibits the addition of passenger trains above those in service Sept. 26 and outlaws special trains and cars to sports and other events not connected with the war.

Restriction Unavoidable.

"There is a constantly increasing amount of military travel," Siddall said, "and it became necessary to restrict travel to make sure that equipment would be available when needed for military purposes. No one wanted to restrict free movement by the public but military movements reached the point where some action had to be taken.

"Consequently the public can help by planning its traveling for the middle of the week and such times as traffic is lighter. Further, it is hoped the public will understand and not blame the railroads if it cannot get accommodations."

Albert Cotsworth Jr., passenger traffic manager of the Burlington railroad, said he did not expect the order to work any great hardship on the public except possibly during holiday seasons when travel is abnormally heavy.

Sports Events Affected.

Among those most directly affected will be athletic teams and spectators for sports events who have been accustomed to traveling to games in special cars or trains. His views were typical of those of other Chicago passenger officials.

This week-end is the last when college and other athletic teams will be permitted to use special cars. Hereafter, athletes will have to take their chances of getting sleeping car space on trains along with routine travelers. It is expected that some of the teams will either have to plan to get to games a day or two ahead of time or take their chances on having to stay up all night in coaches.

Bank Holdings of U. S. Bonds Boosted Again

Steep increases in Chicago banks' holdings of United States government bonds, along with another rise in deposits to a new all-time high mark, were disclosed in statements of condition issued by the state banks and released unofficially by national banks yesterday.

The state auditor issued a call for statements from state banks as of Sept. 30. The controler of the currency did not ask the national banks for statements, but the figures were available.

In the last three months Chicago banks' holdings of government securities have climbed more than a half billion dollars, amounting at the end of September to $2,584,867,000, compared with the $2,020,405,000 reported in the preceding call of June 30, the statements showed. Holdings of government issues began rising long before the war, but recent war financing has accelerated the trend.

Comparison of Holdings.

Among the most pronounced increases in holdings of such bonds were these:

Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, to $1,133,635,000, from $943,919,000 three months earlier; District National bank more than doubled at $1,744,000, against $791,000; First National Bank of Chicago, $754,976,000, against $544,628,000; Mutual National, $5,691,000, compared with $2,890,000; Terminal National, $3,095,000 against $915,000; Chicago City bank, $13,677,000, compared with $9,635,000; Harris Trust, jumping to $130,992,000 from $85,472,000 in one of the widest gains, and Northern Trust, $196,550,000, against $165,708,000.

Combined deposits of the state and national banks in Chicago, rising in keeping with a long established trend, pushed on up to $5,210,968,000, compared with $4,811,142,000 on June 30. On Sept. 24, 1941, they amounted to $4,531,842,000. On Oct. 4, 1929, they were only $2,846,215,000.

Loans and Discounts Dip.

Loans and discounts again showed the effects of federal wartime restrictions on finance company loans and certain other types of consumer credit, and also the effects of priorities curbs and rationing having a braking influence on business activities.

Combined loans and discounts of the state and national banks in the city were down moderately to $1,014,467,000, from $1,047,399,000 three months earlier.

The combined cash resources were down to $1,515,354,000 from $1,642,976,000 on June 30.

WALL ST. FACES 1ST UNION TIEUP IN ITS HISTORY

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—One Hundred fifty employés of the stock exchange firm of J. S. Bache & Co. walked out today in what was, in the memory of old-time brokers, the first union strike in the history of Wall street. The walkout came on the street's busiest day of the year.

J. S. Bache, head of the firm, termed the action of his employés, members of the American Federation of Office Employés [AFL], a challenge from "unionism" to all Wall street houses.

"There's no room for unionism on Wall street," he said, "and this will be a fight for other firms as well as mine."

The walkout, at 1:15 p. m., followed rejection by Harold L. Bache, representing all the partners, of a demand by the union for a contract providing a closed shop and salary increases of 15 per cent.

1940 INCOME TAX FILINGS UP 91.5% FROM 1939 TOTAL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—The treasury reported today that 14,778,159 Americans filed tax returns for 1940, an increase of 91.5 per cent over the year before.

There was a reported net income of $36,588,545,894 and at total tax liability of $1,496,403,386, increases of 57.8 and 61.1 per cent, respectively.

In Illinois there were 1,266,390 individual returns reporting net income of $3,291,837,000 and a tax of $130,455,000.

Alton Road Will Stock 38 Days' Supply of Coal

The Alton railroad will comply with the government's request to stock at least 38 days' supply of coal, officials disclosed yesterday. The action is expected to end the road's controversy with Harold L. Ickes, solid fuel coordinator, who had criticized its failure to stock the coal to avert possible war shortages.

The job you have always wanted may be offered today. The way to be most certain that you will not overlook it is to read the Help Wanted ads in the Tribune. START FEDERAL BEEF GRADING IN MAIN PLANTS

Intended to Prevent OPA Violations.

The government yesterday began taking over the job of grading and stamping beef and veal produced in 76 plants of the Swift, Armour, and Cudahy companies thruout the country, in a move which government attorneys said would spread thruout the packing industry.

Agreements made by the three companies with the Office of Price Administration, which had accused nearly the entire industry of upgrading beef and veal in an effort to evade federal price ceilings, were approved by Federal District Judges William H. Holly and William J. Campbell.

May Lift Injunctions.

Temporary restraining orders issued against the three packers to prevent the alleged upgrading were continued, with indications the federal action will be dissolved when the Agricultural Marketing administration certifies that all beef and veal is being graded and stamped correctly.

OPA attorneys meanwhile pressed a petition before Judge Holly against a fourth Chicago packer—the Empire Packing company—for a preliminary injunction against alleged upgrading. A government witness, William J. Eberline, asserted that 20 of the 80 beef carcasses he checked in the Empire plant had been placed in a grade higher than their quality deserved.

118 Suits Were Filed.

These four companies are among nine in Chicago included in 118 suits entered by the government early last month in its action against the nation's packers. Alex Elson, regional OPA attorney, said the action was the most sweeping of its kind ever undertaken by the government.

The government graders will be placed in the plants of the three companies with which agreements were reached as soon as men can be trained for the work, he said.

INDICT PACKERS AGAIN.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP).—A federal grand jury today indicted Armour & Co. and Swift & Co., meat packers, and officials of the two companies under charges of conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust act in restraint of interstate commerce in the sheep and hog market at Fort Worth. The indictments alleged the firms had an agreement whereby they divided the available purchases in the Fort Worth market area.

John S. Holmes, Swift president, commented that in two similar cases recently the company had been absolved.

Year's Biggest Stock Trading Pushes Steels and Rails Higher

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Trading in stocks today was the heaviest of the year. Steel shares put on their best rally in many weeks, but rails were forced to climb over heavy profit sales to edge into new high territory for 1942 or longer.

Recent ability of the list to absorb war news with comparative ease and prospects of quick passage by congress of anti-inflation and tax laws served as bolstering influences.

Brokers reported signs of some of the mounting national income seeping into securities as rationing, price freezing, priorities, and goods shortages tended to restrict public spending for ordinary things.

Santa Fe at Five Year Top.

Stock prices were slightly mixed at the start but the metals then began to rise with gains to 2 points made at the close. Santa Fe touched a five year peak with an advance of 1⅛ but other carriers limited improvement to fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .4 of a point at 38.5, on top of yesterday's runup of .3 which was accounted for principally by the transportation section. The carrier composite today was up .2 against .7 the day before but at 18.9 it was at the highest for the year to date. It was another broad market, 827 individual issues traded.

Steels had the benefit of opinion that these were behind the market in addition to a "flash" sent out before the opening by an investment counselor advising buying of the metals for a quick turn. Dividend hopes again propped the steam road stocks. Rubbers were aided by the push for a big synthetic production. Moving picture issues came to life on reports of larger earnings.

CHICAGO STOCKS CLIMB.

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 21,000 shares. Volume leaders included Illinois Central, up ⅛; New York Central, up ⅜; United States Steel, up 2; Commonwealth Edison, down ⅛, and Katz Drugs, unchanged. In the final half hour Santa Fe was up ⅛ from the New York close.

Rail Bonds Soar

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—There was a steady stream of customers for all types of railroad bonds in today's market and strength in that group was an important stabilizing factor for the entire list. An impressive number of carrier loans were bid up fractions to a point and in some cases more, placing many at new highs for the year or longer. The general run of industrials and utilities held to a narrow range but there were numerous individual firm spots.

PLANT BUILDING FOR WAR USE TO SLOW, SAYS WPB

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2 (AP).—The WPB estimated today that the volume of all building and engineering construction scheduled for the war program in 1943, exclusive of shipbuilding, would show a drop of more than one-third from this year.

At the present rate, the WPB said, such war construction alone will total more than 11 billion dollars at the end of 1942, topping the previous record for all types of construction established in 1927.

SEPTEMBER WAR SPENDING RISES ABOVE 5 BILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2—Prosecution of the war cost the United States government a record breaking 5 billion 384 million dollars last month, the treasury department reported today. This brought war expenditures since July 1, start of the 1943 fiscal year, to 14 billion 762½ million dollars.

Government reports revealed that the administration spent more money on war activities last month than was spent on all government activities in any fiscal year from 1922 thru 1933, or in any fiscal year prior to 1918.

The war department, the treasury statement for Sept. 30 showed, spent 3 billion 523 million dollars last month. The navy department accounted for 1 billion 294 million. The maritime commission, charged with building ships, expended more than 140 million dollars, and the war shipping administration, which operates the fleet, disposed of 112¾ millions during the month.

Quarterly Total 16 Billions.

The government's total expenditures, including public debt retirement, reached 5 billion 931 million dollars in September, to bring the total for the first quarter of the new fiscal year to 16 billion 308 million dollars.

These first quarter government expenditures exceed total costs for operating the nation for any full year in the nation's history with the exception of 1919, when the Wilson administration spent 18½ billion dollars, and last year, when government costs mounted to almost 33 billion dollars.

To meet these vast government

GRAINS SLUMP AS CONFEREES STUDY CONTROL

December Corn Rallies from Season's Low.

Grain markets yesterday slumped as house and senate conferees sought to iron out differences in the price control bills. Reports that parity loans on wheat and corn would remain at 85 per cent brought liquidation by holders of futures contracts, causing wheat and rye to break about 1 cent a bushel and corn ¾ cent from Thursday's close.

December corn sold at 84⅞ cents early, equaling the season's low, but rallied somewhat to close ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower with December at 85¼ cents. Wheat lost ⅝ to ¾ cent with December at $1.28⅛. Rye was ⅝ to ¾ cent lower and oats ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher. Soy beans were weak and lost ½ to 1⅜ cents, the latter October.

Enough for Two Years.

The supply of wheat available for the 1942-'43 season is placed at 1 billion 610 million bushels, or equal to two years requirements. Supplies of corn are expected to be around 3 billion 516 million bushels, far the largest on record.

Announcement by the WPB yesterday that the entire production of the nation's distilled spirits industry will be diverted to war purposes after Oct. 8 brought the comment from brokers that the conversion will not affect the amount of grain used for distilling purposes. They estimated that between 75 and 100 million bushels of wheat and corn will be required in alcohol production.

Set All-Time Peak.

Supplies of the white variety of cash corn used extensively in the manufacture of white corn meal, distillers grits, breakfast foods, and other products continued light. A car of No. 2 white sold at $1.13, or 27¾ cents over the December future, to set an all time high.

SEPTEMBER WAR COSTS CLIMB TO ABOVE 5 BILLIONS

Treasury Receipts Total Half This Amount.

First quarter government receipts of around 4 billion dollars were less than a fourth as much as the administration spent in that period.

Table for Comparison.

The following table shows what the treasury department paid out for war activities last month and in the first quarter of the 1943 fiscal year, which started June 30, compared with the corresponding periods last year [000,000 omitted]:

War department	$3,523	$ 747	$ 9,267	$1,866

*Only $358,005. †Only $597,328.

The huge scope of these expenditures can be emphasized by comparison with the government outlay during the World war. From April, 1917, thru April 1919, the war cost the treasury department 21 billion 850 million dollars. Government expenditures reached a peak during that period in December, 1918, when the government paid out slightly more than 2 billion dollars.

LIGHT RECEIPTS PUSH HOGS UP 25 TO 50 CENTS

Below normal hog receipts in the Chicago stockyards yesterday sent the hog market into one of the steepest price advances in many years. All classes soared 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds to new 22 year highs. Light hogs led the gain on strong demand.

The $15.70 peak was the highest since October, 1920, and 30 cents above the 22 year peak established early in the week. This was paid for stock weighing from 193 to 304 pounds. The average jumped 30 cents to $15.50, also a new 22 year high.

Smallest Run in 8 Months.

Only 7,000 hogs arrived, including 2,800 direct to packers. This was the smallest regular day's run in eight months. Receipts a week ago totaled 14,492. The 11 leading markets received 32,000, against 49,000 last Friday. The unusually favorable corn-hog price ratio, good feeding weather and the fact that farmers believe that hog ceilings will not be established under $15.30 caused the small run.

A large share of good 200 to 400 pound hogs sold from $15.40 to $15.65, while 140 to 190 pounders sold from $14.10 to $15.50. Sows weighing 300 to 500 pounds brought $15 to $15.40, with top sows at $15.50.

Cattle Receipts Light.

Not enough cattle were received to test prices. Scattered sales were made at prices mostly in line with the general selling of Thursday. Most steers sold from $12 to $13.50, the best available going at $14. No changes were made in beef cows, heifers, canners, cutters, bulls, and calves.

Feast Ahead for Cattle.

Oct. 2, 1942.

THERE are more than 200 head of cattle on the Fox river farm, and judging by the silage problem underway there, the animals won't go hungry this winter. All three of the farm silos are filled with corn silage—a total of 570 tons of winter stock feed, but just to make sure there will be plenty of stuffing for the Aberdeen-Angus herd, the men are preparing a temporary silo which will hold approximately 70 more tons and increase the amount of silage on the place to 640 tons.

The men believe they have more silage in storage this year than ever before in the farm's history. The smaller silos usually are filled in one continuous operation, but this year rainy weather during the corn cutting period made it necessary for the men to cease filling several times. Between each ensilage operation the corn naturally settled down into the silo, accounting for the greater weight of silage this year.

370 Tons in Large Silo.

The largest silo on the Fox river farm is 80 feet tall and now contains 370 tons of silage. On the same farmstead is a smaller silo holding 140 tons, and the third farm silo holds 60 tons.

The temporary silo will be made from snow fencing lined with a special kraft paper. It will be 24 feet in diameter, 16 feet high, and open at the top. The quality of the silage to be blown into the temporary structure will not be as high as that of the feed already stored. The corn has been hit by frost and the stalks and leaves are too dry to make top grade silage, but this deficiency will be somewhat offset by the fact that the crop contains matured grain. The men also plan to run a stream of water thru the ensilage cutter during the operation to add moisture to the feed.

Soybeans Escape Frost.

The farm manager plans to feed the silage from the temporary silo first, inasmuch as it will have less protection from severe weather and also because he prefers to feed the dried silage while the herd still is getting some greenstuff in the pastures.

Forty-two acres of soy beans on the Fox river farm will be combined during the second and third weeks of this month. The severe frosts of late September damaged much of the northern Illinois soy bean crop, but the men on the Fox river farm do not believe their fields were hurt. An examination of a two acre plot this week showed the pods were fully developed.
